

DESCRIPTION:
HIKE: A Hike - Sedona Area - Brins Mesa and Brins Butte Loop (PCHC # 48). DESCRIPTION: This hike is a 10 mile counter clockwise loop hike with an elevation gain of 2500 feet. This is a classic Sedona loop involving two scrambles to the tops of Brins Mesa and Brins Butte plus a magnificent cave complex close to the Soldiers Pass trail. Park at the Jordan Road parking lot. Take the Brins Mesa trail north. After 1.7 miles there will be a trail crossroads with social trails leading to the left (east) and right (west). The trail to the left climbs the acute looking Brins Butte with its characteristic pointed shape. To the right a cairned but overgrown route leads up onto Brins Mesa. Firstly, take the right turn and follow the social trail along a slowly rising ridge. This will likely require careful navigation as the route becomes steeper and the route turns into a bushwhack. The final .25 mile will involve some scrambling as the top of the mesa is reached. Enjoy the magnificent views. Return on the same route down to the trail crossroads. Secondly, take the left turn towards the butte. The first half of the climb will follow a social track but will then require some scrambling over rock ledges to reach the summit. A rough track at the summit leads southwest along the open ridge. Follow this as far as is comfortable. The views will be truly magnificent. Return on the same route back to the crossroads. After a break, continue hiking the Brins Mesa trail for approximately .5 mile and locate the crossover trail to the Soldiers Pass trail. Turn left and follow a riverbed and large flat rock ledges to the south. After another .5 mile there is a trail to the caves. Take this and enjoy a multilevel cave system. Some scrambling is required. Afterwards continue south on the Soldiers Pass trail past the Seven Sacred Pools and the Devils Kitchen. At this point turn left on the Jordan Trail and then left on the Cibolla Pass Trail to return to the parking lot. IMPORTANT INFORMATION: Two challenging routes that demand excellent navigation and scrambling skills.
