Dedication of the Book

To the first people of this community whose courage, determination and foresight permit us to celebrate our Fiftieth Anniversary, this book is dedicated.

Forward

This book has been put together by many people. Some of these people were here when New Leipzig was nothing but a low spot in the prairie, others came here when the town was started, still others are sons, daughters, and grandchildren of these pioneers. A few of us are adopted sons and daughters, adopted not by court order, but having come here, we liked the country and people and decided to make this town our home. These people have all worked with the idea of putting together the history of this locality so that future generations might know where and how our pioneers lived.

The theme 'Main Street 1910' is based on Main Street, New Leipzig, but does not stop there. This being a farm community it was started with the idea of being a focal point for the farmer and still continues in that capacity today. As the farms prospered, so also did our town and in the poor years the reflection came right into our town. It is with this in mind that we compiled these records for without the farmers and farms, our town would have joined the many forgotten ghost towns in the country.

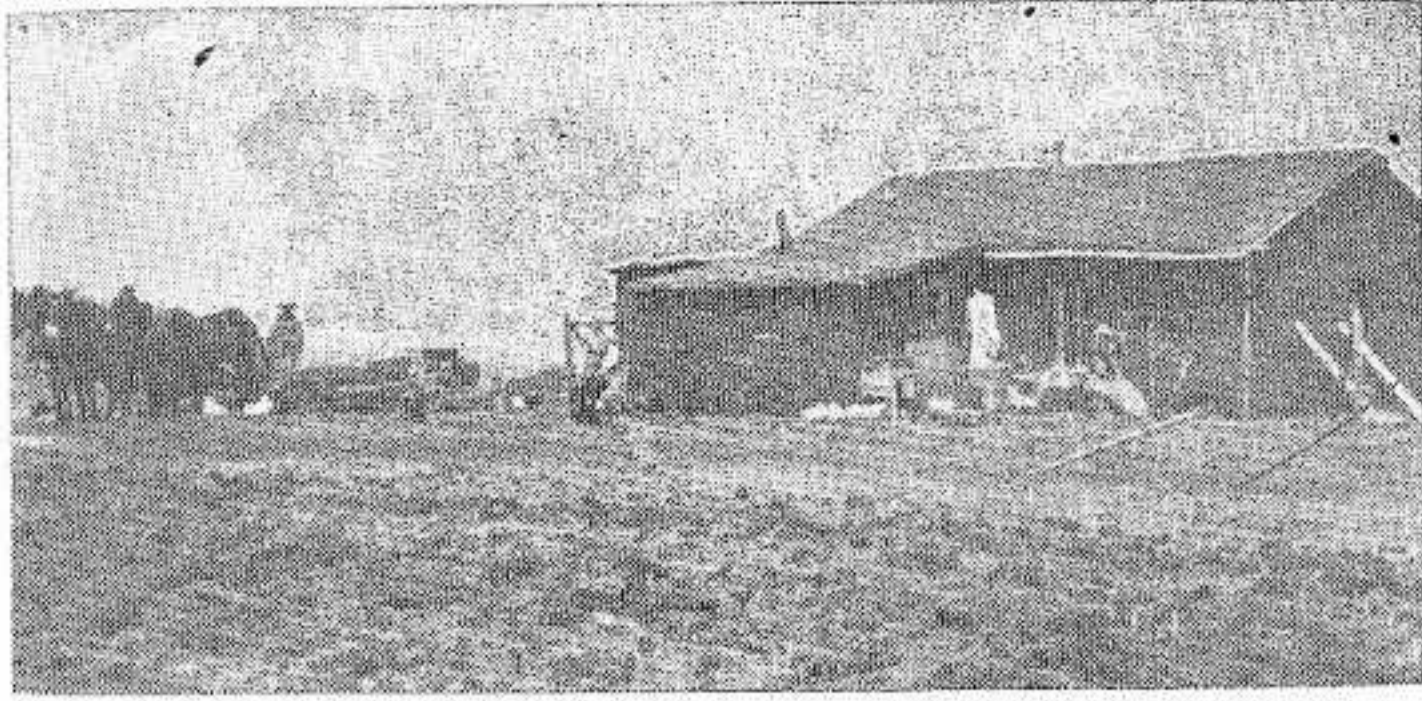

Fifty years ago people were not worried greatly about records. Primarily they were busy making homes and raising their families, so many parts of the book are of necessity, sketchy and lack authenticity, but are written as remembered by some of the remaining pioneers. Other material has been gathered from old musty records or has been volunteered by people who have heard that we are putting out a book of this nature and have given stories and historical data. True this book is not complete. Much of the history has either been forgotten or failed to be found by our committees but with this in mind and with what facilities were available, we did the 'best we could'.

The composition of this book was left largely to amateur journalists and no doubt it will soon become apparent to the average reader that there are many mistakes in the makeup of the writings which could have been corrected by a professional writer. For this we ask your apology. No doubt too, some of the material will have mistakes but as stated before, it is based somewhat on hearsay and the historical committee cannot vouch for the authenticity of the same.

At this time the New Leipzig committees would like to express their thanks to each and everyone who in some way or other, both large and small, had a share in the putting together of our towns history. Without the help of all, this book would still be a figment of someones imagination.

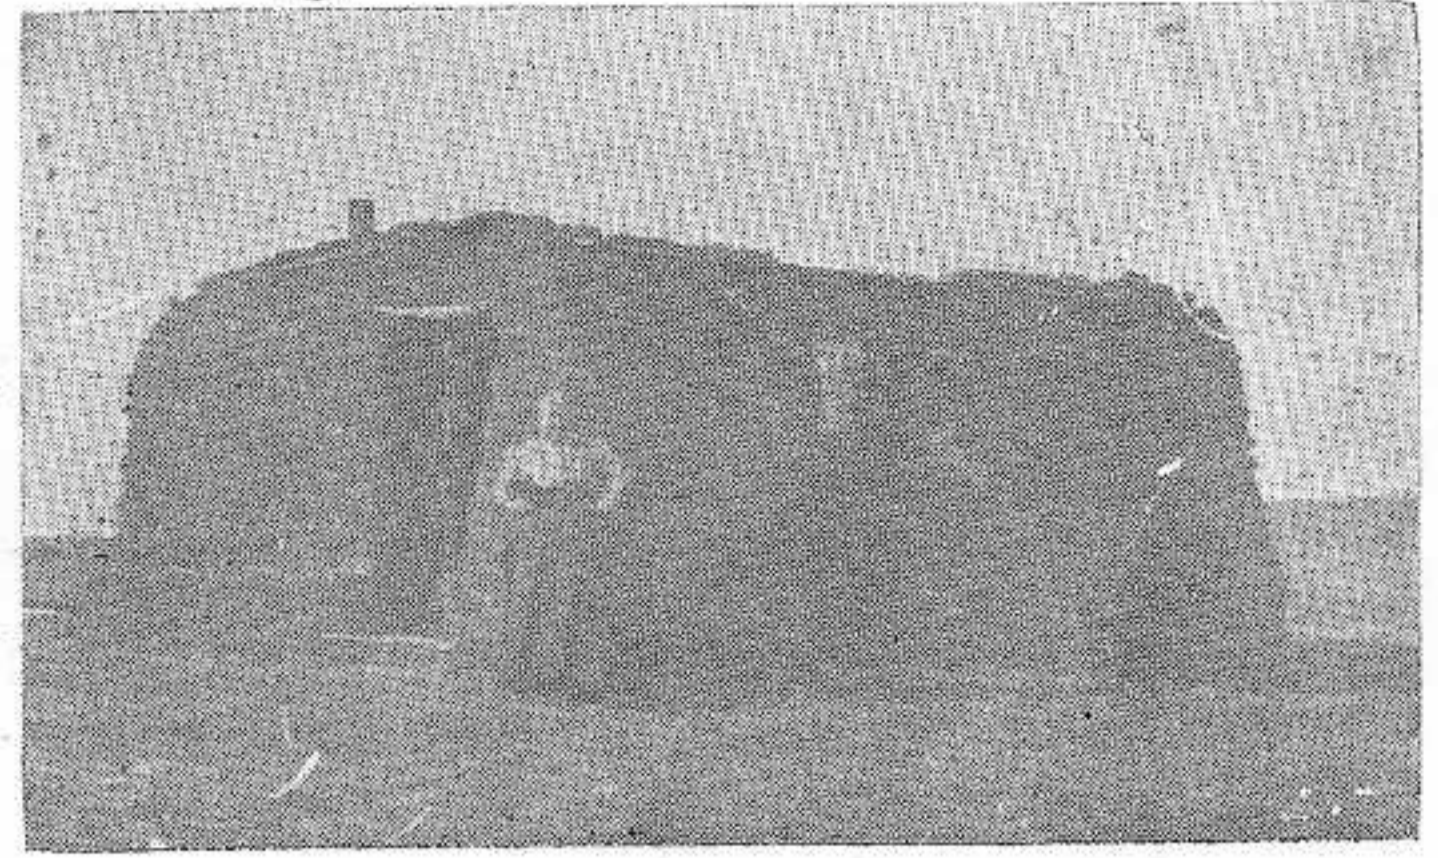

Early Day Homestead.

In winter, most living creatures and surely most plant life, lies dormant, waiting for the sun and warmth of spring. Surely life was at a standstill in the valley that was soon to be the site of the town of New Leipzig. December 31, 1909, dawning cold and bleak on the prairies of North Dakota was just another wintery day. A construction camp of railroad workers, their tent flaps tied shut and with dirt banked around the bases to keep out the snow and wind, reminded the occasional rider of a group of cocoons waiting to emerge into the beauty of butterflies.

Now the homesteaders who had all finished their fall work were spending the short day repairing harness, sleeping and doing inside jobs. They would emerge from the sod house only long enough to feed their livestock and then would hurry back to the warmth of their round pot-bellied stoves and the warmth of the oven door where they would prop their feet. Occasionally someone would feel the need of companionship and would harness the team of horses to a sleigh or stone-boat and travel over the snow to his nearest neighbor. Usually the need for that companionship infected several people at the same time and a sizeable gathering resulted. These settlers filled the winter's air with sounds of music, laughter and the chatter of voices so long pent-up within these people who were sharing the same kind of hardship.

New Year's Eve found many small groups gathered to celebrate this old festival in the manner of their forefathers. The prayers of Thanksgiving for the blessings of the past year were offered along with the hopeful prayers that the coming year would be generous to the pioneer of the plains. As these people arrived at the designated sod house, greetings in many languages would ring out: 'Gute Abend', in German; 'Piava-Piava', in Finnish; 'Happy New Year', in English, and other greetings appropriate to the people. The customs that had been carried to this country from Europe were put into use. The shooting of firearms into the air would announce the arrival of the celebrating Germans. As each farm was visited, the usual round of cheer was passed from hand to hand until the revelers rode off to the next homestead. As the crowd grew the good cheer increased and by the first light of dawn many of the weaker would have slipped down by the wayside. Meanwhile the Finn's very carefully unwrapped boxes of lead. At the stroke of midnight, starting with the eldest and ending with the youngest present, each melted a little pot of lead and dropped the molten metal into a pail of cold water and the resulting form of metal foretold the fortune of the person dropping the lead. As the youngsters finished the task of fun, the women took over and filled the tables with candies and baked goods of all kinds. As the children gradually became weary they found resting spots on beds or in the corners, until finally in the wee hours of the morning they were bundled up, loaded into the sleighs, wagons or sleds for the return trip home. With the festivities ended, life in the new year 1910 began.

Then suddenly it is Spring 1910. The first meadowlark has been here for a few days. As the early bird arrived, it seemed to herald the last snow storm of the season. As the flakes fell, the little bird sat on the ground, apparently wondering if perhaps he had made a mistake in arrival dates and that if it weren't so far the little lark would return south and start over again. In just a day or two, the sun came out bright and warm and the snow disappeared into the ground. The little bird sent out its song of joy at being alive. As the snow left, earthy colors replaced the white and through the dull brown of the dead grass a very delicate green began to show.

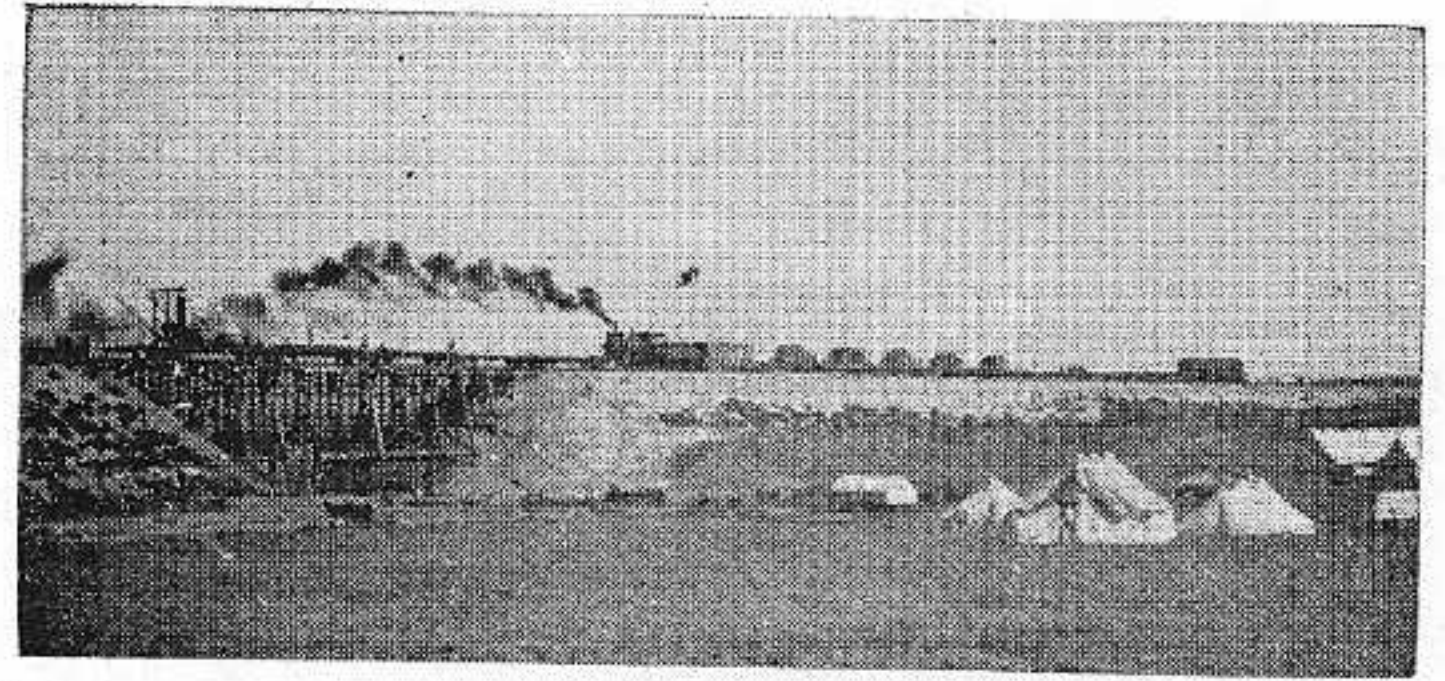

With the arrival of spring, all life seemed to come alive. The prairie resounded with the songs of the male bird calling and wooing his mate. The flaps of the tents were flung aside and the harsh sounds of construction silenced the calls of the birds. In the distance was the smoke of a work train, bringing its load of rails, ties and other needed materials. Most of the railroad workers were laborers from Italy and the foreman usually was picked for being able to be heard at long distances. His harsh voice urging his men to more work rang out across the awakened open countryside.

Each day many wagons arrived at the town site filled with men and materials. These men were to be the first citizens of New Leipzig and much was to be done before the end of summer. A shack, behind what is now Hertz Bros. store, was set up to serve as headquarters for the workers. The mail brought from Leipzig was handled in this building, which also contained a bulletin board to post urgent needs of the day. Mr. M. C. Rausch served as the first postmaster in this building and in July 1910 erected a new building for the postoffice. Cost of the building was $130.00 and was approximately 10x12. According to Mr. Rausch, the cost of the building seems like a trifling matter but the job of postmaster didn't do much to put money in his pockets. The first months wages drawn by Mr. Rausch came to $13.05 but after deducting $12.00 for board and room, he netted a sum of $1.05.

Many residents of New Leipzig are unaware of the fact that sometime during the forming of the town, the name of the town was changed to Lawther, N. Dak. and the post-office received mail addressed to both towns. Due to the opposition by many of the business houses and the railroads, who would have had to rewrite their timetables, it was decided to rename the town New Leipzig and forget the matter.

All summer, starting at daylight, the carpenters worked and continued to work until they could no longer see to do their job. As soon as one building was finished to the roof, the carpenters moved on to the next. By July two restaurants had been built and in three months a goodly number of buildings were finished. Main Street, 1910, was taking shape. Some of the buildings were moved from (old) Leipzig and the town began to look very deserted. Homes were jacked up onto wheels and the trip behind a tractor started. As the home moved, the woman of the house continued her housework, and at meal time the movers found hot meals waiting for them. The youngsters, thrilled at the new experience, used up their energy following alongside playing children's games as their homes moved closer to the final destination. Many problems arose with the moving of the larger buildings. For instance, the nine miles between the two towns seemed endless to the Michelsons when the flour mill was moved intact. Four and one-half days were spent in the move and four steamer tractors were used. Tracks of the machinery can still be seen on the prairies today.

SOCIAL LIFE

Social life in 1910 centered around the home but occasionally everyone would turn out for a community affair. One of the happiest and most competitive get togethers was the box socials. The women would compete with each other on the quality of the meal and the appearance of the box, and the men competed with one another for the privilege of sharing and eating of the contents. Henry Hertz, G. A. Ruana, and George Schulz were the auctioneers of the day, all three experts at getting the most money possible for each basket. As high as $150.00 was raised and used for the various worthwhile causes. Furthermore many romances bloomed through the sharing of these lunches. Nearly all the women in town belonged to the Ladies Aid of their various churches. A group of women formed a club called the 'Busy Bees' and as the name implies, they worked hard to make New Leipzig a good place to live. They also talked over the events of the day and made plans for future parties and events.

Men gathered together and some highly questionable (to the ladies) clubs were formed. One group called themselves 'the dirty dozen' and was made up of many of the business and professional men. They used a very novel way of calling a meeting. On certain day a notice would appear on the bulletin board of the post office, 'The Ghost Walks Tonight' and Tonight meant that on that night, beer, lunch, and a social gathering, including a very entertaining poker game would come into being. The new Moose Hall was the headquarters for a good many men too. Some of the ladies of the town had trouble getting the menfolk to come home when a poker game was in progress. Perhaps the men should have been a little more discreet, for the building was destined to have a short life. After it burned to the ground, many people claimed that the ladies burned the place in order to keep their men at home.

As is true in every town, there were a few people who liked a nip or two of stronger spirits than coffee or tea. In 1910 the establishments were known as Blind Pigs. North Dakota had a very odd law which made it illegal to sell liquor but allowed any amount of liquor to be purchased. The operators of the blind pigs ordered beer in large wooden barrels, 72 bottles to the barrel, and had it shipped into town by the railroad, and then dispensed the fluid by the bottle. It seems the wisest of the three owners had his business on a wagon and when word arrived that a raid by county officers was in the offing, he merely hitched his team to the wagon and disappeared until after the raid, then he returned to town. These places of business gave needed revenue to the young city. Each Monday morning the marshal would make the rounds and arrest each owner of the blind pigs. The Justice of the Peace fined each man from $10 to $20 depending on the needs of the day and then the owners could operate freely for another week. This source of income helped to pay the marshal's salary and other costs of the city. These taverns gave employment for the youngsters too. Boys and girls alike kept their eyes open for the empties and when enough were on hand they would sell the bottles to the owners of the Pigs.

Movies came into being a few years later. This was a novelty for many who had never seen such an oddity and probably was most popular with the younger set. With each movie was shown a chapter of a serial. All who can remember the thrills of 'The Perils of Pauline' can never forget the troubles she ran into, such as riding on a runaway wagon loaded with dynamite, and as the dynamite exploded with a fury, the chapter would end and of course everyone had to go back next week to see if Pauline had finally met her untimely end. Those were the days of the silent movies with noise furnished by the viewers. Henry Lewis was the operator and G. A. Ruana would furnish the elbow grease because the machines were operated by means of a crank. Whenever the film broke and that happened regularly and often, a pause of from ten to fifteen minutes occurred while the operator frantically spliced the broken pieces together.

In the winter many skating parties were held. Roller skating was held in the upstairs of Hertz Bros. store where two floors were worn out and had to be replaced. Ice skating was enjoyed on the ponds just west of town and at the river. About once amonth a group of young people loaded on a sleigh and with song and laughter made the trip to the Cannonball River for an evening of skating. A huge fire was built to give light and furnish the heat for roasting marshmallows and wieners.

Dances were held regularly and were well attended by young and old. Although the musicians were all local citizens, some excellent or lively music was furnished by these people. These dances were held at the Hertz Bros. store and at the Finn Hall, south of town about ten miles.

SPORTS

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy. The people of New Leipzig applied this adage to their play. As soon as the essential buildings were finished workers began construction of the recreational buildings. A two lane bowling alley was set up at the north end of Main Street and many people used these lanes during the years that it was in operation. Also pool and billiard tables were set up in various establishments around town. Many of the young men got to be experts at these games. Rivalries between the towns of the vicinity were many times settled over a billiard table. Otto Dubs and G. A. Ruana were the winners in a good many of these tournaments. Seasonal sports such as baseball, basketball, tennis, and ice skating have been popular over the years and given the youngsters an outlet for their exercise and excess energy.

New Leipzig has always been fortunate in having talented and capable persons available to provide the leadership and direction for these various sports programs. Early leaders in these fields were: O. D. Sprecher, P. P. Schlosser, H. DeLaPointe, M. C. Rausch, Al Neiter, P. J. Rausch and later Dr. E. E. Hamilton, Otto Dubs, G. A. Ruana, Emil Will, Henry Lewis and others. Many of these people worked inside through the day and found it beneficial to spend a good part of their spare time in outdoor sports. They also found that the game of tennis afforded a maximum of exercise. O. D. Sprecher, a lover of tennis, worked hard at the game to develop his skill and ability. He was one of the organizers of the first tennis club. Mr. Neiter worked with Mr. Sprecher along these lines and soon established a fine club of over twenty members. The first court built was behind the Dubs Meat Market, which made it handy for the workers. Many came early before office hours and played tennis for an hour or so before going inside for the days work, and resumed play after closing hours. Membership fees were used for equipment, but it was soon found that larger and better facilities were needed. Two clay courts were built in the east part of town in what is now called Park Addition. A band pavilion was moved onto the grounds, and a playground was built beside the court. For many years this was one of the busiest parts of town. Members of the club sponsored a tournament every other year and also played in many out of town events. Some places where the tennis group participated were Bismarck, Mandan, Dickinson, Hettinger, Mott, Mobridge and Aberdeen. Rev. J. J. Heinz, O. D. Sprecher, Henry Lewis, G. A. Ruana and others managed to win several of the meets in the area and were well known as a unusually rugged bunch of tennis players. At a tennis meet in Mobridge, where members of the New Leipzig team was gathered and ready to compete with players from North and South Dakota, Minnesota and Montana, an opposing player asked where New Leipzig was. J. P. Zweber answered by telling the people assembled, "You people follow the medals and cups that are won after this meet and where they stop, you will find New Leipzig." Of nine cups and medals that were won that day, seven found their way to the town of New Leipzig.

BASEBALL

Baseball as played in the earlier days furnished an outlet for both players and fans. The players got the physical pleasure and the fans got to use their voices and pocket-books. The game was taken very seriously and due to this man, incidents and engagements of fistcuffs were reported. New Leipzig boasted of one of the top teams in the Slope area. An early lineup featured the following players: M. C. Rausch, Botten, Neiter, LaPointe, Schlepp, P. J. Rausch, H. Lewis, Harke, Haske, M. Little, L. Little. The New Leipzig team took on all comers and were victorious more times than not. Rivalry between Mott and New Leipzig came to a head with the hiring of a negro player to captain the Mott team and angry words and actions almost caused a riot, especially between the editors of the two town papers. These two argued back and forth in the paper for weeks with peace finally being restored when the season ended. The names of the players changed from time to time but the game has had a good following even to the present day when the American Legion Post fields its team of Juniors each summer.

BASKETBALL

Basketball is another game in which much interest has been aroused. This game came into being a few years after the town was founded with Superintendent of School Otto Borchert being one of the first coaches. Again Hertz Bros. Hall was put into use, later the Henry Bellman warehouse was used, and then when the addition to the school was made, a gym was built in the basement of the new structure. A new modern gym was built in 1957 that will fill the needs of the school for many years to come and which is the center of the basketball games today. The 86x92 foot building serves as an indoor playground for all the school during the winter months.

Coach Fred Leason took the first basketball team to the state tournaments and Coach Lyle Hill took two successive teams in later years to the state playoffs. Almore Hertz won all-state honors for his performance in guard position during the 1930's and in the present school year, son Jack Hertz was named as the high scoring player in the conference. Many other young people have made a good name in this game. For many years the town has had an independent team and both the older players and school youngsters have always shown an aggressive spirit and winning ways in all the games that they have been together.

TRACK

In the year 1922 track was introduced into the school at New Leipzig. Being fleet of foot, many of our alumni were among those who finished first in the races. Some of the more note worthy were: Waldy Dubs, Art Will, Art Alt, Janis Lamster and Raymond Alt. Raymond Alt is the latest of the winners and has his name on the state records for winning the mile race two years in a row. Under the direction of Coach Leonard Barking, Raymond had his best time of 4 minutes 26 seconds. In 1928 the track team went to the Jamestown Relays and came home with a total of 5 gold medals. They won first in three of the four relays and hurdler Glenn Rowe won first in both the low and high hurdles. This meet saw the youngsters competing against about fifteen class A and B schools, including Bismarck, Jamestown and Valley City.

WATER SPORTS

With the body of water in the Heart Butte Lake just 16 miles north of New Leipzig and with roads leading to the waters edge, it is natural for many of the water sports here-to-fore unheard of in this part of the country to come into being. Many of our citizens have made boating one of the most popular summer pastimes. The Sportsman Club of New Leipzig secured a lease on a sheltered bay of the lake and several thousand dollars have been spent building docks, a well, shelter, and other improvements such as graveling an area for swimming and roads and safety first measures around the area. This club site has been the meeting spot for 4th of July celebrations, 4-H outings and even a church program put on by a group of Lutheran youngsters, and the number of family picnics that have been held at the site are uncountable. Trees have been planted by the club and in the near future will be large enough to furnish all the shade needed. Many local youngsters have learned the art of swimming at this site and more than a few are proficient at the sport of water skiing, thanks to this fine lake. Several local residents, the John Bader's, the Art Tietz's, the Alfred Olien's, and the Robert Tietz's have built summer cottages near the club site and spend many hours each summer in the peaceful surroundings.

HUNTING and FISHING

Since time began, people have hunted and fished for food and for sport. In 1910 the supply of animals and birds were plentiful and many people hunted commercially but this era was soon to come to a halt when the game started disappearing. Many hunters came home with game with wagon loads of deer and ducks, but most fair minded people only shot what game could be used. Ducks and some types of upland birds were plentiful and many young people became quite expert at moving targets with both the rifle and shotgun. Small boys started with the single shot '22' and popped at the elusive jack-rabbit. As they reached a proficiency with the gun, father allowed the youngster to use the shotgun. This method of learning is still being used today as these jack-rabbits are just as fast as in 1910 and are now worth shooting as the fur is used in making hats, etc. As high as 60c each is paid to the lucky hunter. One mark of approaching manhood was to take the family shotgun, usually a 10 gauge type, behind the barn to shoot at a can. If the boy could stand on his feet after the shot he was considered old enough to take the gun afield.

The intervening years have been good to the sportsman. Pheasants have grown plentiful over the years and what person hasn't been thrilled to see the many colored bird soaring over the fields. Duck season is eagerly awaited by all hunters both young and old. During the dry 30's a project of the WPA was the building of a small dam eight miles south of New Leipzig and a Federal Refuge was established on the section of land enclosing the lake. Many thousands of ducks making their way south for the winter, make this lake the first stop and due to the abundance of feed in the area they stay till the lake freezes over.

Deer hunting has improved greatly, due perhaps to the flooding of the Missouri bottoms by the large dams built in both North and South Dakota. Many trophy deer, both white tail and mule, have been killed in this area. The ration of successful hunters and hunters afield is perhaps as high as any state in the union. Antelope have also been on the upturn in the past few years and in 1958 and 59 this area has been opened to the hunting of this fine game animal.

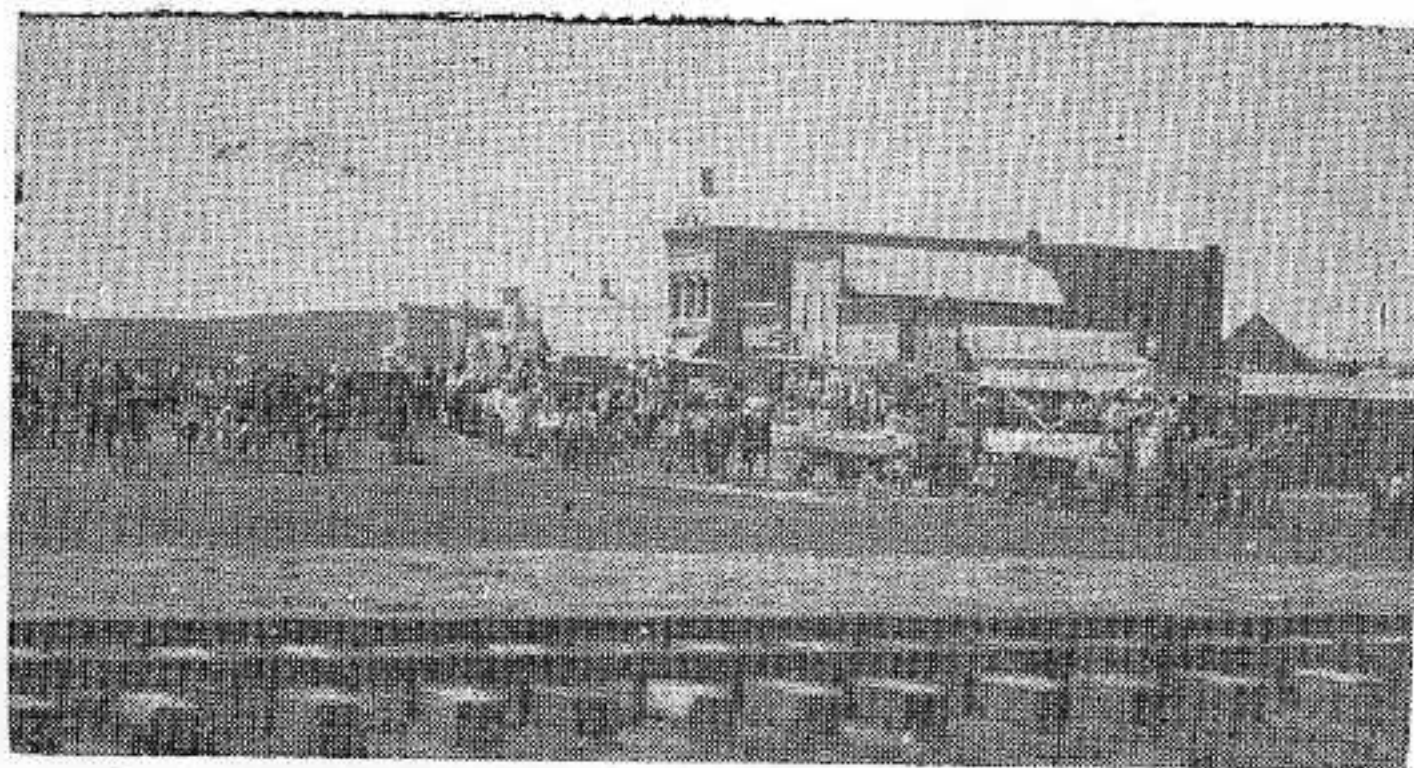

Fishing has taken a decided upturn when the fish in the Heart River dam became of catching size. No doubt one of the best things that has happened to the sportsman since this country was established was the building of this large dam by the Bureau of Reclamation and the impounding of over 100,000 acre feet of water in the lake behind the dam. This has brought about many changes in the sporting lives of the people living in this area. Finished in 1949 and filled by the heavy run-off the next spring the lake has been stocked by the Game and Fish Department and the natural growth of the fish has made this lake one of the most attractive for the fisherman in the state, and the record catches of walleye pike brings more people to the lake each season. Northern Pike up to 20 pounds have been caught in this same body of water. Trout were planted in 1956 but as yet few have been caught by the fisherman.

HISTORY OF THE SCHOOL

The door, or rather we should say, the doors of the New Leipzig School District No. 56 were first opened in the fall of 1910. School was held in various places around the town. Some youngsters were in the First State Bank, City Hall, Print Shop and other places. Mr. Otto Borchert was the first man to hold the position of Superintendent or Principal as he was known in those first few years of our school.

In 1912 the first school house was built. A wood structure, the building was used only two years when a fire broke out in the early morning hours and leveled the building in a few hours. Again the youngsters were forced to attend school in various buildings around town until the next year, 1915 a modern brick and fire proof building was built and completely equipped with new devices of study. The new school consisted of three departments: primary, grammar and 2 year high school.

In 1918 a big change in policy took place as the school district was consolidated with the Weller school district and has remained in that capacity and with the name of Weller School District No. 15 until the present time.

Many youngsters have received their education within these walls but the first class to graduate from the grammar school were Elsie Delabarre, Emma Delabarre, Theodore Grosz, Edward Flaig, Janet Anderson, Edmund Dubs, Nathan Garnick, Eleanor Provolt, Emma Nutz, Olive Dunahay, Olga Flaig, Newell Hamilton, Rose Nutz, Robert Schulz, Freda Dubs. This took place in the year 1916.

Mr. Albert Wing came to the school as Principal in 1919 and served faithfully for many years. In that same year it was Mr. Wing's idea and under his direction that the first Grant County Play Day was held and more than two thousand people gathered in New Leipzig to partake in the doings of the day.

Another milestone in school history was reached in the year 1922, when the four year high school was put into operation. The first graduates under this plan came in 1924 and included the following: Lillian Behrenfeld, Victor Provolt, Alma Flaig, Herbert Hertz, Jacob Pflugrath, Kathryn Haisch and Bernice Mack. Of this class Victor Provolt and Herbert Hertz still reside in the city. Mr. Michael Tovey was Principal during that year.

In 1926 the Weller District had grown in size so that it became necessary to enlarge the school. An addition on the east side of the school was put up making the school twice as big and included rooms for the auditorium, class rooms and the gymnasium. The 1930's found the country deep in the depression and as with the rest of the school systems in our state, the school suffered from financial troubles but in 1935 the state came to the rescue with help by inaugurating the present 2% Sales Tax Law. Money collected by this law was allotted to schools under the basis of need system.

Some of the well known Superintendents who served in this district, along with the afore mentioned Mr. Borchert and Mr. Wing, are: A. L. Dahl, L. H. Hill, Eric Strobel, Victor Ball, A. J. Hoff and the present Superintendent W. A. Urban. It was in the school term of 1951-53 that a very important step was taken towards the development of the Hot Lunch Program. Mrs. Lowell Paddock served as chief cook and dietician the first year and starting the next term till the present day Mrs. Elsie Hintz and staff have efficiently provided meals for the children.

The largest building project was undertaken in the year 1957. A new gym was planned and built. A huge structure, 86 x 92 and made of brick, the building cost in the neighborhood of $100,000. It now serves as the center for basketball, community and church gatherings, boxing and wrestling matches, Christmas programs and graduation exercises.

In 1958 the long needed and awaited annexation of Delabarre and Lorin Districts into the Weller District came about and a year later in a special election the evidence of more growth came about when all of Leipzig and parts of Selma and Fleak School districts came in to make the now Weller Special School District. Our present district now reaches 12 miles north and 15 miles south of New Leipzig.

Our teaching staff for the year 1959-60 was headed by Superintendent W. A. Urban, Leonard Barking, Principal; Mrs. Violet Quill, English; Mr. Kenneth Dahl, Science and Math; Mr. Richard Rotsolk, Social Science and History. In the grades are Mr. Sam Galland, Mrs. Hattie Hertz, Miss Emile Trapp, Mrs. Ellen Tietz, Mrs. D. Remington, and Mrs. Vera Hodell. Mr. Arthur Hintz is the custodian.

HISTORY OF THE CATHOLIC CHURCH

In the wake of the first Blackrobes, among whom Father De Smet of the Society of Jesus was the most noted, who came to bring christianity to the Indians, came the Benedictine Fathers. The Benedictine Fathers, with their headquarters at Assumption Abbey at Richardton, occupied themselves primarily with ministering to the Indians. The demands upon the Community of Richardton swelled as the first Catholic immigrants began to settle on the land with the coming of the Milwaukee and Northern Pacific Railroads in 1910. The Benedictine Fathers undoubtedly read the first Mass in what is now New Leipzig, in the fall of 1910. The first Mass was read upstairs in the building which now houses the Farmers Creamery Association. Due to the far flung corners tended by the Fathers, Mass was offered here quite rarely. Sometimes Mass was even offered in homes. One such home was that of Peter Schlosser. Father Gallus was the first priest in residence here. He tended churches at Stowers, south of Bentley, Miner, Bentley, and Brisbane. At that time there was no church at Bentley so Mass was offered in homes, some of whom were the Adam Kelsch and Frank Kilzer homes. In 1913 the first Catholic Church was built in New Leipzig on the spot where the New Church now stands. Father Thomas Stoerkle, O.S.B. was no doubt the priest in charge of this operation but there is no definite record of this. Father Wm. Fred Hake came in the fall of 1914 as the first pastor of the parish of New Leipzig and its missions. The Church at Stowers was not much longer cared for from here but from Hettinger. To the missions of Bentley, Miner and Brisbane was added the mission of Carson. The mission Church at Miner was built in 1914 and the mission at Bentley in 1924.

Father John Heinz succeeded Father Hake in August of 1916. Some may still remember him, chugging along in his little old Model "T" Ford coupe. For a short interim Father Henninger was pastor, from the fall of 1919 to the fall of 1920, when Father Werner Radermacher came in November of 1920.

During the pastorate of Father Hake the old barn Father Gallus used for his horses was moved to the site of the church and transformed into a makeshift rectory. In approximately 1918 the present rectory was built by a man by the name of Mack. The rectory still serves as the home of the priest.

Father Radermacher battled the obstacles of bad roads, rough weather, and inadequate transportation for 36 years. Father Radermacher was a friend to Catholic and Protestant alike. His self-sacrificing spirit still bears its marks among the people whom he served for so many years. Father Radermacher retired in the summer of 1956 and moved to San Antonio, Florida, where he occupies his time raising oranges, peanuts and other garden stuffs. Father Werner still helps out the priests around him in time of need.

Father Radermacher was replaced by Father John Dubsky in the summer of 1956. He began the foundation work for the building of a new church to replace the 45 year old building now much the worse for years of use and certainly no longer adequate for the needs of the Catholic of the community. On October 1, 1957 Father James Pommier was appointed pastor of St. John the Baptist parish. Continuing another year and a half of preparatory work for the building of a new church, finally on July 22, 1959 everything was set for the new church. On July 23 the movers, Christ Baker and John R. Zentner jacked up the old church and put it on wheels and by noon on July 24 the old church had been moved across the street by Christ's 1918 Case tractor to make way for the new building and to serve out its last days. On July 27 Paul McCloud, with Kenneth Davenport's equipment, did the excavation for the basement in four hours flat. On August 6 the footings were poured. After a quick trip to Portland, Oregon where Father Pommier purchased all the materials for the new church from Carlton Lumber Co., the basement for the church was completed. William Ottmar and Roland Pahl, with the help of Dennis Baesler, Byron Olien and Jerry Paddack, laid the cement blocks the week of August 24 through 29. Pilasters, floors, mud sill, arch anchors and step footings were completed during September.

On October 5 the first carload of lumber arrived from Portland and the superstructure began to rise. The arches were in place and all in readiness when the second car of lumber arrived on October 16. The walls were up and end panels in place by October 21 when in 5 hours, men from St. John's and the mission of Bentley put the roof boards on the church. Men from the Miner mission came in and helped complete the roof except for a few shingles, by Saturday, October 24 on which day 37 men worked on the roof. That day it was so beautiful all worked in shirt sleeves and ate on picnic tables out in the back yard. The building was completely enclosed on November 21. The heating system was put into operation on December 22. By January 18 most of the interior of the upstairs was completed except for varnish, paint and floor tile.

The church was completed in time for the Dedication the first week in April, a fitting tribute to a town celebrating its 50th Jubilee and to the Priests and people alike who were all so much a part of all that became the history and part of what still is New Leipzig.

"IMMANUEL LUTHERAN CHURCH"

The origin of Immanuel Lutheran congregation can be traced to a worship service held at the home of Andrew Sandau late in 1907. The Rev. A. Wolf of Mott saw the need and possibility of mission work in the area but due to the size of his own field, he could do little more than conduct an occasional service.

In July 1908, a student from Luther Seminary at St. Paul, Minnesota was dispatched to the area. Student Rink had to return to St. Paul to finish his theological training, but returned to the field in April 1909 and continued his work. During the interim, services were conducted by Mr. Sandau. The devout lay-preacher kept the small group together and organized the first Sunday School.

Following a worship service, held in August 1910, in the Hertz Bros. Store, the group organized as the Evangelical Lutheran Immanuel Congregation. Of the twenty-one original charter members, only Mr. Emanuel Grade and Mrs. Emanuel Tietz are still active members of the congregation. Plans were approved for a new church and a sum of $2000.00 was pledged on the day of organization. Mr. Henry Bellman was elected as construction supervisor. One month later, September 18, 1910, the cornerstone for the new church was laid with the Rev. F. Rink officiating.

From the later part of December 1910, the congregation remained without regular services for almost a year. During the summer months, students from Luther Seminary at St. Paul, Minn. would conduct services and provide religious instruction for the children. Nevertheless, the congregation was able to dedicate its new church edifice in November, 1913.

When the Rev. F. Bunge accepted the pastorate at the beginning of 1914, Immanuel Lutheran had affiliated with three other congregations in forming a parish. When the Rev. Bunge left in 1917 the parish was divided. When the new pastor, Rev. E. Koosmann, arrived, the parish consisted of Immanuel Lutheran and St. Paul congregation at Fleak. During Koosmann's pastorate a new parsonage was erected and dedicated on October 31, 1918.

The Rev. F. Kordewich was installed as pastor of the Parish on October 15, 1921. During his ten year pastorate a new church bell was obtained and the church tower was heightened.

An interesting item appears in the records of the Rev. O. Bruntsch, who served the parish from 1931-1934.

"Because of the depression, crop failures, and poor prices for farm products, I declared myself satisfied with a salary of $1200. for the year 1933. When conditions failed to improve, I declared my salary to be $918. for the year 1934. The call originally stipulated the salary to be $1400.00."

Pastor Bruntsch organized the first Luther League on October 15, 1933. The church interior was refinished and redecorated during his pastorate. He was succeeded by Rev. Kolbe who demitted the ministry in 1937.

Under the guidance of Rev. H. Schmidt, 1938-1941, both congregations in the parish experienced considerable growth. The old church barn, remembered by many, was remodeled and converted to a fine Parish Hall. Luther Hall has withstood twenty years of meetings and church-school classes.

The congregation continued to grow and prosper under the guidance of the Rev. E. Groth. The church interior was finished with NuWood, floors sanded, new paraments were purchased and a new sacristy was added to the building for rededication services on October 31, 1943. St. Paul congregation at Fleak merged with the Immanuel congregation during Groth's pastorate, 1941-1947.

Another three year vacancy was in store for the congregation. The work however, continued under the leadership of Student R. Jakober, who served as vicar from October 1948 until the summer of 1949. The Brotherhood was organized in 1948, new choir gowns were obtained, and a new Wurlitzer organ was dedicated on May 3, 1949.

Upon completion of his theological training, a call was extended and accepted by Rev. R. C. Jakober. Pastor Jakober was a grandson of one of the original charter members of the congregation. Many other improvements were made before the completion of his pastorate in January 1958.

On July 5, 1958, the Rev. G. G. Neuberger arrived from Yellow Grass, Sask. and was installed as pastor of the congregation. At present there are 380 baptized members and 241 confirmed members in the congregation. If present plans materialize, construction of a new church edifice and parish education unit will commence in a matter of a few months. Although it will be delayed beyond the actual date, it is hoped that the new church can be dedicated in observance of our Fiftieth Anniversary.

NEW LEIPZIG FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The first settlers of Baptist faith came to the New Leipzig area in 1905. With no Baptist church in the vicinity, the early pioneers attended Congregational services which were held in a home in the neighborhood. The closest Baptist minister lived at Hebron, and occasionally he would come to conduct services in a Baptist home.

By 1909, with favorable prospects, and a vision for the future, there was hope of establishing a permanent work.

But there was dire poverty and no church building or parsonage. The ingenuity of the pioneer spirit was manifest when it was suggested that the minister take up a homestead on eighty acres of land still available northwest of town.

A house was built on the homestead and Rev. Thomas Stoeri was called to become the first pastor. The home served as a parsonage as well as the first meeting place for the congregation.

The church was formally organized on August 22, 1910, with 21 charter members. The ministry was soon expanded to two stations; Ebenezer, northwest of New Leipzig, and Pilgerheim, southwest of New Leipzig. The first church was built at Ebenezer and was dedicated on June 4, 1911. The church at Pilgerheim was built in 1918.

In 1931 the work was begun in New Leipzig by establishing a Sunday School. A Congregational church situated north of town was purchased and moved in to become the first permanent meeting place in town. When the building became inadequate, the Pilgerheim church was moved in and attached to the original building. There was further remodeling and enlarging of the building in 1951.

Of the charter members, only two are still living and members of the church. There are Mr. and Ms. Gottfried Kallis who now reside at the Good Samaritan Home in Elgin.

The following are the pastors who have served the church during the past fifty years: T. Stoeri, S. Groza, A. Runtz, G. Freigang, J. Schmidt, J. Koschel, J. Matz, D. Littke, B. Schreiber, E. Becker. Rev. Allan Strohschein is the present pastor.

The present church membership numbers 116. There is an active Sunday School, Women's Missionary Society and Youth Group. All services are conducted in New Leipzig, although a number of the families come from, beyond the town itself.

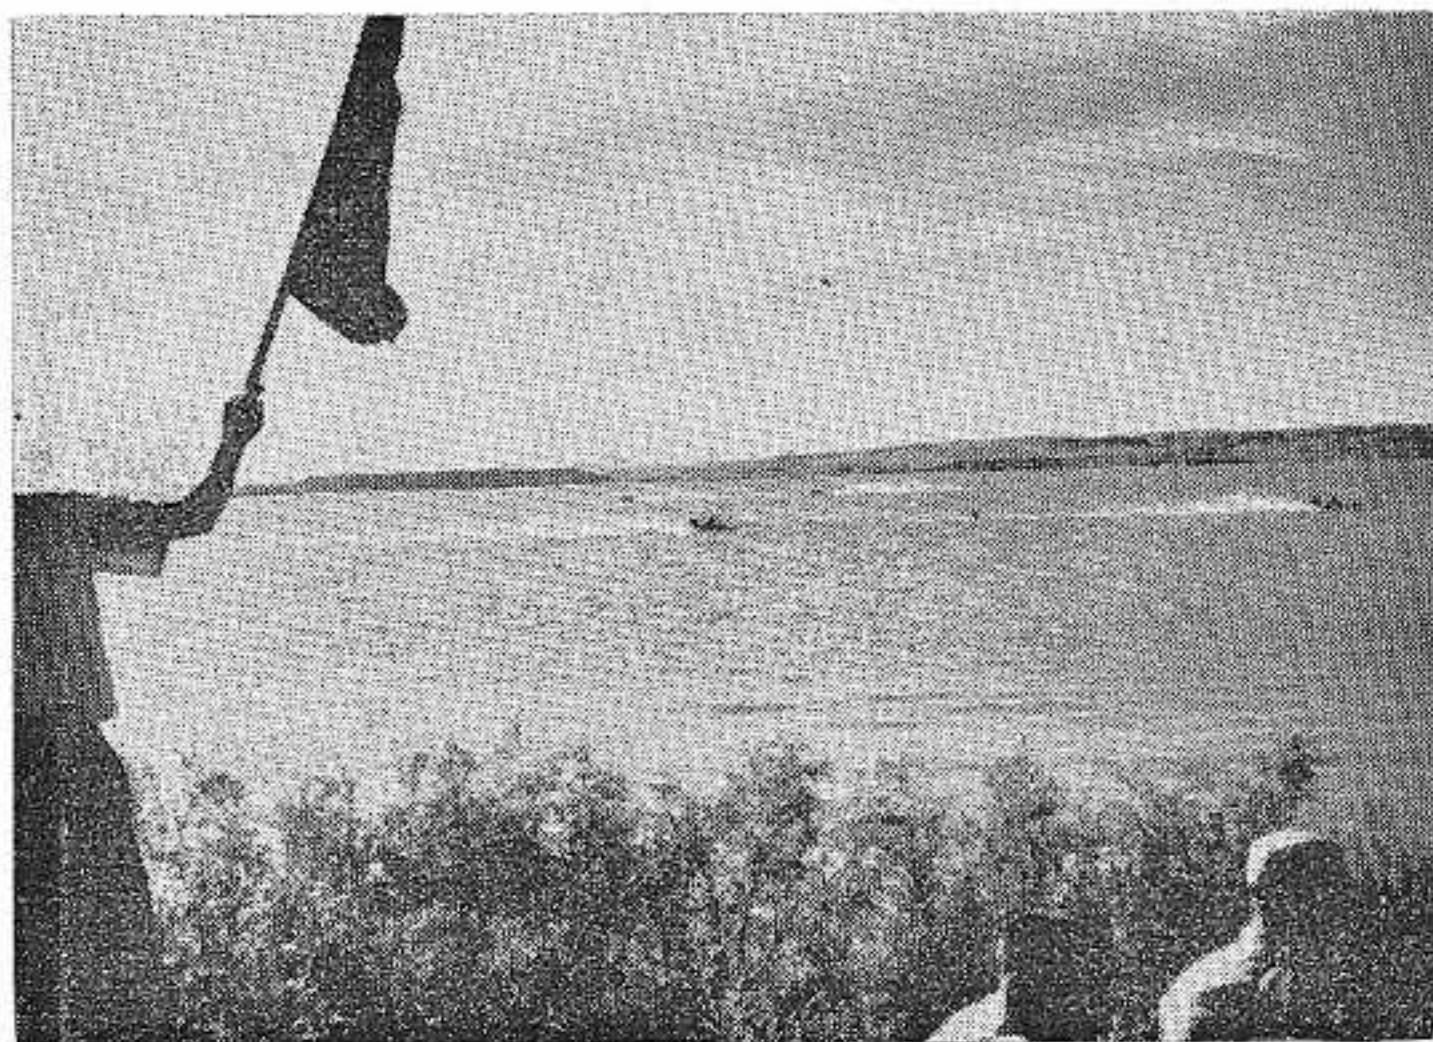

The history of this church is not only a record of sacrificing, hard-working people and devoted ministers, but it is an evidence of the blessing and direction of God who has graciously led His people.

HISTORY of the CHRISTUS CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The history of the Christus Congregational Church of New Leipzig dates back to 1917 when a group of faithful Christian men and pastors gathered at the Wilhelm Schroeder Jr. home to organize a Congregational Church. The council members of the meeting were as follows: Rev. P. Krumbein, Wilhelm Schroeder Jr., Adam Rieger, John Wolff, George Weller, and Michael Flaig. Rev. Krumbein was elected as Chairman and Secretary. After reading a Scripture and offering a prayer, the business meeting began. After a lengthy discussion about building a Congregational Church, the council was now ready to organize. It was resolved that the name of the Congregation shall be "The Christus Congregation." The first church building was a small school house, which was bought and moved in to the present site of the church. The first members were the following: Mr. and Mrs. John Wolff, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Flaig, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Rieger, Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. George Weller, and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Walter. The first minister was Rev. P. Krumbein, and since then the following pastors have served this church: Rev. H. R. Reudemann, Rev. Peter Ruder, Rev. Theodore Pfenning, Student Pastor Edward Eslinger, Rev. Daniel Schurr, Student Pastor Adolf Orman, Peter Ruder (second call), Rev. Herbert Rath, Rev. M. H. Grosz, Rev. B. Moos, Student Pastor D. Eisenbrey, and the present pastor, Rev. M. H. Grosz, the second call.

In the year 1923 the need for a larger church building was felt and to accommodate the increasing number of people who chose the Congregational Church as their church home, the Rev. Reudemann called a special meeting to discuss the matter. After due consideration the congregation decided to build a new church. Only those who have undertaken a similar task can understand the patience and endurance as well as the sacrifice necessary to succeed in building a new church. It was a momentous decision and required a united effort and more than that, a united faith and prayer by all the members. The building committee consisted of the following: Jacob Bader, Adam Rieger, Jacob Auch, Samuel Friesz and Charles Delabarre. The plans were drawn up and work began. Although it required much sacrifice, the new church building was completed. The congregation was very proud of their new edifice, which measures 40 feet long by 28 feet wide with a full basement. The cost of the building at that time was $5000.00 even though much of the work was done by the members. After the new church was completed, the membership increased and at present we stand at 70 members. An increasing Sunday School and a very fine choir.

Thanks be to Him, for the ministers, laymen and laywomen that were willing to work in His church. May the memory of the past be a blessing, inspiration, and encouragement in the time to come. "Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

On January 9, 1940 ten ladies organized a Ladies Aid Society at the Congregational Church. Rev. Ruder conducted the meeting. Officers elected were Mrs. Robert Schulz, president; Mrs. Wilhelm Grosz Sr., vice president; Mrs. Gottlieb Weller, secretary; and Mrs. Jacob Auch, treasurer.

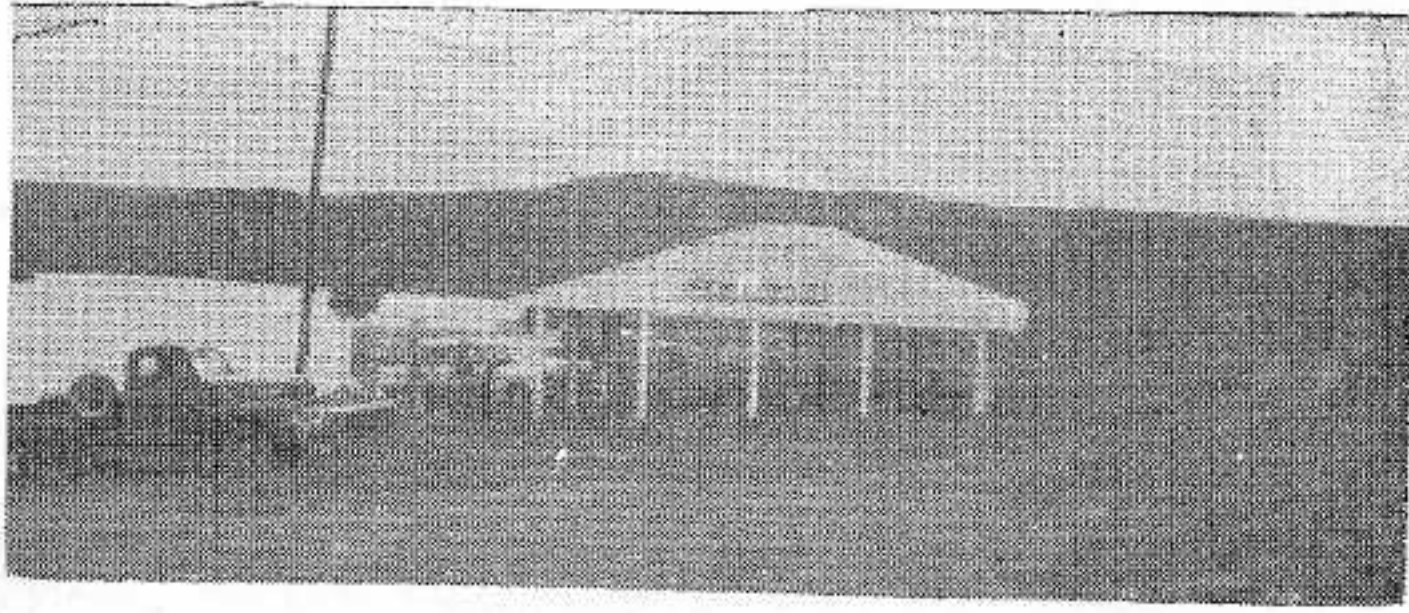

The purpose of the Ladies Aid is to support the local church and give assistance to all benevolent societies of the church. They are to visit and cheer the sick and contribute to all worthy causes.

Meetings took place on the first Monday of the month at the church. Following the Devotional program, a business meeting is held and lunch is served.

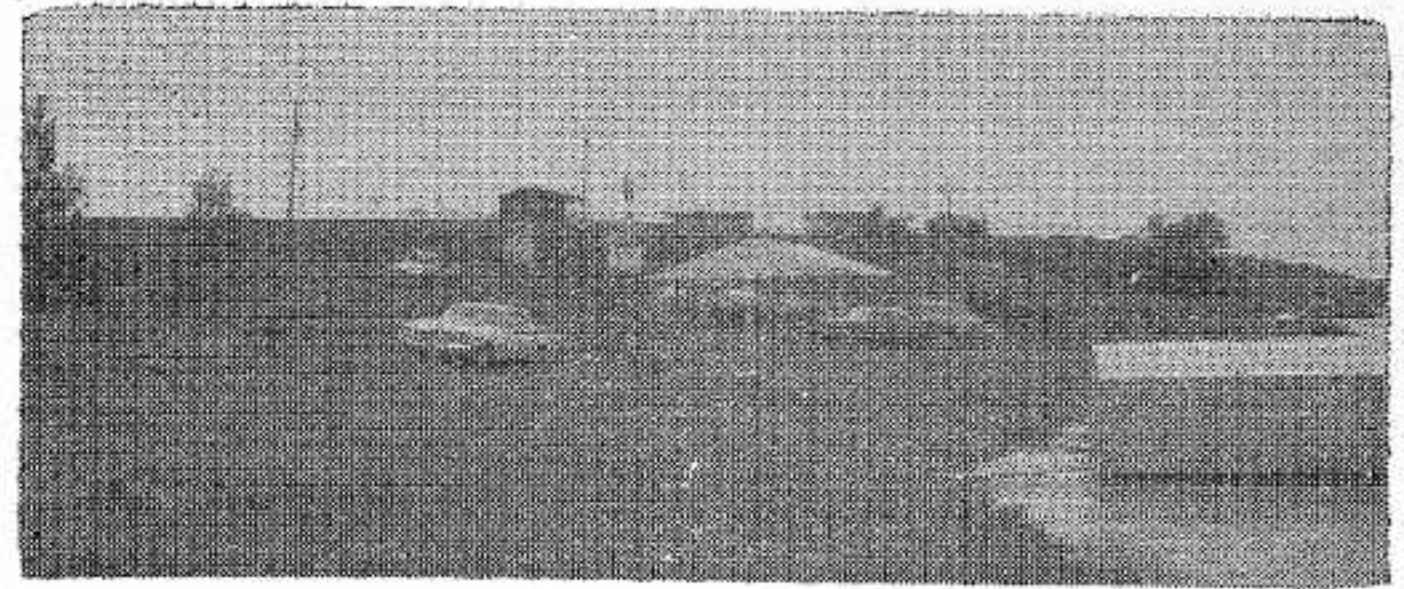

Fall suppers are held and the Aid serves lunches for church affairs, weddings and funerals.

Charter members of the Aid were: Mrs. Wilhelm Grosz Sr. (deceased), Mrs. John Seidler Sr (deceased), Mrs. Adam Rieger at Missoula, Montana, Mrs. Jacob Enzi at Danville, Illinois, Mrs. Ruder at Pasco, Washington, Mrs. Robert Schultz at Elgin, North Dakota, Mrs. Jacob Auch (deceased), Mrs. Edward Schultz at Sacramento, California, Mrs. Jacob Bader (deceased), Mrs. Gottlieb Weller at New Leipzig, North Dakota. Mrs. Gottlieb Weller is the only Charter member that is still serving our Aid at the New Leipzig Congregational Church.

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN LEGION POST 211

It happened on October 13, 1944. The happening was the first meeting of the newly formed American Legion Post No. 211. Fifteen veterans of both the first and second World Wars were present and made up the roll of members. The first order of business was the choosing of the name for the post and in honor to the first two men to lose their lives in the service of their country, Baesler-Achtenberg was the name agreed upon and a very fitting name indeed for these two men were close friends in life.

The first meeting was held in the First State Bank and officers elected were G. A. Ruana, Commander; Daniel Baesler, Vice Commander; Ed Hehn, adjutant; Wm. Suko, J. L. Strang Earl Sprecher, and Harry Hochhalter for the other offices. Other commanders since the beginning of the post are: Wm. Eisenbarth, Leroy Cors, E. P. Daniels, Henry Meyers, George Kallis, Albert Weller, Sam Schram, Ernest Ivarie, C. M. Quill, Ray Bader, Arthur Weller, Harold Utter and present Commander O. K. Rowe. The working corps of the Legion Posts are the adjutants and we have

Ed Hehn served 4 years Reinhold Mueller one year, Ernest Ivarie one year, Ray Bader one year, Otto Stern one year, Sam Schram one year, Herbert Dietz two years, George Kallis one year, and Eugene Provolt, the present adjutant who has served five years.

One of the main jobs for the Legion is doing things for the town and school and during the years many worthwhile projects have been undertaken by the post. Ten young men have been sent to Boys State for a weeks training in Government: They are: Norman Baesler, Otto Pastian, Donald Zimmerman, Benny Olien, Varner Paddack, Curtis Boespflug, Jere Paddack, Waldemar Alt, Clifford Hensel, Ray Alt, and Benny Weishaar. The Junior Legion Baseball has always held a high place in the post and many good teams have been sponsored over the years. The Memorial program each May 30 has been given by the Post and many good speakers were secured for this task. Graveside services have been held each year with a firing squad shooting a volley over the graves of our comrades in arms.

HISTORY OF THE POSTOFFICE IN NEW LEIPZIG

In order to keep in contact with relatives and to receive the news of the country, a group of settled homesteaders decided to send a courier to Glen Ullin regularly. This carrier had the written authority to deliver all mail for these settlers and on return would leave the mail at the homestead of Mr. Michael Nuss. As more people came to settle in the area, it was decided to petition the Postoffice Department for a postoffice in the area. Daniel Sprecher was selected to make the application and also to become the first postmaster. In due time the application was granted. Mr. Sprecher, who had come to the country from Leipzig, Germany, decided to name the new postoffice - Leipzig. Thus the origin of the town's name. The new establishment was situated in his home which was located about one mile west of the town. By the year 1909, Leipzig boasted of a population of 200 people and it was decided to move the office into the town proper. Ludwig Zeller then served as postmaster for a short time before he turned the postoffice over to O. W. Shadduck who had formerly been the mail courier from Glen Ullin.

When the postoffice started in New Leipzig, Mr. M. C. Rausch received the job as postmaster and was located to the rear of the present Hertz Bros. Store. This served as a meeting place for many and its bulletin board posted the important items of the day. A poker club used its facilities to announce the night of the game, with the following announcement, "The Ghost Walks Tonight." Officially the postoffice began operations May 13, 1910. Name of the postoffice was changed to Lawther on January 12, 1912 and changed back to New Leipzig on August 2, 1912. Mr. Rausch (married the first school teacher in New Leipzig, Miss Laurretta M. Welsch) served until November 1913 when he was replaced November 13, 1913 by Adna S. Hatch. The following men all served as postmasters and received their appointments on the mentioned dates. A. E. Briggs, May 20, 1919; Martin Weber, September 20, 1921; Walter E. Harke, September 1, 1934; Horace T. Storm, May 16, 1944; Eugene R. Provolt, March 31, 1952 and Orris K. Rowe, August 15, 1953.

The postoffice has been located in four buildings. Twice on the west side of Main Street and twice on the east. It is now located in a new building just off Main Street and is part of the building built in 1958 by the First State Bank.

In November 1918, two routes were established by the postoffice department and few changes in line of travel have been made since the start. Mr. John Neuman came over from Odessa to be the carrier for both routes, and traveled each day, alternating between the two routes. Carriers on route one (north) have been H. E. Storm, W. E. Harke and H. G. Hochhalter. On route 2 (south) carriers have been F. M. Anderson, Jay Strang, and V. A. Provolt.

FIRE DEPARTMENT OF NEW LEIPZIG

As in many newly organized towns, the original fire departments consisted of volunteers, water buckets and the prayers that fire just wouldn't start. The business men of New Leipzig decided that fire was one of the things that was unnecessary but that prevention was better than fighting of the fires but also took steps to keep ready just in case and managed to raise funds enough to buy two fire fighting carts - pulled by the firemen themselves - and was filled with a acid solution to keep the fire under control. They had enough money to buy the carts but couldn't pay the freight on the machines so the railroad company donated the cost of the freight. Both machines are still in existence and at the present time one of the carts is on display at the fire house.

The people of this town have always been very conscious of the fire hazard and especially during the early days when there was a very definite water shortage. The volunteers organized into a group in October of 1912 and the first fire-chief elected was Christ Hertz with W. E. Harke as assistant chief. Early and costly fires hurt this town and many businesses failed to come back after a fire and the loss helped the rest to take all the precautions to keep fires away. Among some of the early fires were the Livery Barn, Moose Hall, the school, and the flour mill. The most costly fire was the Birdsall elevator in the early 1950's but we have been lucky enough to have had no loss of lives due to a fire since the beginning.

In 1934 the fire department was reorganized and a constitution with by-laws was drawn up. Since that time the department has a standing membership of 20 members. In 1948 a new truck was ordered and completely equipped and has been used with good results. Several calls have been made into the surrounding area to help control fires. Furtherest call was to help control an elevator fire in Mott.

In 1947 a rural fire department was organized and a truck purchased with the local firemen working together with the rural group and with this addition can handle all but the largest fires.

The firemen of today are:

Elmond Rieger, chief; Albert Weller, assistant chief; Art Weller, secretary-treasurer; Frank Boesflug, fire marshal; Arthur Tietz, Alfred Olien, Herbert Hochhalter, Christ Stelter, Robert Bader, Ray Bader, C. M. Quill, N. D. Schulz, Walter Davenport, Ernest Mueller, L. E. Schmidt, Almore Hertz, Don Okken, Otto Stern, Robert Tietz and Henry Stelter.

RAILROADS

The birth of many towns are due to the railroads coming into an area. Such was the case with New Leipzig. The Milwaukee Railroad was responsible for laying out the town on land sold to the railroad by Lawther and Ewald. Mr. Ewald did the survey work on the platted land. The N. P. by passed the town, having designated Elgin to the East and Odessa to the west as towns and only a spur track into the elevators and a pickup platform for freight and passengers. As the business got heavier in both shipping and passenger service it became necessary to build a depot and install a station agent. A number of years later the N. P. and the Milwaukee railroads were connected with a spur line which is the only connections of the two tracks between Minneapolis and Miles City.

MEMO RE: NEW ENGLAND LINE

In answer to an inquiry by agent at New Leipzig in connection with 50th Anniversary Celebration, summer of 1960:

The line of The Milwaukee Road from McLaughlin, South Dakota to New England, North Dakota, a distance of 132.64 miles, was built in 1910 by the Chicago, Milwaukee and Puget Sound Railway Company, a predecessor of the present Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad Company.

We should like to be able to furnish a digest of information about the early days of this line, but our "historical department" was not functioning when history was being made — hence we have nothing to which to turn for the kind of anecdotal information you would like.

While, as said before, the line was built in 1910, we find, according to old time tables, that the first regularly scheduled train operation over the line began on May 28, 1911 and, for what it may be worth to you, we are casting below a copy of the schedule of trains 201 and 204 between McLaughlin, South Dakota and New England, North Dakota.

Northern Pacific tracks were laid through New Leipzig late in September, 1910. (Actually the line was that of the Western Dakota Railroad Company, and N.P. subsidiary.) Work trains passed through the new town all during the month of October, but the first scheduled passenger and freight train arrived there on November 1. Regular service began on that date.

An 11 foot by 32 foot fuel shed served as a storehouse for freight, and there was no passenger station at all, until a 30'-5"x68'4" combination depot was erected in 1911. Construction began and ended within a month, October 21 to November 20, and the depot was opened December 1.

4-H clubs are open to youth to to 20 years of age, inclusive. There are no state or national dues. The four "H's" stand for equal training of Head, Heart, Hands and Health. 4-H is recognized by educational, church and service groups as a youth improvement program, built around the home. The aim of 4-H is to give young people a chance to learn thru practice.

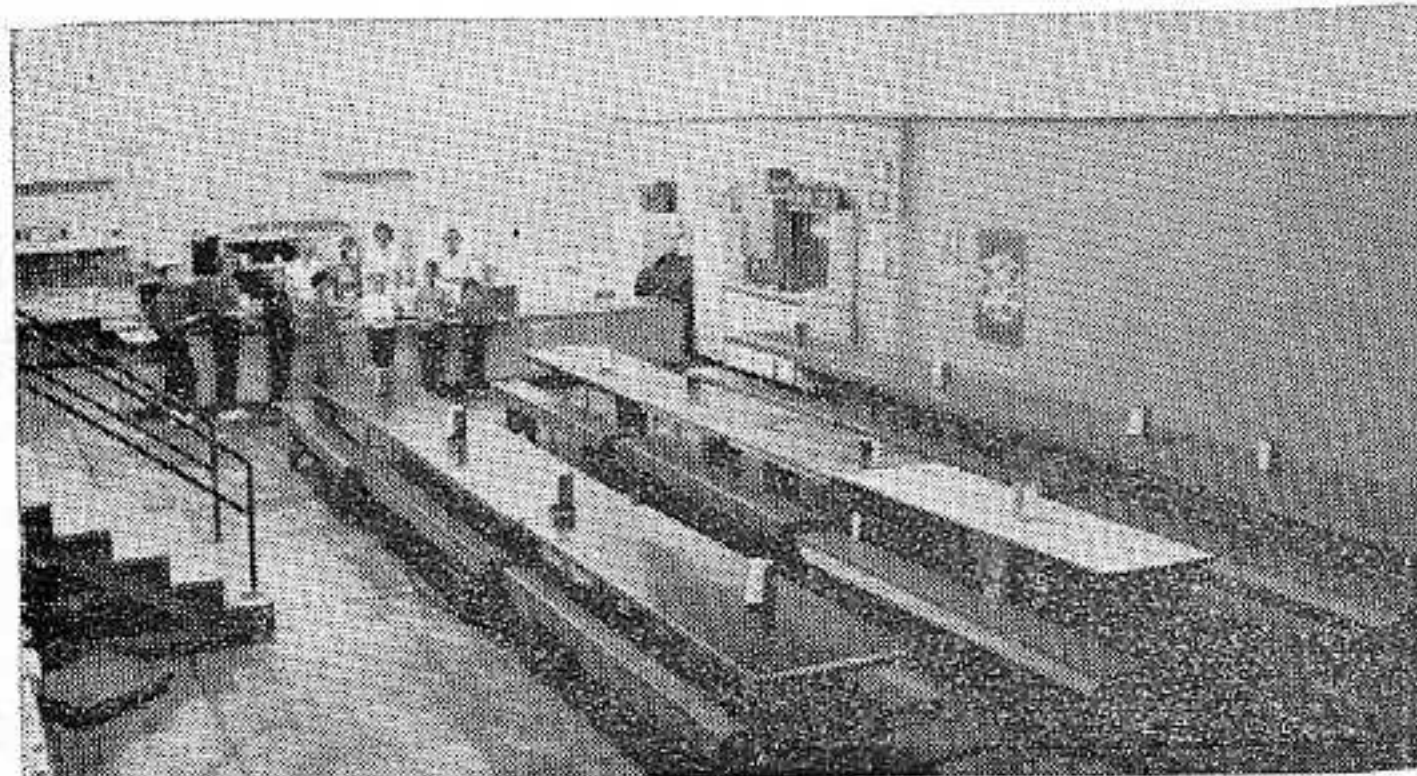

The Cloverettes 4-H Club was organized in October 1949 with nineteen girls enrolled. Mrs. Edmund Dubs and Mrs. Reinhold Tietz were leaders. Home Management II was studied. The program at that time consisted of two years each of Home Management, Foods, and Clothing. The lessons were changed in 1958-1959 to one year of each.

There have been over fifty boys and girls enrolled in the club, most of whom have completed the required work each year. Eileen Kallis took part in State demonstrations and Public Speaking contests. Winning trips to the State Dress Reviews were Marlene Tietz, Marjorie Hintz, and Marilyn Tietz, in 1954 and Phyllis Olien in 1959. Doris Kautz received an Achievement Award. Almost all of the members have received blue ribbons on their exhibits and county demonstrations.

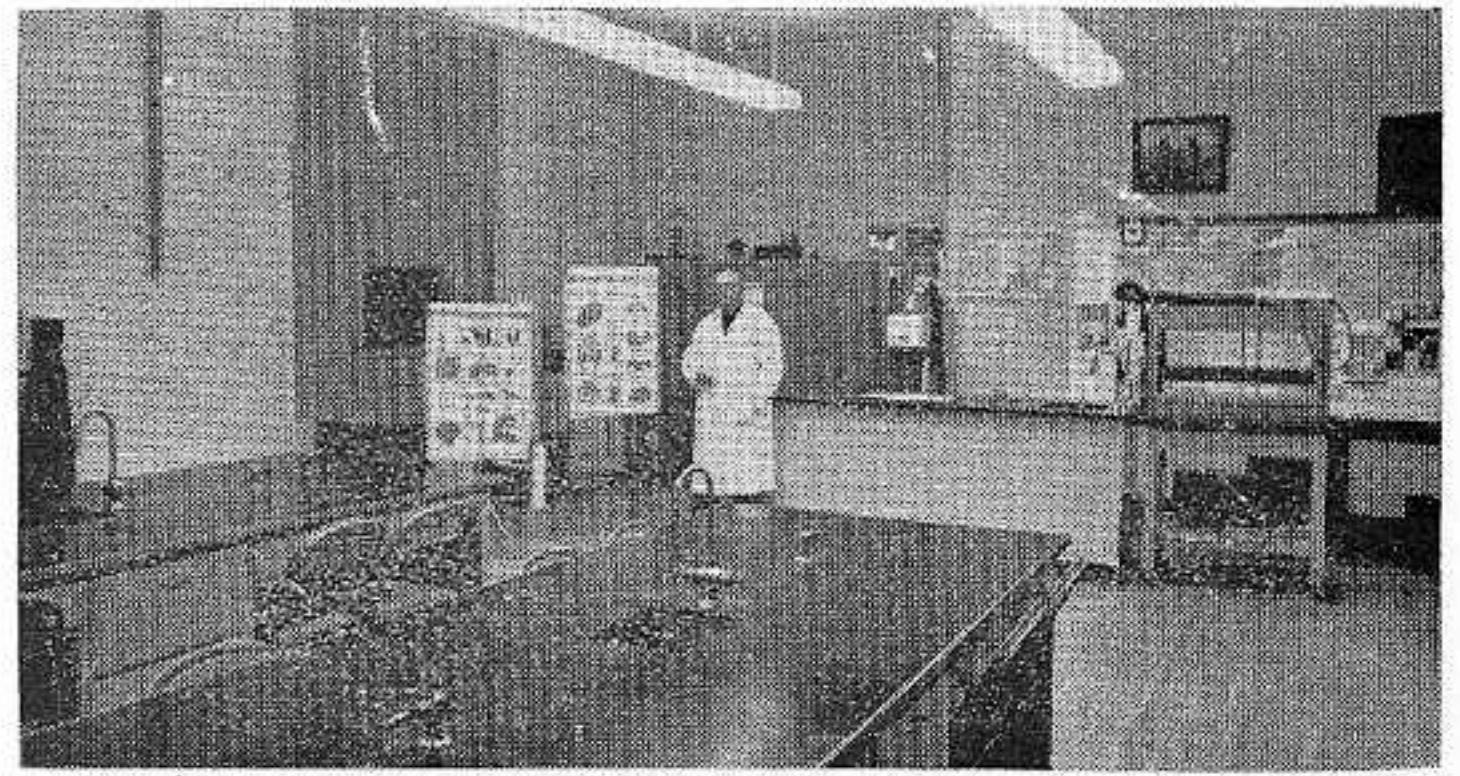

The first few years the Cloverettes joined the Happy-Hearted Club camping out at the Rudy Zimmerman farm. The New Leipzig dock at Heart Butte Dam, has been enjoyed for several years. Since the County 4-H has the use of the Farmer's Union camping facilities on the same lake the girls are encouraged to camp with the County group.

This group has had several leaders. Mrs. Olien took Mrs. Dub's place in 1953. Mrs. Tietz left in 1955 so Donna Mae Kallis helped that year. Mrs. Elsie Hintz, Mrs. H. Watts, and now Mrs. Herbert Iszler works with the girls.

We want to thank the parents of 4-H girls and others for their cooperation in helping us to "Make the Best Better" which is the slogan of all 4-H clubs in the nation. sidewalk and on to the postoffice. There a wait of from ten minutes to an hour for the call to go through. After some time of this he decided to form a local telephone company for the village and surrounding country. This was accomplished in September 1914 with Mr. Provolt as president and A. S. Hatch, the manager. The central office was located in the rear of the postoffice building and remained until the winter of 1918. This organization had forty nine resident and business subscribers. In 1916 two country lines were built, increasing the number to seven lines by 1919. When the partnership was dissolved the central office was moved into an addition of the Provolt residence, which was purchased from Michael Nutz, and it remained in the home until its natural death in 1951.

The Northwestern Bell installed a new modern dial system with long distance operators in Mott.

The New Leipzig Telephone Company was operated as a family affair with Mrs. H. B. Provolt the chief operator. There have been many others who worked as operators. Daisy Dunahay helped when the telephone office was in the postoffice, and others that helped were Mrs. Jessie Gibson, Barbara Gunther (Mrs. Henry Meyer), Lillian Height, Helen Weller (Mrs. Andrew Schatz), Freda Eslinger (Mrs. Robert Suko) and Josephine Jacober (Mrs. Reinhold Tietz).

This company at one time had quite a large coverage, connecting lines to Morrystown, Lemmon in South Dakota, north to the towns of Hebron and Glen Ullin through the Bertch and Roehl switches, and then west to Odessa.

TELEPHONE

The North Dakota Independent Telephone Company built the first prones in this area. The line was built along the Northern Pacific tracks between Mott and Mandan in 1911 and was used for long distance toll calls.

The New Leipzig Telephone Company came into existence during this period. Harry B. Provolt, manager of the Birdsall Elevator Company had many calls to make and business to be done by long distance calls and the only phone at the time was in the postoffice which was three blocks from the elevator. During the spring and after rains the only way of travel was to go along the Milwaukee tracks, then onto planks and beer kegs to the Main Street

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY BAESLER-ACHTENBERG UNIT NO. 211 NEW LEIPZIG, NORTH DAKOTA

The Auxiliary of the American Legion was organized on March 3, 1947. It was named in honor of Raymond Baesler and Arnold Achtenberg who served faithfully and well in the Pacific Theatre. The American Legion Auxiliary has been active in community projects and have been a quota unit in the Seventh District every year. The Memorial Day programs have been planned by the Auxiliary members each year. They have served lunch at the annual Turkey Raffles put on by the American Legion Post No. 211 of New Leipzig and used the money for community service, mainly the playground equipment project for the park area, started in 1949, for which our local unit won second prize in the Department. In 1953-54 our local unit presented the local high school with an electric score board with the financial help of the local Legion post and helped buy the school's band uniforms and a film projector. Annually we have presented Christmas baskets to needy families, adopted a needy child under our Child Welfare program, sponsored the Red Cross drives, presented a poppy poster contest, sent a girl to Girls State, and held various food sales, suppers, rummage sales, etc. to earn money for our Community Service projects. In the years 1952-53 and 1953-54 we produced two plays which were a ROARING success. The local unit sponsored a blood clinic for the Custer Health District through the Elgin Clinic. One of our latest achievements was to equip the kitchen in the new Legion room located in the basement of the Fire Hall. The Auxiliary had cook books printed in 1949-50. Now, ten years later, we again had cook books printed, this time for the purpose of earning money for the town to put on their Golden Anniversary Celebration.

Contest in which they were requested to dress a doll in the country chosen for Pan American study for that year. In the year 1958-59, Diane Hertz, (a Junior member) won first prize in the State contest on her doll. The Junior members are as follows:

One of our members, Mrs. Vernon Davenport (recently of Mandan) had the honor of becoming our Seventh District President for two years, in 1955-57 (approximately). Mrs. Almore Hertz was District Child Welfare Chairman in 1950 (approximately).

NEW LEIPZIG HAD A GREAT FOURTH. . . .

Contrary to tradition, it did not rain on the Fourth. New Leipzig's celebration was a marked success. A more jolly well behaved crowd we have rarely mingled with. The program was carried out without a hitch, beginning with the patriotic addresses by attorneys Jackson and Kiernan, the horse races, baseball game, foot races and ending up with a really fascinating performance at slack wire walking by Emanuel Hertz, and every event was enjoyed to the utmost by the people. It was certainly a satisfaction to play host to so gay a crowd, and to note their satisfaction with New Leipzig.

A MISHAP - -

Only one mishap occurred here on the Fourth. A man by the name of Koeplin of Elgin, who was in a hilarious mood, started to drive home on a gallop, and his wife was thrown out of the rig. She was picked up unconscious, and was placed under Dr. Lorenzen's care. There was no serious injury, however.

On the coming Sunday, at Lawther, is to take place an important church event. It is the corner stone laying of the new church being put up at that place by the congregation known as the "Friedens Gemeinde", Rev. Ferd. Rink, pastor.

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

The following should prove interesting reading to dwellers in the Cannon Ball Valley. It is a clipping from the Chamberlain, S. Dak. Register of thirty years ago, and relates to the herd of buffalo that roamed these prairies then. It reads: James Dugan called at our landing last week on his way to St. Louis with ten tons of buffalo meat. His party consisted of four, who killed 2000 buffaloes. Dugan himself killed 780 buffaloes, 122 black tailed deer, 80 antelope and 65 elk in one setting. He states that owing to the severe winter, over 20,000 buffaloes were killed and still, he says the country between the Cannon Ball and the Little Missouri is full of them. . .

When you pull down the town in which is your home, you are pulling down yourself, and when you build up you are building up yourself and your neighbor. Try and banish from your mind the mistaken idea that all the good things are away off in some other locality. Give your town all the praise it can legitimately bear. It certainly will do you no harm and will cost you nothing; and above all, patronize your home institutions -- including the printing office.

It seems that farmers are not supposed to raise crops in this section of the country anymore, regardless of moisture conditions. There has been plenty of rain but the cut-worms did considerable damage in the early spring and an amount of reseeding was the result. Then came the grasshoppers by the millions and millions but they left in great swarms and there were still some prospects of fair crops in many sections when the rust came and completed the work of destruction. There will be some wheat but a poor quality.

By studying the above map you will see that this was a thriving community in it's time. It really had all of the necessary business places that were common for that period.

Some of the sites that are still occupied are: 1. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Nuss now live on the site shown on the map as the Martin Hintz Residence. 2. There is still a church at the Congregational Church site but it is now a newer brick structure. 3. The Leipzig School has been in continuous use through the years with a little change in remodeling.

The building boom started shortly after the building of the Farmers Creamery. This was the first building and it was built in 1901. Mr. Bill Schuster was the first butter-maker.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nuss have been most helpful in furnishing the editors with pictures and information. They furnished the information given on this map. Ed can now take you to any of these sites as the scars of the old cellar holes and foundations remain to this day.

Residents in the area remember seeing the lonely "Smoke House" standing at the site until just a few years ago when it was torn down.

New Leipzig's Fine Homes

New Leipzig is a town with many fine homes with well kept up surroundings. There was a time when trees and a fine lawn was the exception but this is not true of the '60's. To give our friends an idea of the present day dwellings in New Leipzig, an assignment was given to our roving photographer to go out and get pictures of the homes that were built in the last few years. You old timers will remember the fine old homes. These are still with us and if you come to look you will find that they are all in good repair and well painted and kept up.

ARE WE GROWING?

Yes we are! Just in the last few months a fine new Catholic church was dedicated. Our genial Postmaster is building a home in the Park Addition at the present time. Just across the street the construction of the new Lutheran church has begun. A few months ago the village opened a trailer court across from the park and swings, slides, picnic tables are available to everyone in the area. Work has just been completed on the new street lighting system on Main Street and the finest lights available are making our street as light as day. Paving isn't here as yet but the plans are in the pot and within the next year or so, we should be able to cross the street during a heavy rain without getting our shoes muddy. With the annexation of the nearby school districts our school has swelled to the seams with youngsters and classes have had to be held in the fire hall down town. As soon as the boundaries are made certain and a count of the youngsters can be made, more building will have to be made by the district and plans are being drawn up for this growth.

New Leipzig, North Dakota — 1960

Pioneers, we have kept pace with progress. The plow that furrowed deep in the virgin soil in 1910 was guided by sturdy progressive people who have produced succeeding generations with firm roots in the soil but with eyes focused on an even brighter and better tomorrow. We have already begun to reap the harvest!

The crude wooden structures of 1910 have been superseded by modern buildings, especially the new First State Bank, and the remodeled school with its new spacious gymnasium. The neat modern homes are now nestled among trees and shrubs and neatly outlined by curbs and sidewalks. (Remember when you couldn't see a tree from the school house hill? Now you can't see the houses in the summer months.) The old creaky water pump and small outhouses have given way to an efficient water and sewage system.

The school and churches have outgrown their present confines, necessitating new building programs. St. John the Baptist Catholic Church erected a new building in 1959, Immanuel Lutheran began construction of a new church in May 1960, and because of increased enrollment, additional class room space will necessitate a new school structure in the immediate future.

Old Highway 21, with its gumbo wallows and irrigation ditches, has been replaced by a wide all weather highway with 200 feet of sloped right of way on either side. Farm to market roads have greatly facilitated grain hauling, mail delivery, school attendance and general business of school activities.

Recreational facilities have changed too! Heart Butte Dam and Lake Tschida is only a fifteen minute drive from our city. New Leipzigs dock and recreational site, improved and supported by the Sportsman's Club, is well equipped with water, electricity, a covered shelter, picnic tables, fireplaces, a sloping beach, boat dock, and a fenced swimming area for smaller children. Many modern, locally owned cabins have been built near the site. Swimming, boating, water skiing and fishing have become an integral part of our community life. The Cannonball River also affords pictorial pleasures and picnic areas. Our city park, sponsored and maintained by the American Legion Auxiliary, has equipment for our younger generation. The Sportsman Club erected a fireplace and constructed picnic tables for this site also.

In the fall this southwestern corner of North Dakota is target ONE for hunting enthusiasts. Pheasant, grouse, partridge, and ducks abound in this veritable hunters paradise. Last year 90% of our local hunters were successful with big game - deer and antelope (if they were fortunate enough to obtain an antelope license.)

No smog, no smoke, no skyscrapers, no traffic jams, mar our view of God's handiwork. You never have to breath second hand air. Skies are bluer and grass seems greener here on the Dakota prairies. Nowhere will you find more beautiful sunsets than those that light our western skies each evening as night closes down to bring us cool summer nights and restful sleep. I hear you say "How about cold winter nights." Yes, but ours is a dry cold that doesn't penetrate to the very marrow of your bones as it does in many other climates. Our changes of season are invigorating to mind and body alike.

All these things make New Leipzig a place where we like to live, but fundamentally its the people who have made the town what it is today! They exemplify true western hospitality by their friendliness. Your neighbor is never a stranger, and you are known by all. Because our citizens are free from tensions created by crowds, traffic jams and business pressures, they enjoy good health and long life. (During the last great war, North Dakota had fewer men rejected because of poor health than any other state in the nation.)

Our people are the backbone of the community, but they maintain an active interest in the activities of the county, state and nation because our most valuable product, our children, must eventually be launched on the world market. These young people are products of which we can be justly proud - energetic, wholesome, God fearing citizens willing to shoulder their shares of the world's problems. They are the sum total of our efforts as a concerted community - a joint product created by home, church, school, and community. This then is New Leipzig 1960.

We commission you, the future citizens, to continue the march of progress, so New Leipzig may have a bright and glerious future.

North Dakota's poet laureate, James Foley expressed our feeling for Dakota when he wrote these words:

There is something in Dakota makes you love and breathe and feel;

Makes you bigger, broader, and better; makes you know the worth of toil

Makes you free as are her prairies and as noble as her soil;

Makes you kingly as a man is; makes you manly as a king;

And there is something in the grandeur of her season's sweep and swing

That casts off the fretting fetters of your East and marks you blest with the vigors of the prairies - with the freedom of the West.

Hertz Brothers, Inc.

(The story below is taken from an earlier New Leipzig Sentinel Story)
The Hertz Brothers store in New Leipzig is believed to be one of the oldest business firms in Grant County doing business in the same location. The firm was established in 1907 by C. G. Hertz, Henry Hertz and other stockholders. At that time it was called the Farmers Commerce Co. and was operated as a general merchandise store. It was originally located in "Old" Leipzig, and inland community approximately 10 miles northeast of New Leipzig. Emanuel Hertz came to Leipzig in 1908 and acquired stock at that time. Herbert Herz, the present manager, was less than 2 years old at that time. In the spring of 1910 the company moved to New Leipzig and operated in a small building about 15 x 30 which is still being used as a warehouse. Construction of the two story 30 x 80 building was completed in 1910. In 1912 the Farmers Commerce Co. was disbanded and Hertz Brothers was formed. The dry goods and groceries were sold out and it became a hardware and furniture store. Owners of the store were Emanuel Hertz, Henry Hertz and C. G. Hertz.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

On the occasion of New Leipzig's 50th Anniversary, Peavey Elevators is happy to extend our best wishes to the entire city, and is proud to be one of the early business establishments in New Leipzig.

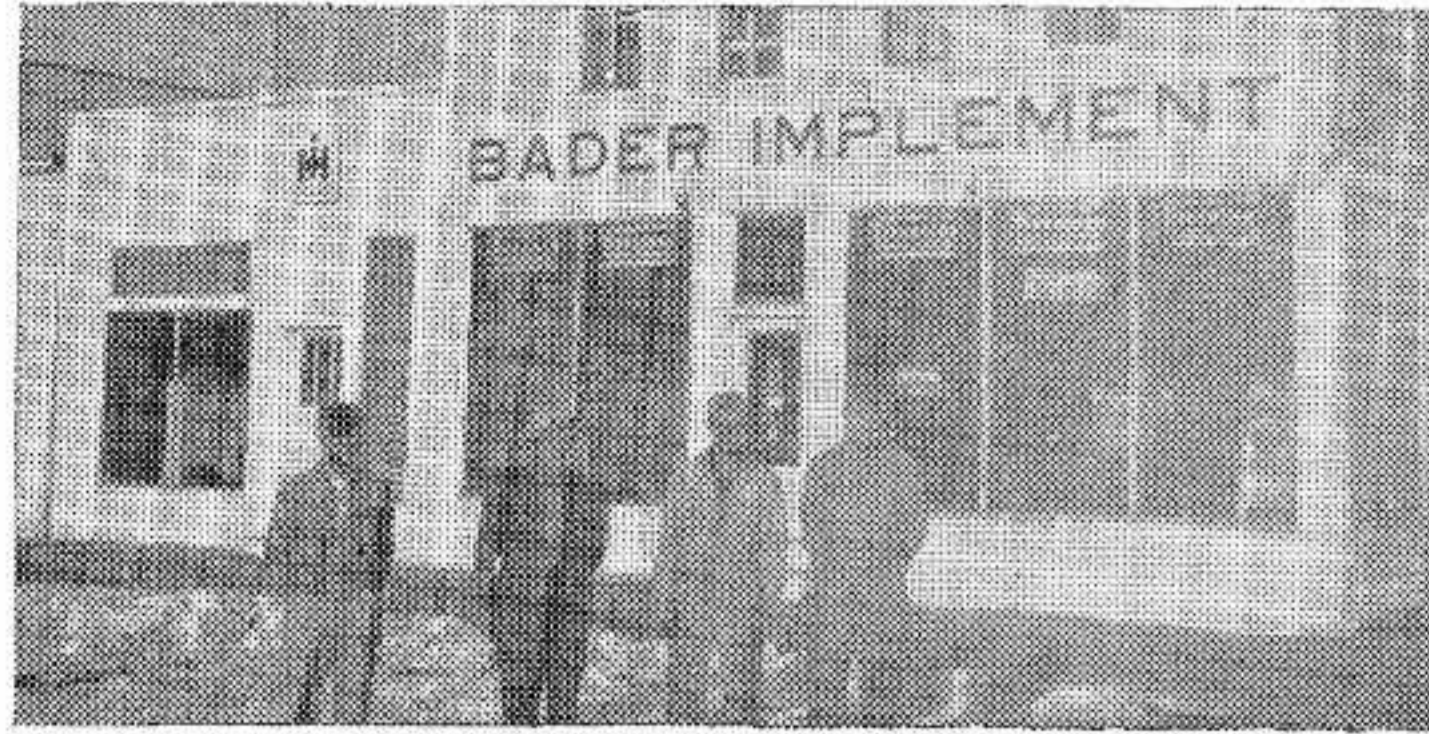

In fact, F. H. Peavey & Company has been in business 87 years in the Dakotas, pioneering the idea of building grain elevators along expanding railroads in order to give farmers - - for the first time - - a steady outlet for the grain they raised, and we have continued our research work in agriculture for better than three-quarters of a century.

Again - - Happy Birthday, New Leipzig, and best wishes for the NEXT 50 years.

Peavey Elevators, New Leipzig

Ed Bader, Manager

Bader Implement Co. was established in March 1921 by John J. Bader and John P. Zweber. The company was located in the Curlew Elevator and Lumber Co. building on the Northern Pacific right of way.

In 1928 Jacob Bader purchased share in the company and in 1932 John P. Zweber sold his interests to John J. Bader. In 1937 Jacob Bader sold his share to John J. Bader.

In 1943 the company moved to it's present location on main street. That same year Robert Bader took up interest in the business. In 1947 Ray Bader joined the partnership. In 1949 they remodeled the interior of the store and added the new parts addition to the north side of the building. In 1952 Robert sold his interests to Ray.

November 4, 1959, the organizational meeting was held to incorporate Bader Implement Co. John Bader was elected President, Julia Bader as Vice President, Ray Bader as Secretary-Treasurer and Darlene Bader as Director.

The Tietz Hardware Store was founded in the year 1911 by one August Johnson who operated a hardware store and cream buying station. This store was operated by Mr. Johnson under the name of Pioneer Hardware Store for a number of years and later was known as the Johnson Hardware. In 1916 this store was sold by Mr. Johnson to one Emil Will and Gottlieb Will who incorporated the establishment and operated it under the name of Will Bros. Inc. While Will Bros. were owners they dealt in heavy hardware, John Deere Impements and Chevrolet Trucks.

In October 1944 Will Bros. sold the business to Arthur Tietz, the present owner. Arthur Tietz is a son of one of the old time settlers and homesteaders, John Tietz, who came to this country at the turn of the century and lived about ten miles north of New Leipzig where he homeseaded and lived until his death a few years ago.

Mr. J. S. Birdsall built the first grain elevator in 1910 at New Leipzig, starting the grain, lumber and machine business in November of the same year. Mr. Riesland, managing for about two years. After that Mr. Harry Provolt, father of Victor Provolt, managing the business until 1922. Although the lumber business had been discontinued in about 1915 and the machine business in about 1921. Mr. Adam Rieger, managing the business for 27 years, from 1922 to 1949. During this time he had as his assistants Andrew Wiedmer, now at Hettinger, North Dakota, Christ Neuman, Jacob Enzi then of New Leipzig, and John Koch of New Leipzig.

In 1923, Mr. J. S. Birdsall purchased the Farmers Elevator in New Leipzig, leasing the elevator built in 1910 to the Atena Grain Co. for a very short time, Mr. Seiser as manager. In 1946 the two elevators were moved together and run as one unit until September 15, 1949 when the two elevators were completely destroyed by fire. Letting a contract the same year to build a new elevator which was completed and ready for business July 27 the following year with Emil Baesler, north of town bringing in the first load of grain into the new elevator.

In May of 1953 a 35,000 bushel annex was added and in May of 1958 another 60,000 bushel annex was added giving a total capacity of 153,000 bushels. It is estimated that the elevator has handled about eight million bushel during the 50 years.

Since the death of Mr. J. S. Birdsall the business has been divided between his children and the present owners are B. L. Birdsall of New Leipzig, Marvel Culver of Dickinson, and Florence Eastgate of Bismarck, North Dakota. Present employees are John Koch of New Leipzig, since April 12, 1941 and Christ Stelter of New Leipzig, since December 1, 1952.

Olien Garage

The Olien Motor (Garage) was founded in the early twenties by an early settler of this community, namely John Jacober who operated it as a tire and car repair shop. It was then sold to one Adam Hoerner, who was born and raised in this village. After a few years of operation by Mr. Hoerner it was disposed of to one Christ Schafer, who managed it as a garage a few years and was then sold to one Art Hetzler, who became a franchised Chevrolet Dealer. Mr. Hetzler sold it to the present owner, Alfred Olien, in August 1944. In 1950 Mr. Olien erected a new fire proof building in which he continues to appreciate the business of the trade area. The Olien Garage has the most modern equipment for the service of all makes of cars and has under his employment well trained and experienced mechanics. The Olien Motor's motto has always been, "We sell the best and service the rest."
