January 2021

December was such a fun month in the center. We did Christmas art, read seasonal stories, danced, decorated, dressed up in PJs, and really maximized the holiday season for our kids. We learned new words and songs to sing, we met Santa, and we did manage to get outside for a bit of play in the snow. All in all it was a great month with wonderful memories made for the children at our center.

In Infant class we learned about Snowman and Christmas. Our children are developing strong bonds and relationships together. It's so fun to see them playing and enjoying each other's company. Our parents continue to tell us about the children's advancing development in their independence for eating, playing and speech. We are so happy to be a part of their journey in growth and development.

In Toddler last month we explored Christmas all month long! There were so many arts and crafts to do, gifts to make for our parents, ornaments to make for our trees at home and projects to do together. We really enjoyed our indoor gross motor activities as well which included our parachute, modified balloon "tennis", and of course dance parties. It was a terrific full month of fun and ending with a PJ day was the perfect way to do it.

Our mixed Preschool/Kindergarten classroom our kids also enjoyed an extended Winter and Christmas exploration for the month. Our children had so much fun sharing extra show and tell toys, meeting Santa, building gingerbread houses, and playing with covid appropriate individual sensory bins. The children built a sense of pride in their class through helping decorate and continued to progress in their social and emotional development through many shared play times and projects. This classroom as well enjoyed topping off a fun December with PJ day.
