On November 10, 2010, Theresa Mueller successfully passed 3 Lionhead varieties. This comes after 9 years of breeding the Lionheads, 6 attempts that went before her and with a huge amount of time and energy. It was a fabulous day, for not only Theresa, but also the Lionhead community. We need to remember that without the efforts of those who have gone before us, we could not successfully go forward.

PRESENTATION IN PHOTOS ~ It is extremely difficult to express the feelings of anxiety that this day brought. Trying to stay calm amid all the speculations, the expectations, as well as the excitement is nearly impossible to portray. The next pages capture some of what all of us that were there were feeling.

The Standards Committee took about an hour to exam all of the Presentation animals.

The Committee meets and then invites Theresa into the ring for discussion

The Wait Was Worth It!

Theresa was first told that both the Black and the Tort-Black passed, but that the REW's failed. Several hours later, Theresa was called back into a discussion with the Standards Committee when it was discovered the committee needed only a simple majority vote to pass each variety. The REW's passed!
