FOR THE VERY HEART OF YOUR HOME

We spend a long time thinking about kitchens and how they can work for you, we know a lot about what is popular now and what has been popular in the past. Be it in design, technology or layout. In fact some may even say we are just a little bit obsessive...

The kitchen space has changed radically over the last 100 years. Influences from around the world have fed into not only British and European kitchen design but also into our way of life.

The kitchen is no longer hidden beneath stairs but is now at the very heart of the modern home and family: often with walls removed to combine kitchen and dining spaces.

And this is why selecting a kitchen is one of the most important aspects of creating your home, as it's also about creating your ideal space and lifestyle.

Hopefully this is where we come in though, as sometimes it can be pretty useful to know an obsessive...

Food for thought

Keep things fresh

Extraction helps ventilate cooking smells, keeping your kitchen as fresh as a daisy.

Make sure to plan for an extraction system to sit directly above your hob or range cooker at the correct height.

The Working Triangle

Plan for the sink, fridge, oven and hob to form a triangle, keeping the distance between them to a minimum for ease of movement.

Worksurfaces

You can never have too much work surface, especially around the hob and the sink. Remember that with a small overhang you can also create the ideal breakfast bar.

Appliances

It's important to plan exactly what appliances you will want in your kitchen - built in oven or range cooker; fridge and freezer combined or separate?

Light Fantastic

Unlike in other rooms of the house, ceiling installed overhead lighting is insufficient. In the kitchen, you don't want the light behind you, casting a shadow on the work surface, you need it positioned to fall in front of you. We like under-cabinet spotlights because they shine directly on work surfaces and also, why not consider plinth lights for some added sparkle.

Also it's great to have an option of some low level lighting if you are going to be eating in the kitchen.

Point of power

Remember to plan for all your power sockets for each electrical appliance you will use... It's also worth putting more than you think you'll need above the work surface, a kettle, mixer, toaster and coffee maker all start to add up!

But for safety, keep sockets well away from the sink and any potential water spillage.

Time at the bar

A bar with stools offers extra kitchen workspace and acts as a barrier between the kitchen proper and its dining area.

It's also a great place for a quick snack or a social drink with friends and family.

Islands

An island can be a great way of adding more working space and can be a fantastic social focal point for any kitchen.

CHARTWELL

Heritage Kitchen

This beautiful heritage kitchen is the perfect example of a Shaker Kitchen.

To the Shakers, furniture was made thoughtfully, with functional form and proportion, which simply means it looks great.

We love the modern olive grey colour of the Chartwell, teaming it with white walls and tiles brings the colour out of the cabinets and makes them the star of the room, although we are also pretty fond of the beautiful real Walnut worksurface we have paired it with.

We have used round pillars to soften the wall end cabinets, whilst tongue and groove end panels complete the look. These are both available for all Heritage kitchens.

A traditional look for a very modern home...

How to Paint

What materials and tools do I need?

Brushes: Use a 25mm approx. wide reasonable quality synthetic brush.

Primer: Use Zinsser Bulls Eye 1.2.3® water-based primer.

Paint: Use water based paints: They are much safer for the environment and for you too. They are also faster drying and it's easier to clean the brush afterwards: which saves you a lot of time! We recommend you choose from these manufacturers of water based paints:-

- Farrow and Ball® Estate Eggshell finish
- Little Greene® Intelligent interior Eggshell finish
- Dulux® Satinwood finish
- Mylands® Eggshell finish

How do I decide which colour?

Well, that's really up to you of course: but make sure to first get a sample pot of the colour you like and test it on a primed panel of wood: this way you can get a good idea of what your kitchen will look like before you invest in a large pot of paint.

How do I paint the doors? *

Wait until all the doors have been fitted by your kitchen installer.

Unscrew the doors from the hinges.

We've found it best to only unscrew as many doors as you can paint in one session. That way you won't have a lot of doors lying around. Make a note of which door belongs to which cabinet.

Once the doors are off, unscrew the handles.

Cover a table or work bench with newspaper to protect it from splashes, and then place a door on a wooden block on the table.

Open the primer and stir well to mix. Fill your brush with primer (but not so much that it drips) and apply to one side and all the edges of the door using long and steady paint strokes that follow the oak effect grain of the door. Take care to get into the corners of these St Ives shaker style doors.

Wait for 1 hour and then carefully flip the door over and prime the other side.

If you have space on the table or workbench, you could have more than one door on the go at the same time. When dry after another hour, lean beside it's cabinet for safe keeping whilst you prime the other doors.

Then repeat this process for the application of your colour of paint to each door. Then repeat again (2 coats are needed). Importantly, please bear in mind that paint (unlike primer) will need at least 6 hours drying time before another coat is applied and another 6 hours before being put back onto the cabinets. Carefully screw the painted doors back onto cabinet hinges.

How do I paint the accessories?*

The accessories are the plinth, the cabinet end panels, the cornice and the pelmet.

The plinth is easily removable and can be painted in the same way as the doors.

The accessories that will need to be painted whilst fixed to the cabinets are the cabinet end panels, the cornice and the pelmet. Protect the surrounding areas from paint overspill with the use of low tack masking tape.

Follow the same instructions for applying the primer and paint to the accessories as we have described for the doors.

Finally - Stand back and admire your handiwork

*Please read the instructions on the paint and primer tins carefully before applying.

This is just a small selection of colour ideas - all these colours and more are available from the recommended paint manufacturers.
