Abstract:

Chad will discuss how eternity in heaven should be our ultimate concern not only for ourselves but for our loved ones. Chad will discuss how this ultimate concern has shaped the way he lives his life and how he evangelizes his faith.

Biography

Chad is a native of North Dakota, where he grew up on the family farm and deepened his roots in his faith and the Catholic Church. He graduated from Montana State University, in Bozeman, with a degree in Psychology, and in 1994 had every intention of going back home to take over the family business. But God had different plans for Chad and he found himself working in financial services, where he currently serves as leader and head of Vylla Home, a nationwide real estate brokerage.

Chad is a cradle Catholic and his faith grew as result of being part of a devout family who’s very involved in the church. Chad is on the Pastoral council at Our Lady of Perpetual Help in Ellicott City, a confirmation prep small group leader and member of the Cornerstone men’s ministry. He also actively participates as a lector, Eucharistic minister and minister of hospitality at OLPH. Chad has been married to his high school sweetheart, Melissa, for 29 years and they are the proud parents of 2 sons and grandparents of 2 beautiful granddaughters.
