

Prophetic Word, Tongues and Interpretation by Pastor Richard – June 30th, 2019

Yes, everyone's living like they're living for eternity. Like they're not going to die. Yes, they're living like they're in control of the destiny of their lives. They're living like they have complete control of the destiny of their lives. And if they could, they would tell Me what to do, says the Lord. If they could, they would instruct Me in the way that I should go, says the Lord. I'm not to be instructed, say the Lord. I'm not to be controlled, I'm not to come under your persuasion. Yes, does the clay to the Potter, why did you make me this way? Do you say to Me when you want to die? Do you set the date of your death? Have you charted the future of your life? I know the beginning from the end, says the Lord. And My word is Yes, and Amen.

I see too many, too many who say to Me, that they don't want to pick up their cross and die to self. There are far too many that have taken control of their future, and as a result, it has a result, their future has been cut short, their destiny has been shortened, because they took control and did not listen to My counsel. Untimely deaths in the body of Christ today, untimely deaths. Not by My hand, says the Lord, but by their hands. I know the future, says the Lord. My future for you is to do you good, My plans are to do you good, My plans are to give you life more abundantly, a great life, with persecutions. Persecutions will follow the preaching of the Word, says the Lord. As you preach My word, there will be persecution. Were not my Apostles persecuted, was I not persecuted? Should you expect yourself not to be persecuted?

I, says the Lord, I have the final say in everything. I know the beginning from the end. Yield to My word today, don't yield to the spirit of fear, of doubt and of unbelief, yield to My Spirit, yield to My Bible, yield to the Word of the Lord that I gave to My Apostles. Yield to it, submit yourself unto My word, resist the devil and he will flee from you. Stop leaning to your own understanding, acknowledge Me in all your ways and I'll direct your path. I'll keep you on a straight and narrow road if you'll but obey Me, says the Lord. Oh, you say it's conditional. Yes, it's conditional. Obedience is required to keep you on a straight and narrow road. Now is not the time, now is not the time to get off the straight and narrow road. Now is not the time to take the broad way.

Greater is He that's in you today than he's who is in the world, thanks be unto God who always causes you to triumph, in Jesus name.

Oh death, oh death, where's your sting for the Christian, where's your sting for the born again Christian? Oh death, oh death, where's the sting? I sent My Holy Spirit to take away the sting of death, but oh, you rejected it. Some of you have rejected the Holy Spirit, which takes away the sting of death. Like I say in My Word, unless you're born again you'll not enter the kingdom of heaven. And the only way you can become born again is by My Holy Spirit coming and living inside of you. It's your choice today. Choose life, or choose death. Let the Holy Spirit back in the church, let the Holy Spirit into your temple, let the Holy Spirit into your body which is to be the temple of My Holy Spirit.
