PEST TYPES OF PEST
AND SOLUTION.

DEFINATION

A pest is any organism harmful to humans or human concerns. The term is particularly used for creatures that damage crops, livestock, and forestry or cause a nuisance to people, especially in their homes.

TYPES OF PEST ARROUND US

Pests include insects, nematodes, mites, snails, slugs, etc. and vertebrates like rats, birds, etc. Depending upon the importance, pests may be agricultural forest, household, medical, aesthetic and veterinary pests.

HARM TO HUMANS

Examples of significant public health problems caused by pests include: Vector-Borne Diseases - Infectious diseases such as Zika virus, Lyme disease, and rabies can be carried and spread by vectors. Disease vectors include mosquitoes, ticks, and rodents and other animals.

HARM TO PETS

The most common pests aside from fleas and ticks that harm pets include cockroaches, ants and mosquitoes. These pests can live both inside your home where your pet sleeps and relaxes or outside where they play and run. So whether your pet lives inside or outside, there is truly no escape from these pesky creatures.

HARM TO PROPERTY

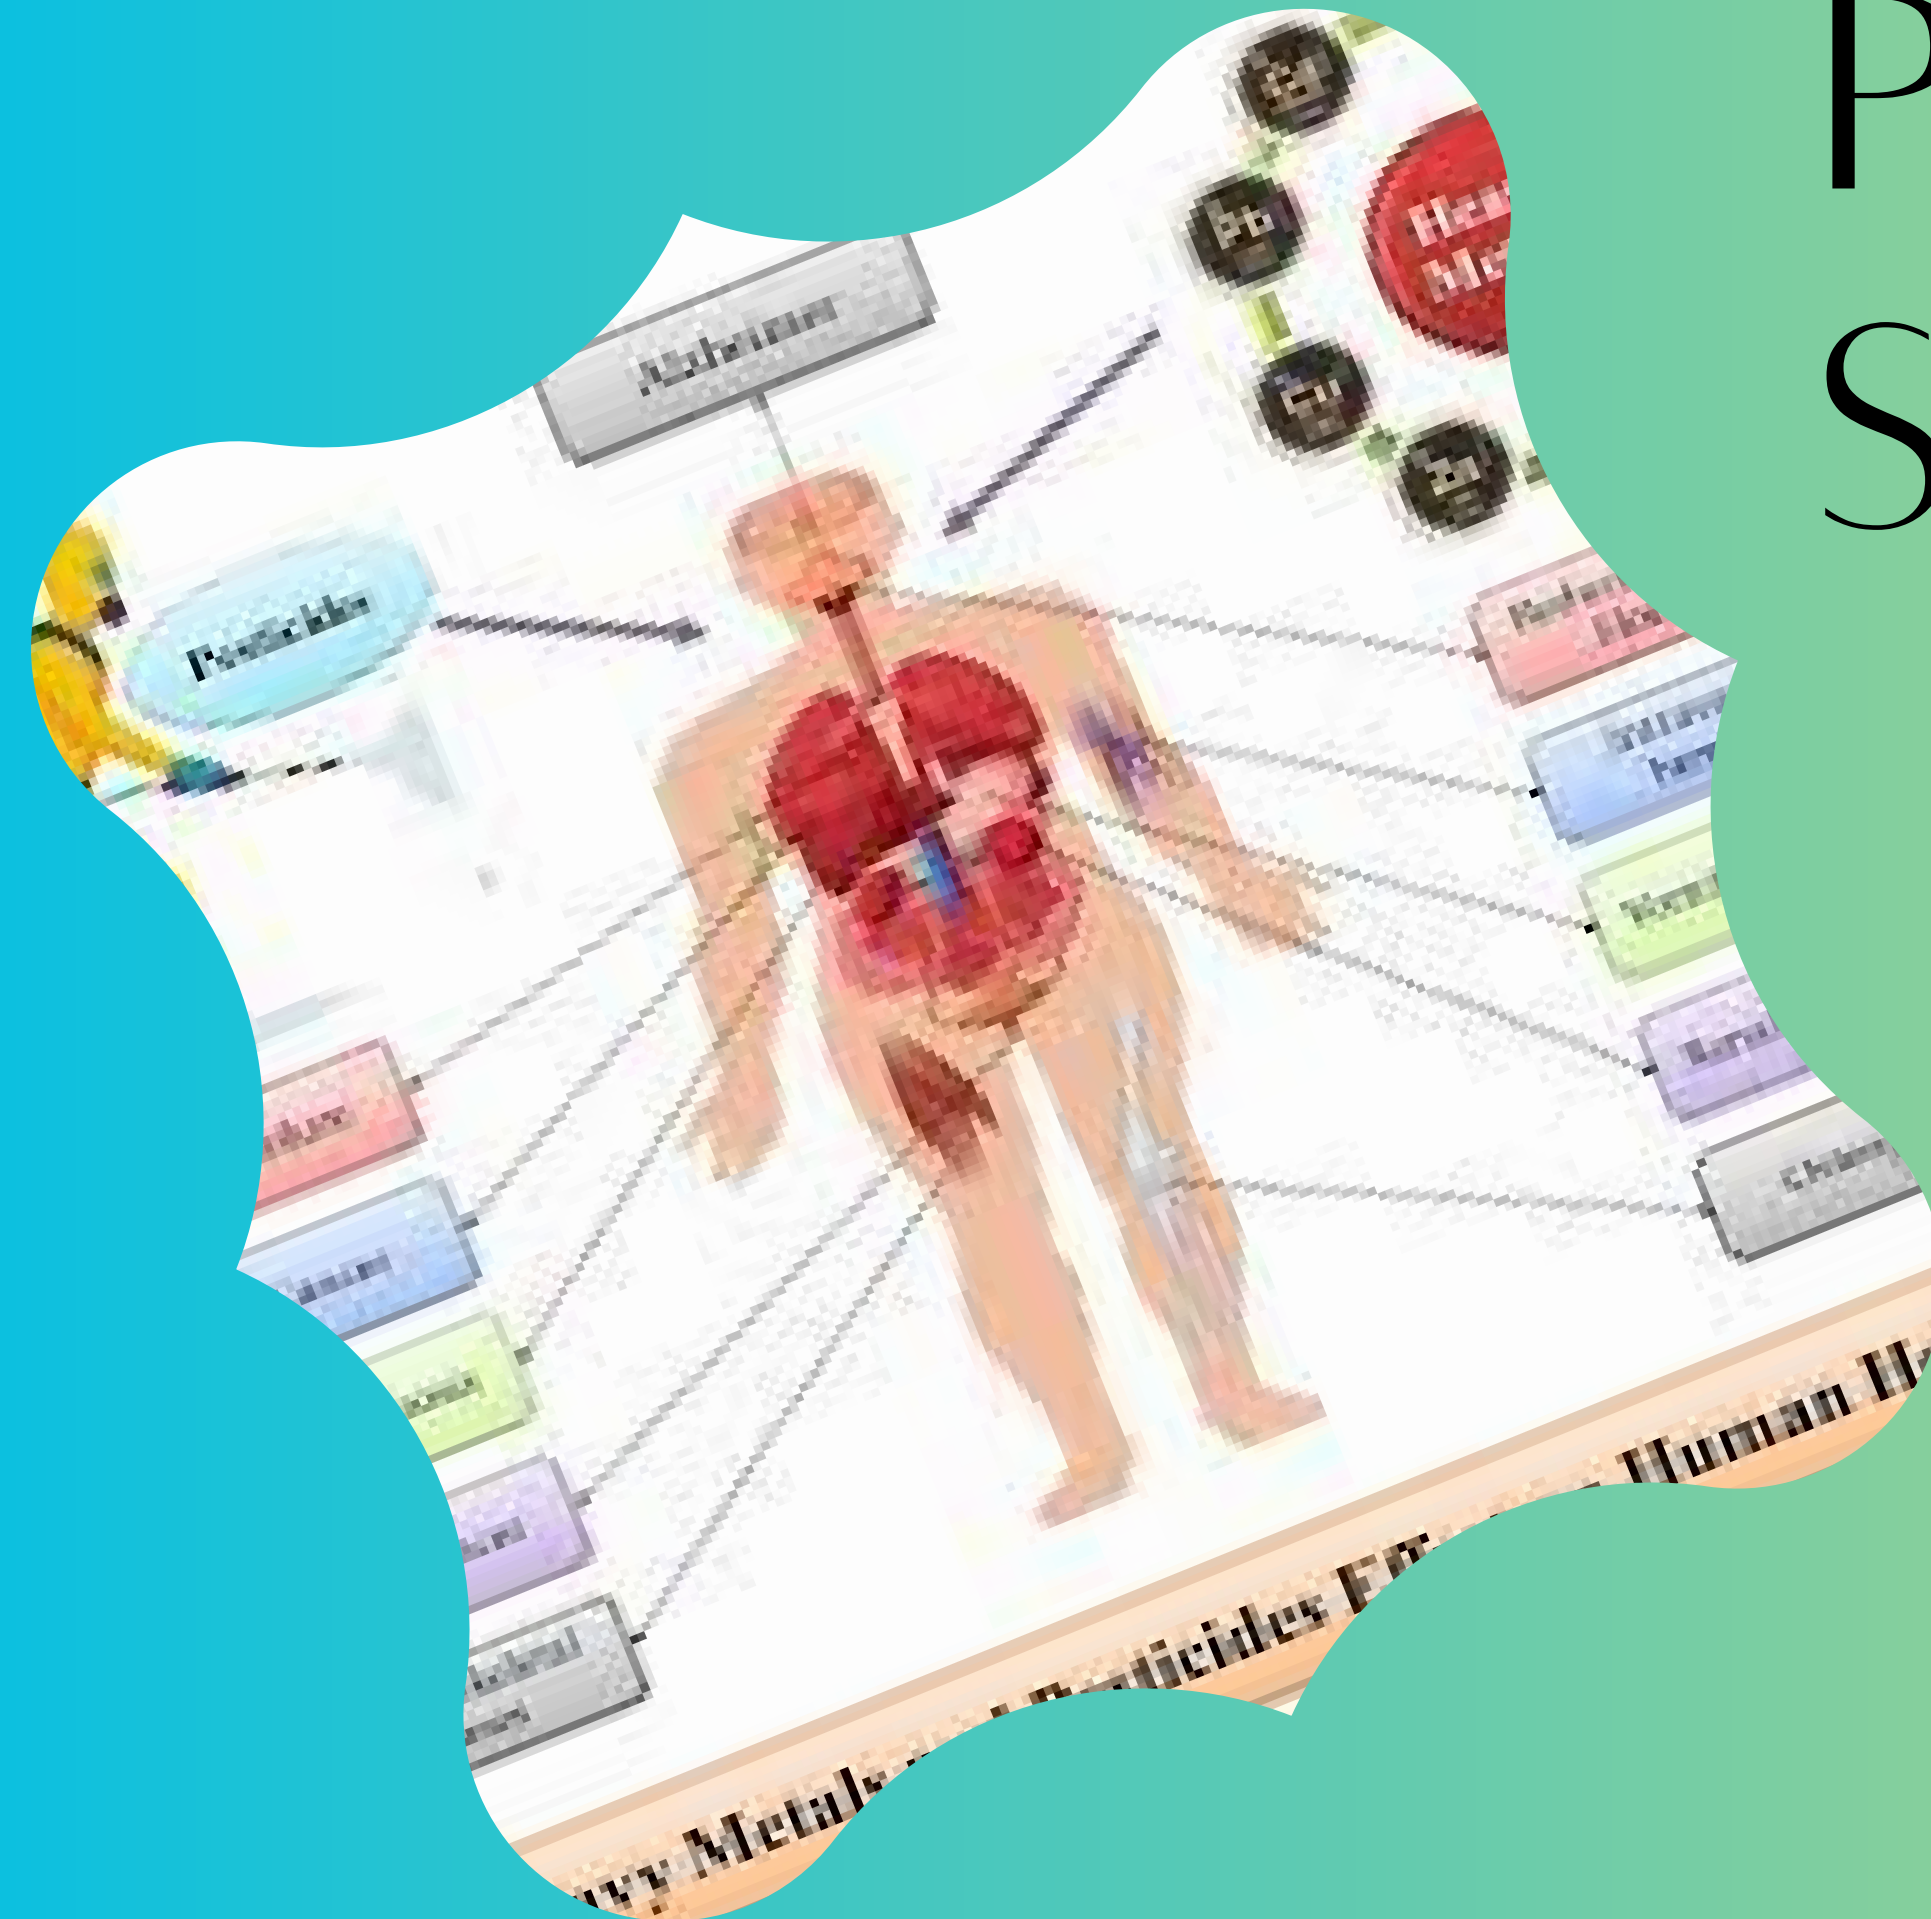

Pests, particularly Termites, rodents, termites, and birds, can cause a massive amount of damage to your roof. They can cause shingles to break, cracks and holes in your roof, and damaged wires and pipes that are running through your attic. With each crack and hole in your roof, your home becomes susceptible to water damage.

PESTICIDE SIDE EFFECTS

Toxic effects by pesticide exposure can range from mild symptoms, like major skin irritation or other allergic symptoms, to more severe symptoms, like strong headache, dizziness, or nausea.
