

Terms and Conditions of Service

The business relations between Bavarian Tradition, LLC and the customer are based exclusively on the below indicated terms and conditions of service effective at the time of the order.

A consumer is any natural person who concludes a legal transaction for purposes that are predominantly neither commercial nor their independent professional activity. An entrepreneur is a natural or legal person or a legal partnership who, when concluding a legal transaction, acts in the exercise of their commercial or independent professional activity.

With regard to entrepreneurs, these terms and conditions also apply to future business relationships, without having to refer to them again. If the entrepreneur uses conflicting or supplementary general terms and conditions, their validity is hereby rejected; they only become part of the contract if we have expressly consented to this.

Order Acceptance

Your order is an offer to us that terminates in a sales contract. Our receipt of your electronic order, or your receipt of our Electronic Order Confirmation does not signify our acceptance of your order. We reserve the right to accept or reject your order at any time after its receipt. We ship complete orders only, and do not ship partial shipments. A sales contract becomes legally effective when the items are shipped to the customer.
