Starts Gain as Mortgage Rates Ease Downward

Interest rates have pulled back in recent weeks, as markets correctly anticipated a dovish Federal Reserve announcement in December. In fact, the Fed surprised by not only remaining on pause with respect to the federal funds rate (which was last increased in July), but also by revealing an estimated three rate cuts for 2024. NAHB is currently forecasting just two rate cuts in 2024: one 25 basis-point cut in the third quarter and one more in the fourth quarter.

Long-term interest rates responded positively to these developments. The 10-year Treasury bond has approached a 3.9% rate, down just about 100 basis points from October high levels. And mortgage rates have retreated below 7% for the first time since the middle of August. Inflation appears to be moving in the right direction as well, with the CPI growing at a 3.1% rate in November. However, policy makers should take note: Shelter cost growth accounted for 70% of the headline gain in November. Only additional construction of attainable, affordable housing will ultimately tame shelter inflation.

Single-family starts surged in November as rates moved lower, even before the Fed's December announcement. Single-family starts increased 18% to a 1.14 million seasonally adjusted annual rate. However, single-family starts are down 7.2% year to date. The multifamily sector, which includes apartment buildings and condos, increased 6.9% to an annualized 417,000 pace.

Lower interest rates and a lack of resale inventory helped to provide a strong boost for new home construction in November.

House Passes Key Codes Bill

The House has approved legislation that would help jurisdictions preserve local control over the building code adoption process while also encouraging communities to take steps to withstand natural disasters. The Promoting Resilient Buildings Act would establish a previous definition of “latest published editions” of building codes to include the latest two editions of relevant codes. The bill would apply to the Disaster Recovery Reform Act’s pre-disaster hazard mitigation program. Prospects in the Senate are good, given that it passed unanimously in the House.

New Advocacy Videos from NAHB

To help keep members up to date, NAHB's advocacy leaders and subject matter experts have created brief video recordings highlighting the latest initiatives. Available on nahb.org, these short, shareable videos provide key details on topics such as Job Corps Funding, Waters of the U.S. (WOTUS), the Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) and more. The videos are easy to download and share with local lawmakers or industry colleagues via social media.

More Immigrants in Construction

The U.S. construction industry added over 90,000 new immigrant workers in 2022, levels not seen since the housing boom of 2005-2006. Native-born workers are joining the industry at a slower rate, with their total count remaining over half a million below the record levels of the housing boom of the mid-2000s. As a result, the share of immigrants in construction reached a new historic high of 24.7%, according to the most recent 2022 American Community Survey (ACS).

Builders' Show Amenities for Members and Spikes

NAHB members and membership recruiters should take advantage of special amenities during the Builders’ Show in Las Vegas. Each day of IBS there will be coffee and doughnuts available to members only at the NAHB HQ in the Central Hall before the show floor opens.

In addition, Spikes who have recruited one new member get access to the Cole Swindell concert at the conclusion of the show. Spike VIPs – those who have recruited five or more – will have access to special spaces during the concert.

NAHB Offers Guide To Leadership Meetings

Along with all of the engaging events that await just around the corner at the 2024 International Builders’ Show (IBS), the coinciding NAHB leadership meetings are a critical component that directly impact the Federation.

To give members a better understanding of the structure and value of these meetings, NAHB has developed the National Meeting Resource Guide. This resource provides an overview of what to expect during the leadership meetings, as well as information on NAHB governance, committee details, sample schedules, and more.

Paint Manufacturers Present Their Top Colors for 2024

Below are the styles that paint manufacturers have chosen as their colors of the year for 2024.

Warm and Soft

The soft, comfortable hues for 2024 include:

Pantone – Peach Fuzz.

Sherwin-Williams – Persimmon.

Glidden/PPG – Limitless.

Peaceful Blues

Many paint manufacturers look toward the blue color spectrum for their top colors:

Sherwin-Williams – Upward.

Persimmon by Sherwin-Williams

Benjamin Moore – Blue Nova.

C2 – Thermal.

Dunn-Edwards – Skipping Stones.

Krylon – Bluebird.

Minwax – Bay Blue.

Valspar – Renew Blue.

Statement Colors

Here are a few options if you want your colors to pop:

Behr – Cracked Pepper.

Dutch Boy – Ironside.

Rust-Oleum – Chocolate Cherry.

GSEs Can Raise LIHTC Investments

The Federal Housing Finance Agency (FHFA) announced recently that Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac (the Enterprises) will each be allowed to invest up to $1 billion annually in the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) market as equity investors, beginning in 2024.

The Enterprises will also adjust their LIHTC investment policies to ensure their investments only support projects that remain affordable for the entire 30-year period intended by the program.

LIHTC is the primary federal government program available to address the shortage of affordable rental housing by creating and preserving affordable units in underserved areas.

EPA May Delay Emissions Rule

In a move potentially benefiting single-family and multifamily builders alike, the EPA recently announced it is considering delaying the effective date of a final rule seeking to reduce overall U.S. greenhouse gas (GHGs) emissions.

The rule would restrict the use of hydrofluorocarbon (HFCs) chemicals within products and equipment used across a number of industry sectors, including aerosols; foam insulation and packing materials; commercial refrigeration units; and commercial and residential (e.g., single-family and multifamily) heating, ventilation, and air conditioning (HVAC) systems, including heat-pumps.

TimberStream Post & Beam Homes

CHUCK NORTON

“Timber frame design lends itself to a lot of unique things that you just won’t find in a conventional house or any other custom home that people build,” Chuck says. “That’s why I love TIMBER frames.”

"Woodhouse has been set up in a way that lets us run our own business yet have the support on the technical side that I don't think a lot of other companies offer. I chose Woodhouse for my home because they have a good, long-term warranty that they stand behind. They've been in the business a lot longer than most, and they have a long relationship with the SIP manufacturer.

Simply put, I don't know of anybody else that does it the way they do it. They have a really robust system, and they're definitely the industry leaders." - Chuck Norton, Woodhouse Homeowner

Desirable, Pet-Friendly Features for the Home

As pet ownership continues to rise, so does the demand for homes that cater to the unique needs of four-legged companions. According to NAHB's What Home Buyers Really Want, here are a few home features that play a crucial role in attracting pet owners and influencing their home-buying decisions:

Fenced Yards: Many pet owners prioritize homes with fenced yards, providing a safe space for their pets to roam freely.

Gardens and Landscaping: A well-maintained lawn or a garden can be an attractive feature.

Pet-Friendly Flooring: Durable and easy-to-clean flooring materials, such as hardwood, tile or laminate, are often preferred by pet owners.

Easy Cleaning

Features: Pet owners like features that make cleaning up after pets easier, such as mudrooms and pet washing stations.

Pet-Friendly Entryways:

Features such as mudrooms or side entrances make it convenient for pet owners to clean and care for their pets before entering the main living spaces.

Pet Monitoring Systems: The integration of smart home technology, such as pet monitoring systems or automated pet doors, appeal to many tech-savvy pet owners.
