2023 SUMMIT THEME:

To address substance use and overdose, the prevention, rescue, treatment, and recovery pillars are interwoven into a complex tapestry of support, interventions and funding. This tapestry creates a healthier, compassionate community that supports individuals and their families who live, work and play within it. If one of these pillars were removed or neglected, the tapestry would fall apart, and individuals would slip through the holes left in the community response.

Join us for the 2023 Southern Nevada Substance Misuse and Overdose Prevention Summit, From Silos to Synergy: Uniting the Pillars of Community Response to Substance Use, where we will discuss how to advance the prevention, rescue, treatment, and recovery pillars together. Working collectively, we are able to reduce substance use and end overdose for a healthier community.

ABOUT SHIELD:

The SHIELD Training Initiative equips law enforcement and other first responders for their work at the front lines of the overdose crisis. It provides knowledge, skills, and resources that improve their occupational health, wellbeing, and effectiveness. Built on decades of experience and deep knowledge of the evidence base, SHIELD is driven by practice and delivers practical solutions.

Based on their extensive track record, the departments that embrace SHIELD's strategies will see:

- Reductions in stress and burnout, infectious disease risk, and overdose and addiction in the community
- Improvements in job satisfaction, community health, and overall public safety
- Resulting in improved police-community relations and enhanced recruitment and retention
