For there would be many voices out there to discourage you. But I say today; run to Me, cling to Me, hold fast to Me. Allow My Spirit to work within you. There are many voices out there, many voices, many human voices, many reasonable voices, many voices of intellect and of rational. But I say to you, listen to My voice, do not be deceived. My children, today, listen to My voice, listen to My voice today. Don't listen to all the other voices that are out there. For they are going to want to get you to be discouraged and dismayed and downhearted and depressed and heavy laden, but I haven't call you to that. I haven't call you to that, I've called you as victorious, I've call you as My children, I've called you to be seated with Me in heavenly places, far above all rule and authority. You are in the Spirit realm seated with Me today. Keep your eyes fixed on Me. Don't listen to the voices. Keep your ear gates closed and covered. Cling fast to My word, cling fast to My word, cling fast to the anointing of the Holy Spirit who abides in you and He will teach you, He will lead you, He will guide you into all truth.

Don't be afraid today, don't be afraid, don't be dismayed. Rise up, rise up, even as you know My presence is with you right now, and comforting you and encouraging you. So, dig yourself in, dig yourself in to the things of the Spirit, the things of the Word. Don't be dismayed, be encouraged, be encouraged in Me today. Be encouraged in My Spirit, the victorious One who leads you and guides you, who is your great Comforter, He has never left you, He will never leave you. Hold fast to Him, hold fast to Him, don't grieve Him, don't succumb to the other voices of the world, that would want to pull you down. Hold fast to My Spirit who lives inside of you today, says the Lord.

Many voices would want to silence you, many voices would want to shut you up. Many people would want to shut you up, the devil would want to shut you up if he could. The devil would want to shut you up if he could. Many voices, many people, many circumstances out there would want to shut you up.

But I say to you; speak louder and louder and farther and farther. Do not hold back, let Me speak through you, because I, the Holy Ghost want to speak through you. I want to talk, I want to communicate the will of the Father, I want to speak, but many voices out there would want to shut you up. But be bold, be bold in Me, I will give you an unction, I will give you words, I will put words in your mouth when your put before men and people in front of you who are saying things contrary to what the Word of God says. I will put My words in you and you will speak My words. Don't allow yourself, by the power of My Spirit, to be silenced. For many voices out there want to silence the voice of the Spirit, but be bold today.
