The yearbook staff invites you to travel with us on a journey through our 1978-1979 Pioneer yearbook. We all have crossed many bridges, climbed many hills, and hit many obstacles this year, but still we've kept on moving.

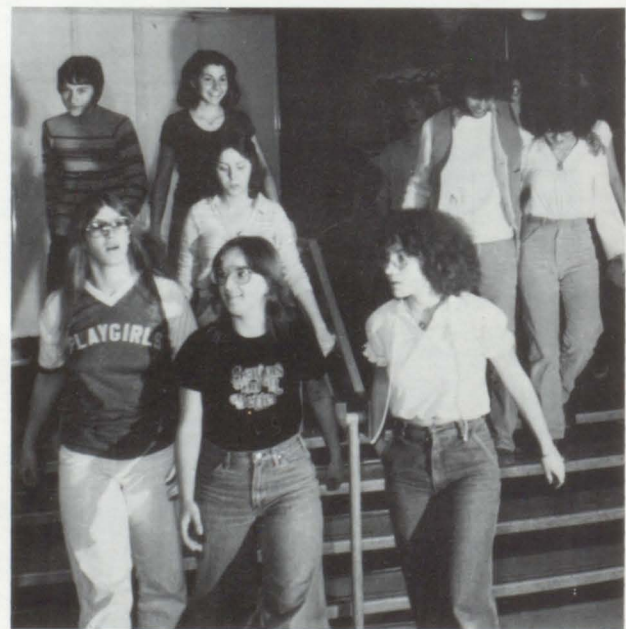

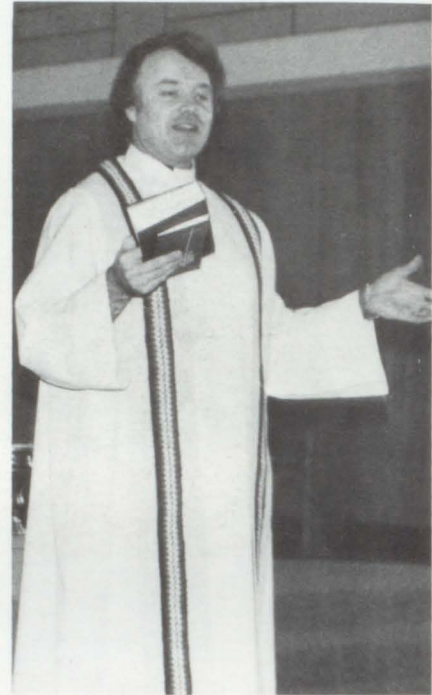

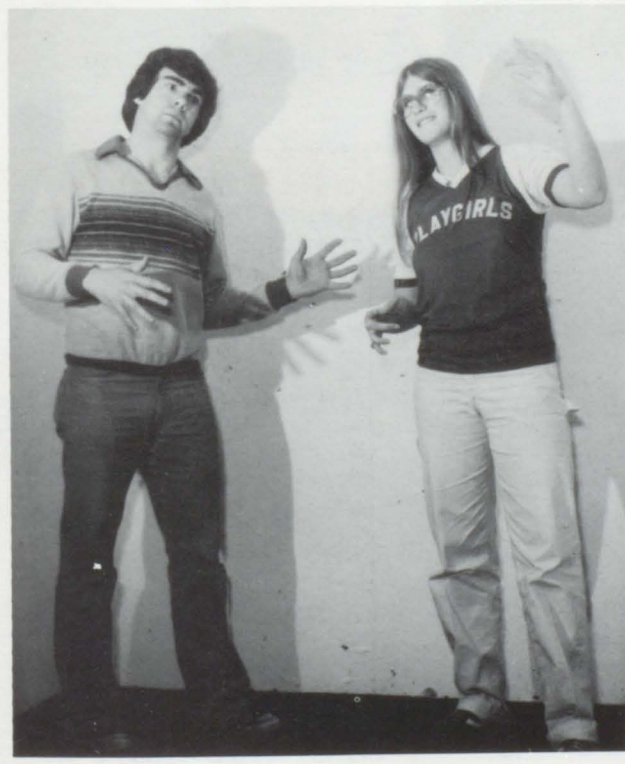

The wayfarer
Perceiving the pathway to truth
Was struck with astonishment
It was thickly grown with weeds

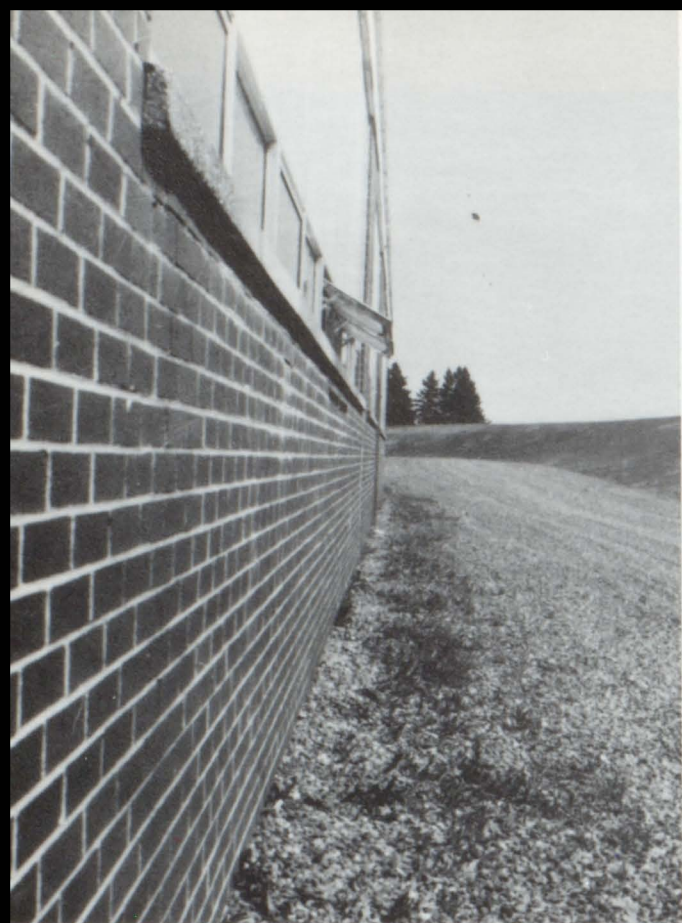

"Ha," he said,
"I see that none has passed here
In a long time."

Later he saw that each weed
Was a singular knife
"Well!" he mumbled at last,
"Doubtless there are other roads."

Happiness is found along the way, at the end of the road.

True wisdom lies in gathering the precious moments out of each day.

Find a way or make a way!

Where you come from is not nearly as important as where you are going.

Life is like a journey on a train with 2 fellow travelers at each window pane.

I may sit beside you all the journey thru

Or I may sit elsewhere, never knowing you.

But should fate make me sit by your side
Let's be pleasant travelers.
tis so short a ride.

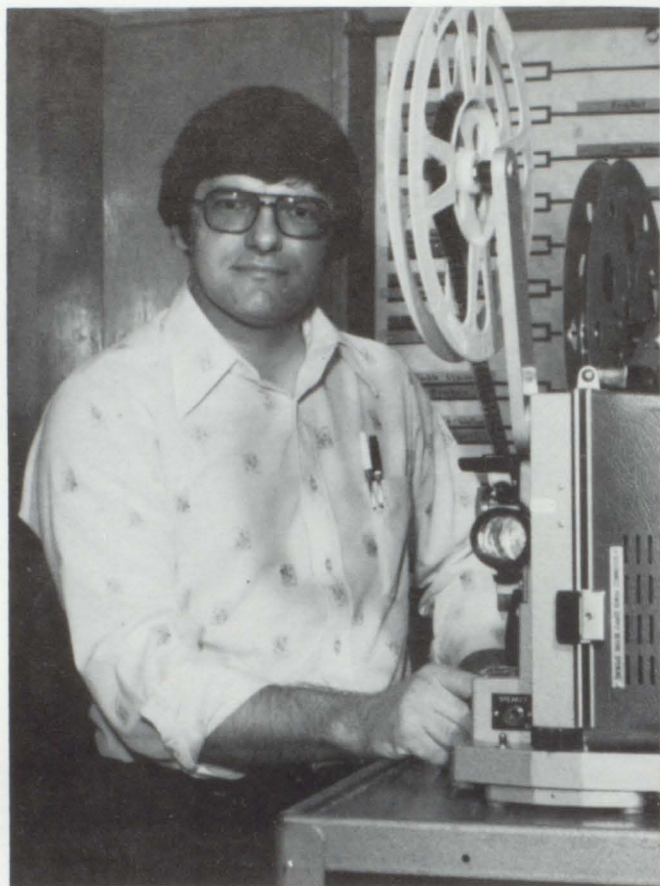

FACULTY

The text of civil instruction — the touchstone by which to try the services of those we trust;
and should we wander from them in moments of error or alarm,
let us hasten to retrace our steps, and to regain the road which alone leads to peace,
liberty,
and safety.

UNDERCLASSMEN

Our road is not built to last a thousand years, yet in a sense it is.

When a road is once built,
it is a strange thing how it collects traffic, how every year as it goes on,
more and more people are found to walk thereon,
and others raised to repair
and perpetuate it,
and keep it alive.

1979 SENIORS

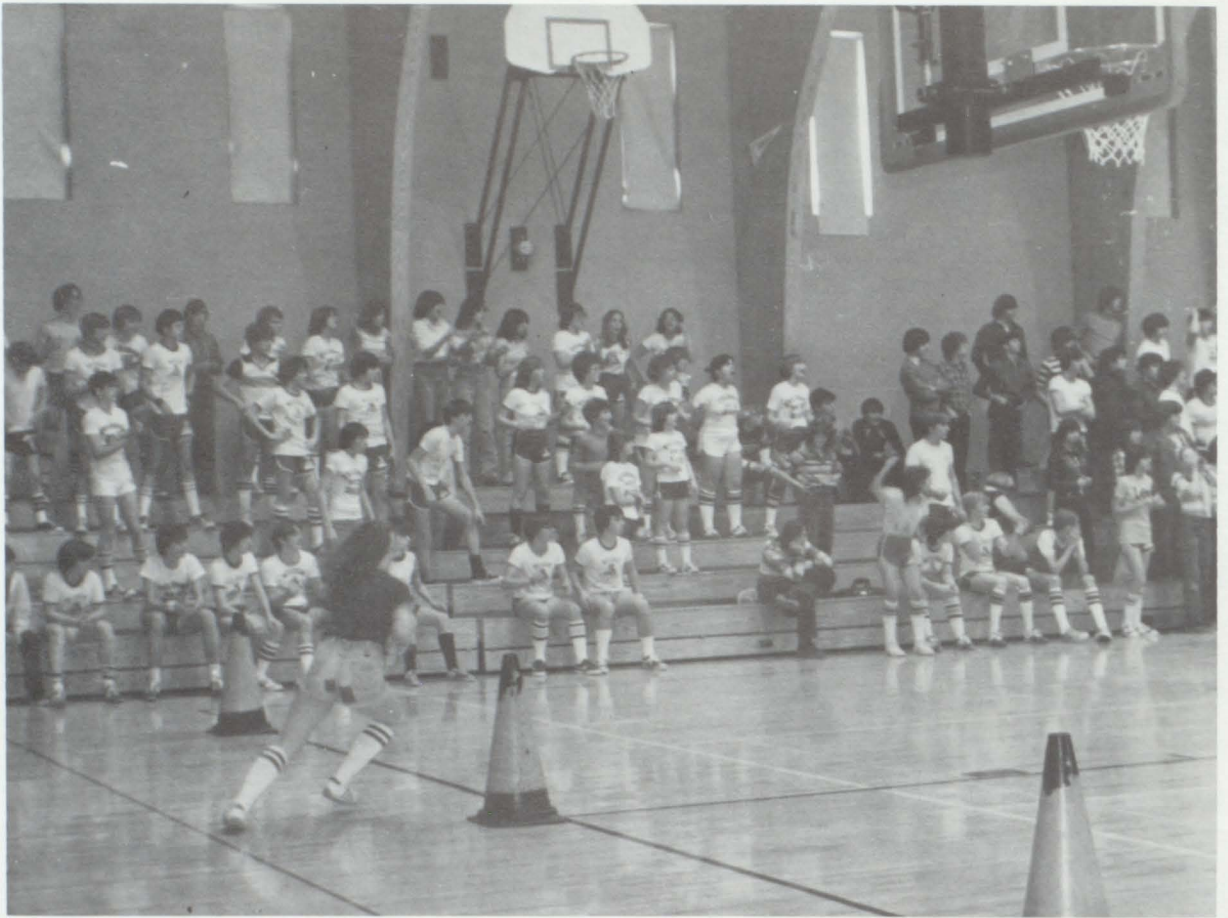

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I — I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

Winter Carnival 1979

FULLILLMENT

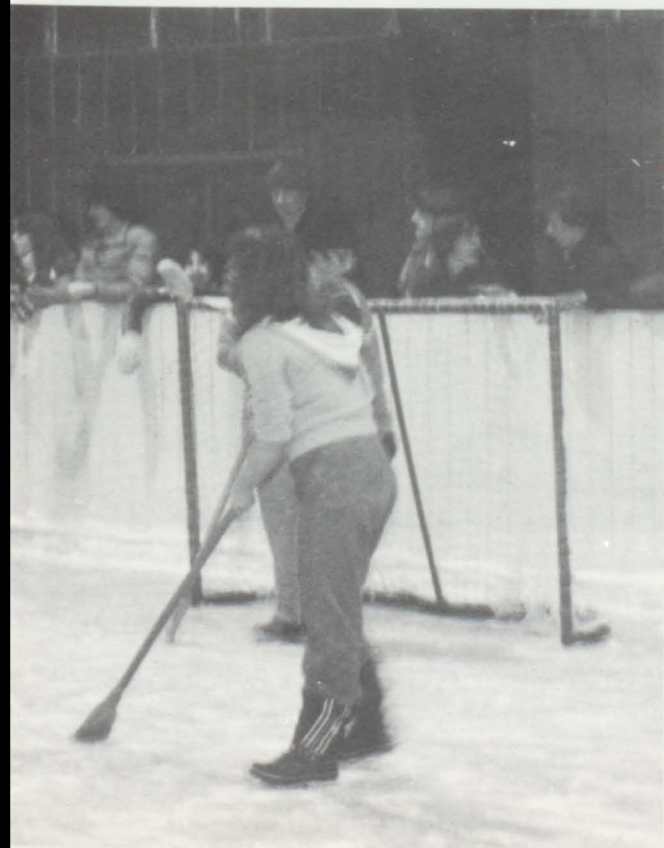

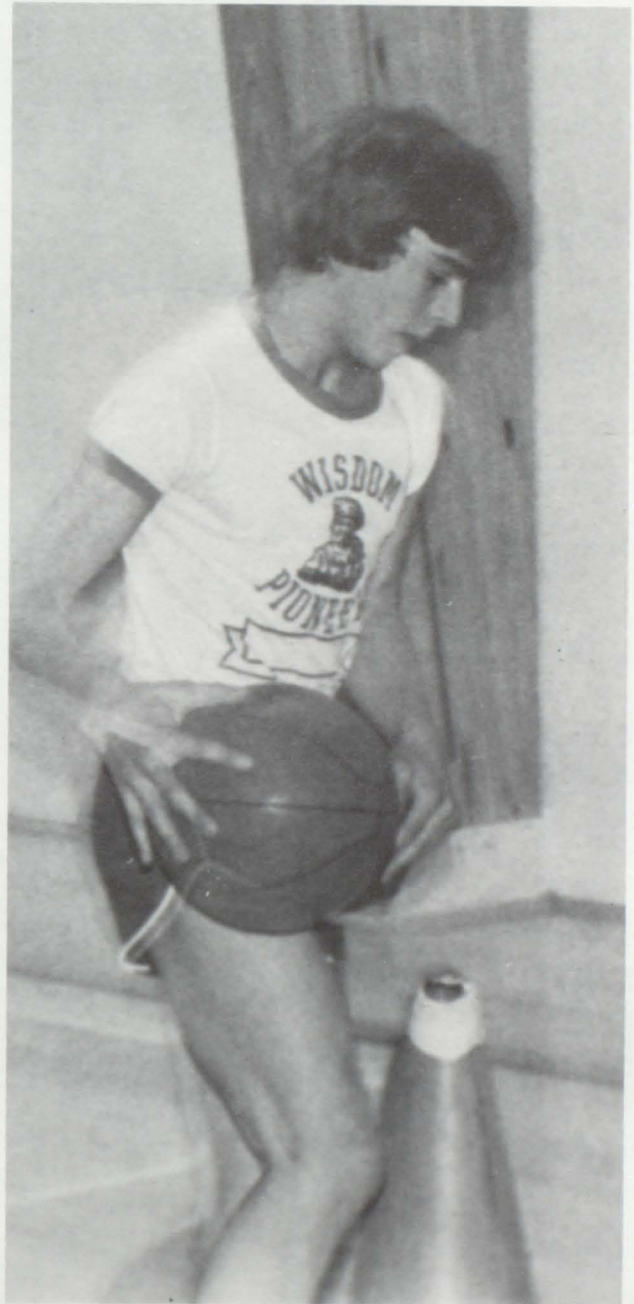

Cradled by the warm glow
Of a mellow bleeding sun
An ancient one reflecting turns
The pages of the story of his life.

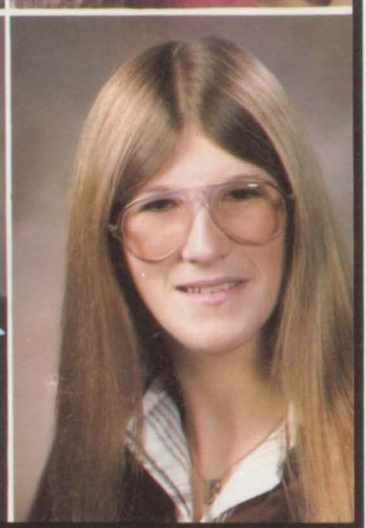

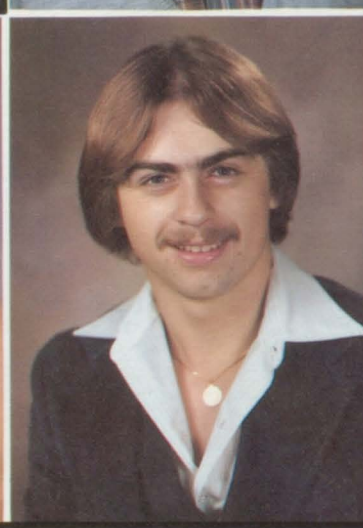

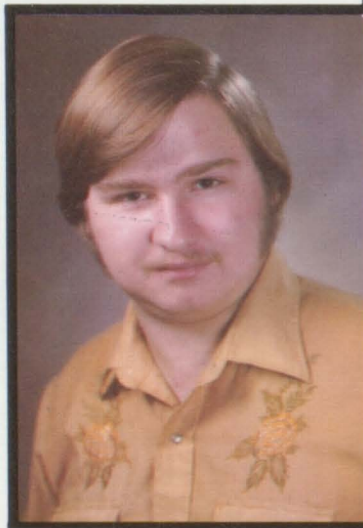

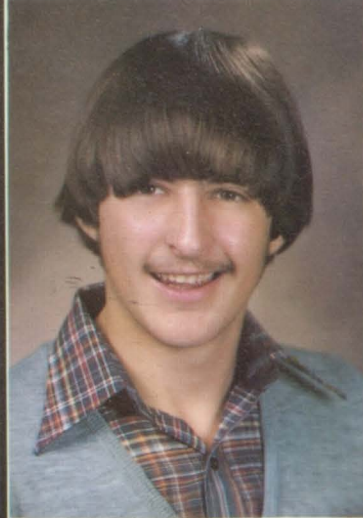

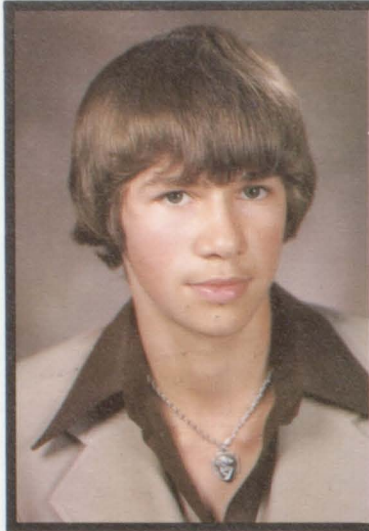

He recalls the strength and virility
Of youth, of other loved things Claimed by the ravages of time
Replaced instead by the wisdom and understanding
That his noble eyes radiate.

The faintly smiling creased lips Indicate his oneness with the breeze that Caresses the furrows of his gentle face,
With the crickets that dance
To the sparrow's song.

The crimson glory casts its final rays
On the peace-ridden expression of a man
Now content to leave, that he may Advance his spirit, and leave behind no regrets.

I am but a lonely runner in a long gruelling race
I'm a gutsy little fellow
I maintain a hard pace.

The competition is stiff and the hours slowly drag by But I refuse to give and push on, mile after mile.

At last I see the finish line
There is nothing in my way I charge forward with all remaining might and go for the glory on this happy day.

I can see the fans standing as they madly cheer away but then the alarm clock rings and I awake to a new day.

A Little Change

If you live your life always being glum.
Consider yourself not to be the only one
Not everyone is always happy
Sometimes they feel blue.
So listen to me and I will show you what to do.
Don't live your life being strict, think of yourself as a winner It's not that bad and you won't be called a sinner
Maybe one day you will be really happy then you'll see You'll be happy I told you to live in a fantasy.

Deep in my mind in the littlest corner is a small, black door.
I couldn't open it' and I grew restless.
Since there was no doorknob nor handle to grasp.
I pushed with all my might.
A small, so very small gap appeared and out came light.
It flooded the corner.
Suddenly I was hopeful,
so I pushed some more
and the door gave way.
I found myself where all fantasies begin,
are nourished, and then are returned after they have been used; for fantasies never die, they just become nostalgia after awhile.
With so much content,
I closed the door forever.

S P O R T S

There is tolerable traveling on the beaten road, run how it may;
only on the new road not yet leveled and paved,
and on the old road all broken into ruts and quagmires,
is the traveling bad or impracticable.
