Dear

I have grave concerns over the Global Pandemic Treaty between Canada and the World Health Organization.

Dr. Tess Lawrie who consulted for the WHO for nearly 10 years says the WHO leadership is “compromised” and is using the Global Pandemic Treaty to seize global power. Dr. Lawrie points out:

One of the worst decisions made during COVID – and promoted by the WHO, among others – was to impose an mRNA product that was still in the experimental phase on populations, including children and babies.

Yet, it is widely held that no healthy teenagers died from COVID. But hundreds of thousands of teenagers were killed or injured after taking the COVID vaccine (as reported by the U.S. vaccine adverse event reporting system).

So, why do we want to be subject to the WHO when a top expert of the WHO claims it is compromised? Moreover, evidence support this: the WHO sought to impose the experimental COVID vaccine on children who were not at risk. Consequently, it caused harm and death to hundreds of thousands of children.

Please provide me with your thoughts on empowering the WHO with the ability to impose future vaccines on Canadians.

Sincerely,
