Inspiration from Exorcist Diary, # 249

It would seem unusual that an inspiration should come from an article on exorcism, but that is what happened upon reading an excerpt from Monsignor Stephen Rossetti's blog the "Exorcists Diary #249 Demons Hate the St. Benedict Medal". The blog was the inspiration for documenting a long-held theory on the first and second beasts of the Book of Revelations.

In his writings the Monsignor describe various interventions and experiences that he has had in his role as an exorcist for the church and in dealing with demons. He provides us an understanding of their dark tactics and the power of Jesus, our Christian faith, and the intercessions of the saints to defeat them.

Interesting to note to Saint Benedict medal has a lot of letters on it; V. R. S. N. S. M. V -. S. M. Q. L. I. V. B. Meaning in Latin:
Vade Retro Santana, Nun Quam Quamme, Suade, Mihi Vana; Sunt, Mala, Quae Libas, Ipse Venena Bibas.

The blog translates this exorcism to mean:

Begone Satan! Never Tempt Me With Your Vanities, What You Offer Me is Evil. Drink the Poison Yourself!

While the metal itself has no power, the strength comes from the intersession of Saint Benedict, and the inherent strength of the church.

One experience from his blog, "Exorcists Diary # 249 Demons Hate the St. Benedict Medal ", he described his circumstance, where a phone with a St. Benedict Metal on it has gotten burning hot, as demonic response to Saint Benedict metal.

Given the protection of the exorcism the metal invokes "The Exorcist Diary #249" notes that it is often used on electronic equipment to ward off demonic interference. Upon reading this, I recalled my theory regarding the beasts from the Book of Revelations and feel it provides some insight as to why their electronics were so harassed. Accordingly, I have been inspired to reach out to the Monsignor, which follows...

Letter to Msgr. Stephen Rossetti

August 31, 2023

Dear Monsignor Rossetti,

My wife and I were visiting our son outside Phoenix, where I found your article in the local church bulletin. It struck a chord with me, particularly the part about the interference on phones, computers, and electronic equipment that it noted. In that regard, attached (appendix A) is the alphabet in binary code, which will require some further explanation.

Some background might add some perspective. In the early 1990s with a young family and large degree of work and professional insecurity, I prayed and read the Bible throughout the decade. In the 2000's I remain steadfast in my faith and read less often, but in 2006 felt inspired or urged to download the alphabet in binary code in light of the Bible verses that I had read. I felt it lead to some insight or theory, which may explain why electronics might be so affected by the beast.

I've mentioned this to some of my lay friends and family, as well as a couple of parish priests; whom I feel didn't internalize its potential. So, I will look to detail it to you under separate cover.

I feel that Catholic University of America and the Ministry of St. Michael Center for Spiritual Renewal, are sufficiently resourced and knowledgeable where these insights/theory can either be convincingly dismissed, passed along and relieved of their concern or called to service, if warranted, but need to present them and step out of the nag of middle ground.

Will endeavor to get the details to you, but would be interested in your, or an associates, thoughts in the interim.

Yours in Christ,

Albert L Trotter

Introduction

It seems that prophetic messages that come to man can be shadowed. Nostradamus wrote in pros, Jesus often spoken parables, and the Book of Revelations is often cryptic.

Imagine looking at the world through partially opaque glass or a foggy shower door. Envision watching an event through thick bushes. At times the general context can be discerned, like children playing versus a car accident. Other times, if events are more close, the fog is wiped from the shower door, or a branch is moved from view, and event can be seen more clearly...the children were playing with a basketball or it was a game of “keep away “; the accident involves a white Toyota

In the absence of the few up close or unobstructed snippets, the views you get can be directionally correct, but subject to interpretation; were those children actually teenagers? and was that “keep away“ or had they stolen something? Was that white Toyota actually in an accident or did it screech to a halt as a basketball rolled into the street?

Give the cryptic nature of what we perceive or interpret why is it that only one understanding is correct?

Many people have read the Bible, each with their own particular set of circumstances, issues or problems. Each person reads the same words, but receive comfort in different answers or conclusions; is only one answer true? Similarly, why should only one interpretation/answer be true in prophetic messages? As such this is my approach to the book of Revelation chapter 13

The First Beast

Prelude Part - A

Not that long ago, there was a time when, at the end of the day's labor; after coming in from the fields, retiring from a hunt, or a trade, the meals were prepared. They were grateful for the fruits of their labor, said grace over their meal, and thanked the Lord, every day.

After the meal they might settle into some sewing, carving or some other craft by candlelight or oil lamp. They might tell stories from the Bible or read Bible passages, if we're lucky enough to have one, and recount the day's events:

The father, John Sr, was pleased with the work he had done on the outbuildings. He was glad he would be getting some extra work at the mill. Hard work, but it gave him a chance to catch up with some of the neighbors.

Mother, Claire, spent the day on laundry and was happy to have it done. She was pleased that her neighbor came by to return the pie tins that she had borrowed, and was happy to hear that one of the other neighbors was expecting a new baby!

Both children had finished her chores early and were now back from their lessons.

Young John was pleased that he now knew his reading, writing and 'rithmetic, as he was expecting to receive an offer for a position at the Printer's office. Lil' Mary said things had gone well at the church and that she was progressing well in her music. She really was still a bit on cloud nine over the baking award that she had received last Sunday.

Before they turned in for the night, they said bedtime prayers; where they praised the Lord, requested his blessings, and showed their appreciation; and they were a family! This is the way it was for thousands of years.

Revelations 13:1–3 KJV

1) And I stood upon the sand of the sea, I saw a beast rise up out of the sea, having seven heads and 10 horns, and upon his horns, king crowns, and upon his head the name of blasphemy.

2) And the beast which I saw, was like unto a leopard, and his feet were as the feet of a bear, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gave him power, and his seat, and great authorities.

3) And I saw one of his head as it was wounded to death; and his deadly wound was healed; and all the world wondered after the beast.

Reach of the First Beast

Revelations presents a monstrous beast! Traditional views refer to a similar description of them in the book of Daniels. In Daniels 7:4–6 the beasts are deemed to represent as Babylon, Persia, Egypt, and the Roman empire, and/or their controlling rulers or governments. We know the Bible to be a timeless in its reach, and as the introduction argues, it holds more than one prophetic truth. Accordingly, we might consider a more modern interpretation of the four beast details in Daniel 7:4–6, and which are codified into one beast i.e. the first beast in the Book of Revelations 13:1–3.

While some verses are clear and obvious, others are a little more oblique. Clearly the first beast “A lion and had eagles wings” Daniel 7:4 In a modern approach is reminiscent of lion symbols of British empire and the United States of America, given the Eagles wings.

Consider “And behold another beast, a second, like to a bear, and it raised up itself on one side, and it had three ribs in the mouth of it between the teeth of it: and they said thus unto it, Arise, devour much flesh” Daniel 7:5. Mother Russia and the transient Soviet union is a good fit for the bear and consistent with its aggressive military expansionism, it has in its time truly devoured much flesh.

Interesting to note in Revelations 13:3, “And I saw one of his heads, were wounded to death, and its deadly wound healed, and all the world wondered after the beast “. This feels very much like 20th and 21st century Germany, whose deadly wound was a loss in both World Wars and whose wound healed, as it is now an economic and political leader in the European Union. And we wonder about Germany; at the very beginning of the Russian Ukraine war; did the world not wonder as to its allegiance, as it teetered with dependence on Russian gas?

In the book of revelations, the first beast is, but one beast, apparently a conglomeration of Daniels four beasts, the remaining two would have to be a modern emerged China, and the other depicting the rest of the civilized world for a final conglomeration that represents the whole of the civilized world.

The Sea

“and I stood upon the sand of the sea, I saw a beast rise up out of the sea, having seven heads and 10 horns, and upon his horns, king crowns, and upon his head the name of blasphemy.” Revelation 1:1

Embracing a modern perspective, we see the beast arising out of the sea as an essential element of our modern civilization! But why is it that the beast rises from the sea? Clearly the seas are immense and touch or impact every part of the planet. It ebbs and flows, and the hallmark of the sea is its waves. They undulate up and down across the globe indicative of an analog sine wave, which is the hallmark of the first beast. This beast rises up out of the sea into the airwaves that are immense as the sea and touch every part of the civilized world. The analog signal of radio and particularly television, has given rise to the first beast - Television.

Prelude Part – B

John Sr, the father, finally arrived home from work. “Traffic sucked again!” he thought. His usual thought upon pulling in the driveway. There on the counter was a note from his wife, Claire. The note read “At the hairdresser. Mario’s pizza in the oven. Be back soon! “Again!” he thought “Mario’s pizza is crappy, Giuseppe’s makes a better pie!” He was home before the kids, so he grabbed a beer and a slice, and put on the game to veg out; but all he could think about was how he lost the promotion to Jack Riley earlier in the week.

Young John came in from school and his father called out “Pizza in the oven. Did you have your meeting with the school guidance counselor? How did it go?” Young John scoffed down a slice and grunted back, “Yeah, but they don’t know shit... going upstairs to change”. In his room he clicked on MTV and lay on his bed. He was bored to death, and thought “I can’t wait to get out of this town...”

Soccer practice finished later than usual. Lil' Mary was tired and disgruntled over the extra laps they had to do at practice. She found the pizza in the oven and said to her father. "Coach Smith really blows! He makes us do all these extra laps and still we always lose anyway! I think I could run better if I got a pair of those new Nike sneakers!" Her father on auto-response said, "Ask your mother, maybe next paycheck." "Yeah right", she thought, "all the other girls have great sneakers why do I have this no label crap?" And she slipped off to her room to watch "Dark Shadows" a romance show about vampires, that all the other girls were watching.

Claire got home from the hairdresser and said, "She got the ends all wrong. John, look at my hair. are those ends even?" He gave a glance up and mindlessly said "your hair is fine, it's good, looks nice" and looked back to his show, which had just moved to a Gucci commercial; and she said, "There, see that! That's the dress I need for the Magill wedding next month", as she was still envious of the styles the ladies had at the club and had to have that Gucci dress for the wedding.

Each in turn, turned off their tube and fell asleep; and they were a family!?
This is the way it has been – since Television.

Blasphemy

Here it is interesting to note several ways that this modern beast blasphemes against God. In addition to its foul and blasphemous language, the beast both separates us from both God and fellow man, and changes our heart against Him.

Revelations 13:4-7

<sup>4</sup> And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast: and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast? who is able to make war with him?

<sup>5</sup> And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies; and power was given unto him to continue forty and two months.

<sup>6</sup> And he opened his mouth in blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heaven.

<sup>7</sup> And it was given unto him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them: and power was given him over all kindreds, and tongues, and nations.

Foul & Blasphemous Language - The beast's foul language and blasphemous speech is now clearly common in our modern television programming,

"And he opened his mouth in blasphemy against God, to blaspheme his name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heaven" Revelations 1:6

Some of us can still remember our shock at hearing Archie Bunker defiling God's creations in the "All the Family" television program as he besmirched, race and religion. In the program he was a misogynist and a bigot who belittled people and their institutions.

For laughs few could be more condescending than George Carlin, whose "Seven Dirty Words, You Can Never Say on Television", which is no longer true, as they are now common language on television.

As the beast promulgates foul and blasphemous language, it creeps into our lives, and undermines our ability to stay close to God. We see this in Young John, who is lost and bored because he has no commitment to the Lord. We see it again in both Young John and Lil' Mary in their snide and disrespectful response to their preoccupied father.

Separation from God and Fellowman - This beast is very adept at separating us from the Lord our God. We are torn away from our devotion rather than being mindful of Him.

"And it was given unto him to make war with the saints, and to overcome them: and power was given him over all kindreds, and tongues, and nations" Revelations 1:7.

When the beast first arrived, when television was new, did we not jump and huddle up to watch "Ed Sullivan", "Bonanza" or "Gunsmoke"? For how many of us is "Jeopardy" and/or "Wheel of Fortune" a daily tradition? For the preceding thousand years was this time not spent being mindful of our God? The pull of television is compelling. It is a phenomenon that is not localized. It is as immense is the sea. and has comparative affect in all corners of the civilized world.

Not only does the television beast separate us from God. It eventually separates us from one another. Is our focus on a church or a parish? Is that the center or community or are we more focused on the latest politics on Fox News, MSNBC, or CNN? Are we more apt to join a local prayer service or settle in front of the tube; like John Sr. into a ball game, like Mary into a romance serial, or Young John into mind-numbing MTV, all in front of separate TVs in their own separate rooms.....

With television, where is Jesus's commandment, "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another." John 13:34

Change of heart – The beast provides us daily exposure to death, murder, sex, drugs, infidelity, violence, in the news and other programming. It weakens our fortitude and degrades our morals.

“And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast: and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast? who is able to make war with him?” Revelation 1:4

“And there was given unto him a mouth speaking great things and blasphemies; and power was given unto him to continue forty and two months.” Revelation 1:5

Reflect on the impact that exposure to television would have on a person over after only 3 or 3 1/2 years (or a 42-month timeframe), let alone decades and generations!

Consider the long-term effect of watching television and its effect, as it changes our hearts. We know this to be true, but we all watch anyway. This is all augmented and compounded by the desirous effects of advertising, whose purpose is to not just inform and remind, but to successfully persuade.

Advertising is essentially commercialized propaganda. It is a critical tool of the television beast. It is proficient at changing the hearts and minds of men. Note one of the statements from the Digital School of Marketing regarding the power of advertising:

“Advertising has been said to be the most powerful, persuasive, as well as manipulative tool firms have in order to control consumers all over the world.”. info@digitalschoolofmarketing.co.za

So, is it surprising when Revelations 1:4 emphatically states, “who is like the beast? Who is able to make war with him?”

While we may have many more things, but the beast has made us desirous ... has that brought the fulfillment we strive for? Or does that true fulfillment reside with God?

Our family from 1000 years ago may have had very few goods and conveniences compared to our modern family, but they were more content, fulfilled, and gracious, even without four televisions!

The Second Beast.

Revelations 13:11-18

11 And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon

12 And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

13 And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men

14 and deceiveth them that dwell on the earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the beast; saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live.

15 And he had power to give life unto the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed

16 And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads

17 and that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name

18 Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man; and his number is Six hundred threescore and six.

The remaining versus of Revelations chapter 13 above, speak to the second beast's arrival out of the earth; and there is a reason or purpose that he arises from solid land. When Revelations was first written, it was prophetic, but as time passes some aspects, such as the first beast, reveal themselves, so it is the second beast, that much of the chapter describe characteristics of him as identifiers. A portion of the verses also describe a relationship between the first beast and the second beast, while other sections are yet to come fully into fruition. There may be some current telltale signs, but we are reminded, Mark13:32. "However, no one knows the day or the hour days these things will happen, not even the angels in heaven, or the Son, himself."

Identifying Characteristics

Mentally imagine and extrapolate the kinds of technology we will have in 50 years, 100 years, or 500 years from now. Can you imagine 2,000 years in the future? Are we manipulating light photons and gravity as ubiquitously as we now do fire and electrons and what does that look like? So, was the task of John 2,000 years ago when he had to describe his visions of the first beast and the second beast!

Fire from heaven -Daily we use our cell phones: talk, text, and email. We youtube to watch the daily news or other programs. We google for other information or data. 2000 years ago, John described a bit of the technology behind these:

“And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men” Revelations 13:13

Given the knowledge base at that time, substituting fire for a satellite signal would be reasonable and may be deemed fairly astute description of the operations of our satellite system, which has been in use for over 50 years.

Two horns and dragon speak – The earth is solid; it is there, “1”. Out of the earth, it is not there.,”0”. It’s solid or it’s not. 1,0. It’s there or it’s not. 1,0. It’s there or it’s not. 1,0. The beast has two horns. 1,0. He speaks like a dragon. 1,0.

“And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon” Revelations 13:11 .

Even today, it still may be a difficult task to fully describe binary code! So, to say ‘the beast has two horns and speaks as a dragon’, may be a bit simplistic, but understanding that the “1” or a “0” are depicted by the two horns and represent the basics of binary code. The “1” or “0”, are merely a positive charge, “1”, on a computer chip or no charge on the chip, “0” (it’s there (earth) or it’s not) These are known as a bit, and eight bits is one byte, and each byte, in ASCII binary code represents an alpha, numeric or other character.

This is really less than the beginning for the non-technical. The material is highly complex, and has its own technical languages, as a dragon. The languages come in the form of computer programming code such as; COBOL, SQL, JAVA or HTML and for the lay person trying to communicate in a tech environment, it’s better he should know parsel-tongue!

Mark of the beast - Bill Gates, Joe Biden, Jeff Bezos, Vladimir Putin. The employed – the unemployed, a mother - a father, a senior – a teenager. All these people most likely have critical passwords, memorized, the less common passwords written down or documented somewhere that they can easily get their hands on them.

“And he causeth all, both small and great, rich and poor, free and bond, to receive a mark in their right hand, or in their foreheads:” Revelations 13:16

The mark of the beast are our passwords! These marks are created or received by individuals. They are not forced on them. At this juncture we readily accept and embrace our passwords, as a means of obtaining access to the second beast.

Buying and selling - Black Friday, now Cyber Monday. How many do you know that don't shop online? Who avoids the ease of Amazon? Nearly all have online access to their bank or broker and pay many bills via automatic deduct or just pay online. Is there a business today that can operate efficiently and effectively, that does not use the internet, email or text in some aspect of the business?

“and that no man might buy or sell, save he that had the mark, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name”
Revelations 13:17

We have embraced the second beast and fully integrated him not only in our economic livelihood, but socially as well; Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, now tick-tock!
So where is there room for God?

<sup>9</sup> If any man have an ear, let him hear. <sup>10</sup> He that leadeth into captivity shall go into captivity: he that killeth with the sword must be killed with the sword. Here is the patience and the faith of the saints. Revelations 13:9&10

Could we also consider – ‘He that live by the digital beast shall be lost to the digital beast’?

Number of the Beast - One of the first dial-up Internet access services was AOL. Wait time for getting on-line might be up to an hour.... only to be timed out! Finally online, the protocol at that time was to type “www”, which stands for ‘world wide web’. It is now generally no longer required to be typed, but is in the hyper-link when you sign on!

“Here is wisdom. Let him that hath understanding count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man; and his number is Six hundred threescore and six.” Revelations 13:18

Recalling the discussion on binary code, and a byte, the alphabet in binary code for both capital letter and lowercase letters are attached (Addendum A). Mechanically review the alphabet for letters that have a total of six ones in their binary code. There are only two; the letter, “o” and the letter “w” have six “1’s” in their binary code. Here we might conclude, the “www” is equivalent to 666, and the number of the beast, the Internet. Noting the ‘number of the beast is the number of a man’ consider that number is 666, (www), is you, as an integral part of the beast; as it is also your number, that you accept and embrace, as you sign on the internet!

Commonality of the Beasts

There is a commonality between the two beasts, the second beast not only has all the power of the first beast, but additional ability as well. The second beast has the civilized world worshipping, actually continuing to worship the first beast, as the first beast is already being worshiped in Revelations 13:4

“And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.” Revelations 13:12

The second beast, the Internet and the digital world, has the ability to access and play all the programs of television, so it exercises all the power of the first beast. But the second beast, binary and digital, also causes us to continue to worship the first beast, television. This occurred when digital television was introduced to replace the old analog broadcasting, whose final broadcast in the United States was June 12, 2009. With this digital change to television programming was exponentially enriched with a wide variety of streaming content. It secured the continued loyalty of televisions viewers that they would continue to worship the first beast.

Past and Pending

Many events from Revelations Chapter 13 have already occurred. All the civilized world has now been deceived by the first beast and worship the idol. But there are those events that are still playing out....

“and deceiveth them that dwell on the earth by the means of those miracles which he had power to do in the sight of the beast; saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make an image to the beast, which had the wound by a sword, and did live.” Revelations 13:14

Past - The beast has already sucked us in and won us over with a digital addiction. These are things that 100 or 200 years ago would have been magic or deemed a miracle but are commonplace today.

- When buying a new car is the remote lock a standard feature?
- We all feel more secure with our ring doorbell!
- With the Internet of things, the temperature of our houses, the locks on our doors, and every lightbulb are controlled with the push of a button on our cell phones.

They are all digital miracles!

And nightly most settle in to stream their favorite program, as they are entranced by their image of the beast, their idol, the television.

Pending - Consider that at some point, the breath of life, i.e., being sentient, is acquired by the digital beast to interact on his own accord with the civilized world. Further, the beast becomes powerful enough to decree death on the unfaithful.

“And he had power to give life unto the image of the beast, that the image of the beast should both speak, and cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed.” Revelations 13:15

A common rule in technology, Moore’s Law, observes that technology doubles periodically and grows at an exponential rate. Today’s computer now processed exponentially faster than the human brain and readily accessible memory of the internet exceeds that of man.

AI, artificial intelligence, is now a reality. Regulation and control of AI is a hot topic for Washington DC. The debate for technology professionals today is not if the Internet will become sentient, but when!

Understand the civilized world is dependent on digital technology: air traffic control, monitoring shipping lanes, road signals, i.e. all aspects of transportation and delivery; gas pipelines, the electric grid i.e. all energy storage and distribution and related utilities; food and its production, processing, and distribution; all our nuclear and military systems i.e. all aspects of the real civilized world are dependent on the digital world...

Would it be surprising if a living beast, a sentient internet, would not have the ability to manipulate all these systems and while controlling and utilizing those systems be able to readily kill? And given all his access to worldwide data, why couldn’t he be selective on an individual basis?!

Epilogue

October 4, 2023

Dear Monsignor Rizzotti,

As promised, my endeavors to complete documentation of my insights/theory are complete. This was done in the mornings after the Lord's Prayer, then reciting the Hym to the Holy Spirit (Appendix B)) and completed over seven Good mornings.

While it may read a bit pointed or simplistic and the format may be a untraditional, hopefully, the logic and sentiment make their points.

Upon completing this, the feeling now is that this should move forward in some fashion. Particularly given our track record, as a civilization, in controlling and addressing climate change, or in reviewing our efforts to contain war, despite institutions like the UN and the 'War to End All Wars'.

Now, with the advent of AI, artificial intelligence, the genie is out of the bottle. Whether this insight/theory is valid or not, the message is true. It may be an old message, but given man's weakness, the greed and fears of humanity, it is questionable whether we will be able to control our technological advances alone, and we need to look for hope in our Lord.

These messages need to be heard in the context of today's unfolding events.

At this juncture, I would appreciate your thoughts on these issues and continuing efforts to move this message forward.

Yours in Christ,

Albert L Trotter

Appendix B

Hymn to the Holy Spirit

Come, Holy Spirit, Creator, blest
And in my soul take up the rest;
Come with a grace and heavenly aid,
To fill the hearts, which Thou has made.

O Comforter! To thee we cry,
Thou heavenly gift of God most high.
O fount of life! O gift of love!

Kindle our senses from above
And make our hearts overflow with love:
With patience firm, and virtue high
The weakness of our flesh supply.

Far from us drive foe the dread
And grant us by true peace instead.
So shall we not, with thee as guide,
Turn from the path of life aside.

All glory while the ages run
Be to the Father and the Son,
the same, O Holy Spirit to thee
Now and through eternity.

*“Howbeit when he, the Spirit of truth, is come,
he will guide you into all truth:
for he shall not speak of himself
; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak: and he will shew you things to come” John16:13.*
