

ABOUT US

Clínica Reverdecer was established in 2007 and is an American clinical research organization for the autistic and special needs community with neurological, endocrine, immune and genetic disorders. We offer professional consulting, laboratory and dispensary services.

MISSION

To work towards reversing the autism epidemic and fully restoring optimal health, one child at a time, through clinical research and natural interventions.

There is still much controversy as to how best to diagnose and treat autism. However, the sooner the cause is identified and eliminated, the better the prognosis for a full recovery.

Our research shows that 90% of autistic children have high levels of a substance produced by a man-made virus that can cause inflammation in the brain and digestive tract, trigger neurological disorders and damage the immune system. As such, autism is considered to have developed from exposure to a virus.

Once a child's immunity has been restored naturally and the viral component is eliminated, health can return and recovery can begin.

One autistic child will be healed here today. The only question is: Will it be yours?

European Interventions for Autism

Est. 2007

NATURAL EUROPEAN AUTISM INTERVENTIONS

In Europe, autism is successfully treated as an infectious disease. At Clínica Reverdecer, we use the same highly specialized laboratory tests and natural interventions to reverse autism which, besides being scientifically proven, offer a fast, practical and permanent solution without causing harm.

We work one-on-one with families and their children to correct nutritional deficiencies, establish a thriving microbiome, rehabilitate natural immunity, balance neuroendocrine function, improve sleep, and promote normal development.

More than 80% of the children seen at Clínica Reverdecer show a positive response that can be clinically confirmed, many of which experience a marked improvement in symptoms within the first few weeks. In addition, about 15% experience complete recovery.

EVIDENCE-BASED CLINICAL STRATEGY

The medical literature suggests that 90% of autistic children have high levels of a substance produced by a man-made virus that can cause inflammation in the brain and digestive tract, trigger neurological disorders and damage the immune system. Many autistic children have associated symptoms related to learning disorders, impaired cognitive and social development, food intolerances and allergies.

The first step is to test each autistic child for the presence of this substance.

The next step is to begin the process of restoring immunity and eliminating the virus.

Next, we will test the digestive, neurochemical and hormonal environments as well the biochemical pathways related to detoxification, allergens and heavy metals using state-of-the-art laboratory analyses.

LABORATORY SERVICES

From genetic coding to parasitology, we have partnered with the top neurology, endocrine, immunology, microscopy and genetic laboratories in Europe and North America to gain insight on the root cause of autism.

DISPENSARY

Unlike a pharmacy, our dispensary carries products from a closed formulary of accredited, doctor-approved nutraceuticals and dietary supplements sourced from plants, food extracts and natural substances.
