The Good News Challenge!

Let's banish all of the bad news and create GOOD news stories of our own.

What you will need to do is set up a news report filled with all of the GOOD news stories you can think of. (This could be something you're really interested in, things you are excited for, things you are thankful for etc..)

Research your stories , write a script , have a dress run and then film your report.

If you want to also add a weather report at the end that would make it extra amazing!

When you are done and happy with your final result, share it with your friends and family! The whole world is going through a really difficult time at the moment lets spread some positivity and silliness!
