

Handmade Silver Jewellery

MADE IN NEPAL BY DEAF WOMEN

The Lily's Leaves social enterprise, that Lily Katuwal founded in October 2020, provides training and employment to four highly capable young deaf women. They have demonstrated a focus and attention to detail that makes them outstanding jewellers. In their Kathmandu workshop, these women not only enjoy employment and respect, but they are fully integrated with able-bodied workers, many of whom learn sign language.

Many people in Nepalese society view disability as being a just punishment for misdeeds in a previous life – “bad karma”. Moreover, deaf people are isolated by stigma as well as by their disability. They are cruelly nicknamed “lato”, which means “stupid”. Training and employment opportunities are scarce.

Through this brochure, these talented women are proud to present to you their stunning pieces of original handmade jewellery.
