Where in the World...

Australia: More than 131 years after being thrown overboard, the world's oldest message in a bottle has washed up on a beach in Western Australia. The bottle was found in the dunes near Wedge Island. Weeks of research and correspondence crafted a Sherlock-style web of clues that traced the historic note back to 19th century Germany. The survival of the document has been heralded as a miracle, as the bottle was found wedged in the sand and without a lid after heavy rain and strong winds on the island. With the Australian museum having determined that the note was "consistent with cheaply made 19th century paper", it was concluded that it was genuine. The bottle, thought to have originally held gin, was thrown overboard alongside many others during a decades-long research program to produce drift maps. Once confirmed by Guinness World Records, it will beat the existing record for the world's oldest message in bottle by 23 years.

How's it Possible...

For St. Patrick's Day, Chicago dyes the Chicago river green! In 1962, sanitation workers realized that the dye used to check for illegally dumped sewage, could double as a St. Patrick's Day decoration. Since 1966, an eco-friendly powdered vegetable based dye has been used. Calculations were done to keep the river green for a week: 25 lbs of dye will make the river green for one day.

When Did That Happen...

March is Women's month! Did you know, in 1889, the Wyoming State Convention approves a constitution that includes a provision granting women the right to vote. Formally admitted into the union the following year, Wyoming thus became the first state in the history of the nation to allow its female citizens to vote.

Who Knows...

1. I can be made and I can be played. I can be cracked and I can be told. What am I?
2. What has a soul but doesn't live, and a tongue but cannot taste?
3. You buy me to eat, but never eat me. What am I?

That's Incredible!

Stuart Robbins from Phoenix, Arizona, has proven he is a master of basketball free throwing, after breaking a Guinness World Records title at the age of 72. He achieved the most consecutive basketball free throws blindfolded, with an impressive 16 successful shots in a row. Stuart spent around 15,000 hours practicing for his official attempt, before taking on the challenge in the presence of two professional basketball referees. He plans to break more basketball records in the future.

That's Trendy!

Art and fashion intersected on the Spring 2018 runaways, making for a colorful and rich way to shake up any wardrobe. From the bold Warhol-inspired pieces at Versace to cartoon works of art emblazoned onto Prada's collection, art is wearable in 2018.

That's Funny!

Before you criticize someone, walk a mile in their shoes. That way, when you do criticize them, you're a mile away and have their shoes.

Can a kangaroo jump higher than the Empire State building? Of course it can! The Empire State building can't jump!

That's Twisted!

Betty bought a bit of butter. But the butter Betty bought was bitter. So Betty bought a better butter, and it was better than the butter Betty bought before.

That's Inspirational!

Pet of the Month!

The Town of North Hempstead Animal Shelter

Hi, I'm Angel! I am 4 years old. I have been in need of a home since 2015. I love to play and am very freindly. I love toys and treats! I know all of my commands, but would prefer to be the only pet in the house.

Take me home today!
