CLASS HISTORY

On Monday morning, September 2, 1930, ten small, shy youngsters went to school for the first time. Our teacher, Miss Ruth McMeel, was surprised to learn that ten small children could make so much noise. I believe this is a trait that has never been overcome. This group of children, Ann Buess, Robert Cass, Helen Graul, Darlene Graul, Freddie Houle, Hollis Hunter, Patty LeClere, Kenneth Pike, Doris Scott, and John Wright, formed the beginning of the graduating class of 1942. During the year Robert Cass left our class, but his vacant seat was soon occupied by Marjorie Billings. Dwight Graul and Melvin Pike entered into our group during the second year. Miss McMeel, wishing all of us success, passed us to the third grade.

Miss Laurena Holcomb was then elected to direct our teachings for the next two years. Ruth Honz, Luella Billings, and Frank George joined our brigade during the third year, and John Wright and Frank George moved at the close of the year leaving us with a class of twelve. Junior Brown and Glen Betenbender moved to our community and were added to our class during the fourth year. Freddie Houle moved with his parents, Superintendent and Mrs. Houle, that spring. Four years had passed since our first day of school, but as we remembered it then it seemed like four weeks.

As we went into the fifth and sixth grade room, we were met by our new teacher, Miss Marion Johnston. The new members gained in the fifth year were Vernon Babbs and Norman Cornwell. We lost Patty LeClere who moved away during the first semester. At the close of the sixth year we lost Glen Betenbender, Darlene Graul, and Junior Brown. Now as we looked forward to seventh grade, we planned to go "upstairs to Miss Lindahl's room".

Miss Tillie Lindahl was our next teacher, but we did not go upstairs as we had planned. Instead we had a room in the new addition of the school house. We welcomed Macy Read, Gordon Merritt, and Robert Venter to the seventh grade, but lost Luella Billings, Helen Graul, Dwight Graul, Gordon Merritt and Robert Venter. Those in Miss Lindahl's graduating class of 1938 were: Ann Buess, Doris Scott, Marjorie Billings, Hollis Hunter, Kenneth Pike, Ruth Honz, Melvin Pike, Macy Read, and Norman Cornwell. After passing over the first eight stepping stones in this "Temple of Knowledge", we were now ready for the final four, ---High School.

In the fall of 1938 thirty-one of the greenest "Freshies" that had ever entered high school, enrolled at Coggon High. They were: Ann Buess, Marjorie Billings, Doris Scott, Hollis Hunter, Kenneth Pike, Ruth Honz, Melvin Pike, Macy Read, Norman Cornwell, Betty Barker, Lenore Long, Donald Trefz, Dora Trefz, Viola Benton, John Wright, Doris Boss, Isabel Emerson, Rachel O'Reagan, Ralph Wilson, Francis Seery, Dorothy Candler, Donald Robinson, Calvin Waterhouse, Carl Candler, Edward Silvers, Bernard Supple, Ray Trumblee, Donald Brunen, Wayne Robinson, Eugene Schatzle, and Dorrence Boss. Two new members, Margory Meints and John Miller, joined us during our freshman year and Dorothy Candler, Calvin Waterhouse, and Donald Robinson were lost. Miss Leta Elliott was our class sponsor and several parties were enjoyed during the year. The class officers were: Ruth Honz, president, Holly Hunter, vice president, and Marjorie Billings, secretary and treasurer.

Our class dwindled as sophomores. Carl Candler, Ray Trumblee, Norman Cornwell, Edward Silvers, Bernard Supple, and John Miller did not finish their sophomore year at Coggon High School. Irwin Renfer, Merna Minehart, and Howard Burnside came to Coggon from other schools. Mr. Clair Croker was our class sponsor and we enjoyed more parties and picnics that year than any other. The class officers were: Holly Hunter, president, Doraence Boss, vice president, and Tony Trefz, secretary and treasurer.

The lower classmen began to look up to us when we became juniors. Francis Seery did not enroll here and Melvin Pike and Donald Brunen moved during the year. Rachel Keegan, Junior Boyer, Everett Knott, Edwin Knight, Patty LeClere, and Betty Wolmutt became members of the junior class. Miss Virginia Schweiker was our class sponsor and she also directed the junior play, "Fix It Incorporated". The Junior-Senior banquet was one of the high spots of this year. The class officers were: Tony Trefz, president, Betty Barker, vice president, and Rachel Keegan, secretary and treasurer.

Twenty-six proud seniors enrolled at Coggon High this year. Ann Buess, Junior Boyer, Irwin Renfer, and Eugene Schatzle did not enroll here, but our class enrollment remained the same all year. The play, "Professor, How Could You?" was our class play and was directed by Miss Mildred Spieth. Mr. Hungerford was our sponsor and the class officers were: Betty Barker, president; Howard Burnside, vice president, Tony Trefz, secretary, and Margery Meints, treasurer. The members of the graduating class are: Betty Barker, Viola Benton, Marjorie Billings, Doris Boss, Doraence Boss, Howard Burnside, Isabel Emerson, Ruth Honz, Hollis Hunter, Rachel Keegan, Edwin Knight, Everett Knott, Patty LeClere, Lenore Long, Margery Meints, Merna Minehart, Rachel O'Reagan, Kenneth Pike, Macy Read, Wayne Robinson, Doris Scott, Dora Trefz, Donald Trefz, Ralph Wilson, Betty Wolmutt, and John Wright. These years in the "Temple of Knowledge" have been both enjoyable and profitable ones and now, as we leave Coggon School and go out into life, we are hoping that the rest of our years may be the same.

Ladies, Just Ladies

Oh, I love young ladies
But not too young;
For the good die young
And who wants a dead one.

I also love old ones,
But not too old!
For the old dye too,
And who wants a dyed one.

CLASS POEM

In the fall of '38, up the stairs of Coggon High
Came thirty little Freshmen, all so timid and so shy,
But we studied hard each day, and our knowledge slowly grew,
And so today we're lawfully called, the Class of '42.

Of course there are a few of them who aren't so very bright
Because, instead of faithful study and doing what is right,
They used their vim and vigor in quite a different style
To attract the pretty ladies who were sitting 'cross the aisle.

The best example of this kind is Hollis Hunter, Master-mind;
Just by his name we plainly see, he'll "Hunt-her" till eternity.
And another tall, dark, and handsome lad, (we know this phrase is trite)

He has "heaps" of freckles, but he's "loads" of fun; you know we mean Ed Knight.

Rachel K. and Everett Knott, no lovers could be fonder,
Their romance will still be fresh and new when the "Roll is called up Yonder."

And then there's freckled Isabel, who seems so very quiet,
"Still water does run deep," they say, and we cannot deny it.

There are a few in every class who, much to their distress,
Have never had a chance to show the talents they possess;
But there may come a golden day, be it soon or late,
When we shall bow, to Kenneth Pike, the "Famous of the Great".

The slinky siren's out of date, the old techniques taboo;
Make way for Betty Wolmutt, the "Queen of Modern Woo."
That certain something called S. A. that's found in Dora's charm
Has caused the heart of every male to beat in wild alarm.

It's hard on the boys we must admit, but it's a fact, we're told
That Marjorie Billings lost her heart to the Navy Blue and Gold.
The Senior name has been disgraced, bewail it in woeful song,
By those tempestuous, "childish" kids, Ruth Honz and Lenore Long.

O, say can you see by the school's 'lectric light
Those two flaming topknots that half-blind your sight?
We'll all guarantee that they're both liked a lot,
They're Viola Benton and Doris June Scott.

SCHOOL DAYS

Rachel O'Reagan of whom we're all so fond
Leads many to think she's a delicate blonde,
But you wouldn't believe she's a timid lass
If you heard some of her "quips" in short-hand class.

My mama done told me (and it scared me a mite)
Stay away from that fellow they call John Wright.
They say he can drive "real" well with one arm,
And all girls fall prey to his fatal charm.

Hail! The Prince of Coggon, every ladies' heart desire,
Just one look into his eyes will set your love afire;
The dream lad of every lassie, at least at Coggon High,
You know? It's Tony Trefz, that fine, tall, handsome guy.

Macy says she doesn't worry, about the future or the past,
But we find her slyly hoping that the present war won't last;
And when the boys come marching home, in suits of soldier brown,
Macy Read and Melvin will be the happiest pair in town.

Coggon halls and corridors will be silent as a tomb,
And the old assembly will be filled with dust and gloom
When Margery Meints and Patty let their childish manners flee
To become such lovely ladies with grace and dignity.

The reigning beauty of every dance, the belle of every ball,
And at this thing called romance, Betty Barker beats them all;
If you care for further knowledge just call Ryan 124F5
And Junior will tell you all about this Queen of Modern Jive.

Though some may think of love as coming in the spring,
And June the only time when wedding bells may ring,
Now Ralph Wilson thought it was all "bunk" until the other day
A little Freshman girl came here and stole his heart away.

They say at spreading news a woman can't be beat,
But there's a man named Dorrence Boss who hasn't seen defeat;
He can talk as much or more than any maid we know,
But in the classroom, aid from him has helped our knowledge grow.

Wayne and Merna Minehart have tried, just every way,
To get to school quite regularly at nine o'clock each day;
Thru storm, shine, rain, and snow, in fact all sorts of weather,
Sometimes they do, sometimes they don't--why don't they get together?

SCHOOL DAYS

Howard Burnside is widely known as a bashful, blushing lad,
 But when we asked him for the reason, he replied, "It's just a fad."
 Well, right he was, for Doris Boss soon accepted this new style
 And mixed a bit of scarlet with her charming little smile.

We've really tried so hard to make a fool of everyone,
 But yet we find our painful task is not completely done;
 So, Mr. Hungerford, you're next; though last, you're far from least,
 We'd love to tell the little yarn of how your ears increased;
 You say you "sparked" that wife of yours for "pretty near eight year"
 Do you suppose that "eight year pull" has made them look so queer?

In the school year 1941-1942, there were twenty-one girls enrolled in the Freshman Homemaking Class. They had a unit on courtesy and one on personal grooming. Their next unit was on sewing. As this was the first time most of the girls had sewed they began on cotton material. Their first garment was very simple so they could learn the fundamentals of sewing. Their final garment was a cotton dress. During this time spent on sewing they learned how to use the sewing machines, how to make the different seams, how to put zippers in, how to make buttonholes, and how to lay patterns on material. Next they began a unit on cooking. The time spent on cooking was used in the study and preparation of salads, salad dressing, muffins, fruit and vegetable dishes, breakfasts and luncheons.

Twenty-one girls were enrolled in the Advanced Homemaking Class during the school year of 1941-1942. These girls first studied a unit on the important phases of courtesy. Next they did some canning. They canned tomatoes using all the different methods. They also made some apple jelly. They then began a unit on cooking. They studied and prepared cheese dishes, yeast rolls, cakes, pies, meat dishes, vegetables and puddings. After learning to balance meals, they made economical menus for one day's meals. These were prepared and served in three different laboratory periods. A unit on sewing followed.

The Coggon Vocational Agriculture Department was introduced into the curriculum three years ago. Even though we have had a good beginning, it is only a beginning and there is still much to be accomplished. In 1939 it was agreed by the school board and Superintendent Frank Green, that Coggon was ideally located for a department because of its rich agricultural area and rural high attendance. That year application was made, many other departments were visited, and Mr. H. R. Hall, State Supervisor of Agricultural Education, met with the board to explain the program and check facilities for the men's department. April 17, 1939 Superintendent Green received a telegram from Mr. Hall informing him that this district had been approved for a department. We owe the establishment and early success of this department to the support and effort of the school board and Mr. Green.

In the spring of '39, Mr. G. E. Sutton was hired to head the Vocational Agriculture department. Immediately after finishing his work at Ames, he assumed his duties at Coggon July 20. Contacts with all parents and students were made and tables and equipment were built during the summer before school started.

SCHOOL DAYS

Smith-Hughes work, as it is often called, began in this country in 1917 with the passing of the Smith-Hughes Act which provided federal aid for one half the expenses of establishing and maintaining this type of teaching. It was a definite step by the government following the modern trend, to make education more practical. Thus, we have not only classroom instruction, but boys are assigned projects and thus can apply the principles learned. The instruction is on hand the year round to supervise and guide these projects.

In the day classes of the first year Animal Husbandry, Farm Crops, and Farm Management were offered. This year the same courses are offered. Thus during a four-year course a boy is presented with all the phases of farming and receives a well-rounded practical fund of knowledge. The boy's projects are not only an ideal means for teaching, but are a source of income for the boy or may even be a means of him becoming established in farming.

Our local Future Farmers of America Chapter has done much to make the work interesting. It has helped to broaden and develop the boys along lines of leadership, citizenship, thrift, and has provided social, recreational, and other opportunities for cooperative effort. After submitting a satisfactory program of work and constitution to the state organization with the state and national dues, the chapter was granted its charter in December, 1939. Since then, the F. F. A. chapter has been quite active. Their first cooperative project was mixing stock mineral. To date 60,000 lbs. have been mixed and sold by the boys. Another cooperative venture was a corn test plot which netted the chapter $80 each year. The boys have sold garden seeds the past two years.

The money from the projects is used for needed equipment, parties, recreation, and some of it is re-invested. The chapter bought a gilt this spring which will be farmed out to a boy. A girl friend party is a special occasion in February each year. The F. F. A. Chapter, sponsored the community fair in the gymnasium last fall which we hope to make an annual affair. The Coggon F. F. A. chapter was host to the Northeast Iowa district F. F. A. contest this spring. Twenty-two departments in this section of the state were invited to take part in Parliamentary Procedure, Extemporaneous Speaking, Public Speaking, and Chapter Contests. Coggon has won four excellent awards in these events the past two years.

An expansion of our Agriculture program was made possible in 1940 with the building and equipping of the new farm shop building. Our new superintendent, Mr. Hungerford, came to Coggon in July while we were planning this structure. Mr. Hungerford gave his loyal support from the first and helped to solve many of the problems. By use of donated labor, the building was constructed at a minimum of cost. In spite of limited funds, the school board was very liberal in providing such a good shop and equipping it well. The building is 28 x 48 ft., of frame hip roof construction with double doors and ample room to bring in large pieces of farm machinery for repair. A forge, hot and cold metal working tools, as well as woodworking tools are a part of the equipment. During the course the boy is taught the fundamental principles of concrete, paints, soldering, forge work, carpentry, rope work, harness repair, machinery adjustment, farm electricity and is given a chance to apply them as he builds, repairs, or completes an actual project. The class learned to mix and pour concrete by putting in the approaches to the shop. The group helped install electrical wiring in the shop and finished the interior by building the benches and tool room. Some of the individual projects finished or being completed now are six chicken feeders, a large twenty foot hay-feed rack, two wagon boxes, two large portable hog self-feeders, two individual hog houses, one gasoline engine overhauled, numerous milk pails repaired and other soldering jobs, one wheelbarrow and two mowers repaired and adjusted, one farm sign, six hog troughs, one wagon wood rack, two large farm gates, four feed scoops, several windows glazed, one set of double trees, one calf self-feeder, and shaping metal irons. These projects all are needed or can be used on the home farm and the boy takes a special interest in working them and in learning the principles involved. In addition the building is used by the adult classes. February 22 and 23 farmers met in the new shop building to observe a demonstration on the repair and adjustment of mowers given by Mr. Struthers from the Extension Service.

JUDGING

The Coggon Vocational Agriculture judging teams have made an exceptionally good showing during their three years of competition. These activities provide invaluable training and in addition stimulate interest in agriculture and a feeling of accomplishment.

In the competition at the State Contest at Ames the boys have won fourteen awards, eight of which were superiors and six merits. These were in Livestock Judging and Management, Farm Crops Judging and Management, Poultry Judging and Farm Engineering. The livestock judging teams rated among the top six teams at the Waterloo Dairy Cattle Congress and at the All-Iowa-Fair in Cedar Rapids, placing first in Holsteins at Waterloo.

The grain judging team took first place in the contest at the Olin Grain Show in 1941 winning 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place individual awards. At the Vinton Grain Show Coggon placed third the first two years and lost the contest by only one point this year placing second. Last year the poultry team won first place at the Vinton Show and placed third this year. Several Coggon boys received individual awards in these contests.

The commercial department of the Coggon High is equipped to prepare students for positions in the business world or as preliminary training for entrance to business college. The studies which are included in this department are business training, bookkeeping, commercial law, shorthand, and first and second year typing.

When a freshman, a student has the opportunity to begin his commercial education by taking introductory business training. This interesting subject is under the supervision of Superintendent J. B. Hungerford. The chief reason for teaching this subject is to acquaint the pupil with the fundamentals of the business world. He learns the vital importance of the business world to him as an individual, the communication services, the use of time and money, commercial papers and banking, the organization and control of business, the opportunities which are presented to them without fraud, office and store activities are explained, shipping and purchasing goods are discussed, and finally he can plan for his future.

Bookkeeping is offered as a continuation of this work when the student is a junior. Personal records are first studied, then the banking procedure and business papers as they appear in everyday life are brought to the attention of the students. He learns the fundamentals, such as, debits, credits, different accounts, and the manner in which the type of business transactions are recorded. The purposes and uses of the journals and ledger are discussed. After the student has acquainted himself with the work, he gains practice by keeping the books for model sets. Miss Schneider is the instructor.

Commercial law refers to that portion of the law which is applicable particularly to trade and commerce. It especially embraces the principles and rules under which business transactions are conducted, and which govern relations, such as partnerships and agencies, created and used by businessmen in their various ventures. The purpose of the class is to teach a person to know his own rights, that he may know and respect the rights of others. Mr. Buell teaches this course to Hollis Hunter, Macy Read, and Margaret Robinson.

MUSIC

One of the finer arts appreciated by the majority of Americans today is music. In Coggon Public School an extensive program is offered in this course. Music is classed under the heading of extra-curricular activities, but it plays as important a part in the school routine as the regular studies do. Although musical education in the last three years of high school is not compulsory as it is in the grades, all freshmen are required to go out for Glee Club work. Of the 90 students enrolled in the sophomore, junior, and senior classes have elected music as one of their extra-curricular activities. All musical instruction is given free of charge; the student is required only to furnish his instrument. As the school owns most of the bass and percussion instruments, the students who choose to play these particular instruments have no expense whatsoever.

In the high school, two one-hour periods a week are devoted to band rehearsals; however these rehearsals do not include the sectional and individual instruction. Each music student is given the opportunity to practice under the direction of the instructor at least once or twice a week, outside of band rehearsals, and without the aid of the teacher as often as he likes. When a beginning student, after a period of individual tutorage, is qualified to become a member of the high school band, he takes up sectional rehearsals instead of practicing alone. The numbers rehearsed by the band include marches, chorals, waltzes, overtures, and novelty arrangements. The favorite selection of the last group was "The Three Trees", a number which required a narrator. Hal Haines filled this requirement. During the basketball season the band also acted in the capacity of pep band. All of the selections used were marches or novelty arrangements. Besides playing for the game, the pep band played occasionally for pep meetings which were held on the afternoon of the basketball game.

Some of the band members participated in other instrumental groups. The brass quartet was made up of Betty De Woody, trombone; Tony Trefz, baritone; Dora Trefz and Ruth Honz, cornets. This group played for the declamatory contest. A clarinet quartette composed of Wanietta Ayers, Duane Mills, Hal Haines, and Jean Henderson furnished music at a Commercial Club meeting and at a few other public gatherings. Dorothy Drexler, Mary Louise Drexler, and Phyllis Long were the members of a saxophone trio which made a few public appearances. The soloists for this year were Betty De Woody, Wanietta Ayres, Duane Mills, and Mary Louise Drexler.

The Girls' and Boys' Glee Clubs each rehearsed twice a week. For Senior Class Day activities, all the senior members of the Girls' Glee Club furnished the musical entertainment, while for Commencement exercises the lower classmen members sang. From the Girls' Glee Club there was organized a Girls' Sextette, which later became a quartette due to the loss of two members. The selections for this group included both popular and classical arrangements. The Sextette was composed of Virginia Merritt, Edyce Scott, Lenore Long, Ruth Honz, Margery Meints, and Dora Trefz; and the Quartette was composed of the last four mentioned. These girls made a few public appearances.

Some of the events for which the school furnished music were the Junior-Senior Banquet, junior and senior plays, declamatory contest, Commencement, Class Day, Baccalaureate, music concert, and school carnival.

For the school carnival, which was held in October, a German Band was organized. All members assumed German names and costumes and played in the usual German manner. Harold Henderson acted as director; Ruth Honz and Leroy Marburger played cornets; Duane Mills and Virginia Merritt, clarinets; Betty De Woody, the trombone; and Ralph Wilson, the tuba. Also, on the same program, was a Follies number by a few of the Freshman boys, half of whom played the role of coquettish girls. Their selections were "While Strolling Through the Park One Day" and "Tell Me, Pretty Maiden". This act was also carried out in costume. Louis Devlin was the announcer.

The music program was also carried on extensively in the grades. Besides the regular musical education, the lower grade students were instructed in folk dances for the purpose of teaching rhythm and unity. These folk dances were "Thorn Rosa", "Pop Goes the Weasel", "Farmer in the Dell", "Pussy Cat", and others. However, this instruction was carried on more broadly in physical training classes.

In the seventh and eighth grades, two thirty-minute periods a week were devoted to music. In all other grades musical education required three twenty-minute periods a week. Band members from the grades include Robert Trefz, second cornet; Marie Hendrickson and Mildred Reeves, drums; Dwight Le Clere, and Dorothy Drexler, saxophone.

The primary room has been studying rhythm and tone. The children of the third and fourth grades room do the same and have been learning also to read music. Syllables, notes, time, and the fundamentals of music have been taught in the fifth and sixth grades. These pupils also had a little part-song work. The lives of the composers have been sketched briefly in the seventh and eighth grade room and the students have been practicing harmony. To aid the pupils in their study of music, their teacher taught them a music game which is played something like "Bingo". This game proved to be a great success.

On April 24, the music division of the school presented a program including all the musical work covered this year. Besides the band and Glee Clubs, various groups and soloist entertained. All the grades participated in this event.

Up to the time of his departure to Randolph Field, Texas, for further study in aeronautics, Mr. Roberts was the music instructor. From that date on, Mrs. Betenbender, a former teacher of Coggon High, took his place. Miss Spieth and Mrs. Hungerford were the pianists for all public appearances sponsored by the school. Miss Spieth was also the accompanist for Glee Club rehearsals.

THE EVERGREEN

The "Evergreen" is the official school newspaper published by the students of Coggon High School. The first issue appeared in 1922 and the "Evergreen" has been published successfully for nineteen consecutive school years. The publication of the "Evergreen" is not a profit-making business venture, although it has never operated with a deficit. Its main purpose is to give the students, who write and edit it, valuable experience in English and Journalism, and to help them to lay a foundation for office work. In 1937-38 the "Evergreen" ranked second in the National Scholastic Press Association and has repeatedly ranked among the top the other years. This proves the quality of work that is put into it by the students in its publication.

The paper is published every three weeks by twenty-five staff members under the supervision of the editor-in-chief, Tony Trefz, and the faculty advisors, Miss Harriet Schneider and Supt. J. B. Hungerford. The paper prints reports of all school activities, sports, news of alumni and faculty, and other things which concern the school and its educational program. All material is written by the students. After the articles are handed in, they are proof read by the editor or the faculty advisor. The pages are then planned by the editor, dummies are typed, stencil cut, and the illustrations drawn. The "Evergreen" is then ready to go to press, that is, to be mimeographed. Coggon is one of the few schools who print their own school newspaper.

The expenses of publishing the "Evergreen" are defrayed by advertising and subscription sales. The cost of the ads is $2.50 for two column inches per year and a dollar per column inch extra over two inches. Nearly all ads are two column inch ads. Approximately thirty column inches of advertising space are sold each year, netting a yearly income of over thirty-five dollars.

Subscription sales for 1941-42 totaled 140 at fifty cents per year. Coggon exchanges its "Evergreen" with fifteen other schools in the state for their publications. Fourteen advertisers also receive the paper. This makes a total of nearly 170 subscribers who receive the "Evergreen".

At the beginning of each school year, a subscription contest is sponsored by the editorial staff. The three losing classes give the winning class a party which is an all high school affair held in the gym.

The assistant editor and staff for the "Evergreen" is chosen by the faculty advisors and the editor-in-chief at the beginning of each school year. The assistant editor becomes editor-in-chief the following year. All members of the staff who have worked diligently for three years receive a letter in recognition of their time and effort.

The graduation seniors publish the last issue of the "Evergreen" in the school year. Every senior has a job to do in this issue. The assistant editor with a picked stall of lower classmen publishes the next to the last issue.

DRAMATICS

DECLAMATORY

Twenty girls and six boys were presented in declamatory work this year. Such an interest in this work has not been shown for several years.

Sixteen students signed for humorous, five for dramatic and five for oratorical. The first contest was given before the assembly and all but three contestants in each division were eliminated. The winners of this contest are as follows:--Oratorical Division: Marvin Boss, Winifred Hamblin, and Donald Trefz; Dramatic; Lenore Long, Virginia Merritt, and Dora Trefz; Humorous: Hal Haines, Ruth Honz, and Gail Wenger.

The final home declamatory contest was given several days later and those winning first ratings were: Oratorical--Donald Trefz; Dramatic--Dora Trefz; and Humorous--Ruth Honz.

GIRL'S BASKETBALL

First Row: Came, Betty Henderson, Boss, Trefz, R. O'Reagan.
 Second Row: Scott, Petrick, Ayers, Supt. Coach Hungerford, Iris O'Reagan, C. Henderson, Belva Henderson.

Girls' basketball was started in Coggon in the year of 1940-1941, under the direction of J. B. Hungerford. Mr. Hungerford has a record of long standing as a girls' basketball coach and referee. He began building the team by drilling the girls on the fundamental principles of basketball--passing, pivoting, and handling the ball well. A regular squad of twelve girls was selected for regular practice. The girls had an unsuccessful season as far as winning was concerned, but they gained in valuable experience.

Thirty-six girls came out for basketball at the beginning of the '41-'42 season, and eighteen girls were selected for regular practice. The girls began to show more favorably in their games this year. Even against more experienced competition they made a showing.

Good sportsmanship and clean playing is the teams aim. Win or lose, the girls are ready to finish a game with a yell for their opponents. Real interest has been shown in girls' basketball--by the school students and the crowd attending the games as well as the girls themselves. Next year a different group of girls will play basketball but the team will continue to improve and grow, no matter what players are gone or what changes must be made.

BASKETBALL CLINIC

Teams from other schools, basketball officials, and a large crowd of basketball enthusiasts attended the basketball clinic held at Coggon, November 22. In the afternoon, the squad of A. I. B. players from Davenport and the A. I. C. players from Des Moines gave demonstrations of offensive and defensive playing and exercises used in their training. Olin's team also demonstrated offensive and defensive playing. This was followed by discussion of girls' basketball rules by basketball officials.

In the evening, the A. I. B. girls defeated the A. I. C. team in a close, exciting game. At the half, the score was 24 to 19 in favor of A. I. B. and the final score was 40 to 36, also in their favor.

Morley defeated Coggon in the second game of the evening, 30 to 12. Barker scored most of the field goals for Coggon. Switzer was high point player for Morley.

The basketball clinics held in Coggon have created a great deal of interest in girls' basketball here, and have brought to the people a better understanding of the game.

Buck Creek January 10-42

Coggon was handicapped in the Buck Creek game by the loss of several players. At the half the score was 9 to 20 in Buck Creek's favor. In the second half the girls continued to play hard but lost to Buck Creek 20 to 38.

Troy Mills January 17-42

SCHOOL DAYS

Central City January 23-42

With a good deal of fighting spirit and hard playing, the Coggon girls came out of the Central City game victorious. In the first half only one field goal was scored for Central City. They made a large per cent of their free shots, however. The score at the half was 9 to 12 in Coggon's favor. Trefz scored 20 points for Coggon and Reithenrath and Henderson made several good field goals. The final score was, Coggon 43, and Central City 38.

BOY'S BASKETBALL

First Row: Reeves, Barker, Hunter, Trefz, Marburger, DeLancey.
Second Row; Coach Buell, Mills, Butschi, Knight, Burnside, Henderson, and Robinson.

Coggon v.s. Ely

This was the season's opener with only two regulars from last year. The Green Rockets out-played and out-scored the Ely five to a tune of 19-2 at half time. Tony Trefz starred by outplaying Ely's center and Sam Reeves was high scorer by collecting 12 points. The final score at the end of the game was 35-17. Netolicky of Ely scored sixteen of the seventeen points made by his team.

Coggon v.s. Quasqueton

On Dec. 6, the Rockets journeyed to Quasqueton for their first game away. There they defeated "Quasky" on "Quasky's" floor in a sizzling game 13-12. The game was nip-n-tuck throughout with Hollis Hunter making five points to come out on the top as high scorer.

SCHOOL DAYS

Coggon v.s. Central City

The Green Rockets were out for two things that night, revenge and to defeat their old rivals. The Coggon quintet rolled over the Central City players for another victory, this time 31-22. Wayne DeLancy, substitute in first and second half, scored nine points for high point man.

Coggon v.s. Troy Mills

For the fourth consecutive victory of the season the Green Rockets subdued the Troy Mills quintet 39-20. Sam Reeves came back for the second time this year to be high point man with 15 points. The game was well in the hands of Coggon players at the tip off, raising a first quarter score of 18-5.

Coggon v.s. Alburnett

Hard luck prevailed that night when the Alburnett team overwhelmed the boys on Alburnett's floor 19-11. Points in the first half were as scarce as red flannels in Florida for both teams. But the boys came back with more spirit in the second half and scored seven points. Harold Marburger was high point with seven points.

Coggon v.s. Delhi

They say lightning never strikes twice in the same place. But that doesn't hold true when Coggon was defeated for the second time this year 27-19 on its own floor. Harold Marburger, Tony Trefz, and Hollis Hunter shared the greatest per cent of the points respectively: Harold, 6, Tony, 5, and Hollis was close behind with 4.

Coggon v.s. Buck Creek

After two defeats the Rockets left their own floor and went to Buck Creek. There they swamped the Buck Creek five 29-22. The game was a little rough throughout, with Tony Trefz and Hollis Hunter going out in the fourth quarter via the foul route. Harold Marburger clicked for 14 points.

Coggon v.s. Troy Mills

The Green Rockets subdued the Troy Mills team for the second victory over them this year. In this game the boys on the bench got their chance to play. Tony Trefz cut the nets for 13 points.

SCHOOL DAYS

Coggon v.s. Toddville

Out to rake up another victory with two defeats already on the list. The Rockets journeyed to Toddville for the eighth game of the season. At the tip off the boys got down to business and turned up a score of 20-12 at half time. With a fourth quarter rally Toddville turned on the heat and defeated the Rockets 38-33. Harold Marburger was high with 9 points.

Coggon v.s. Central City

For the first time this year the players came home with a double header victory. The boys defeated their old rival 39-20, for the second time this year. The game was played on Central City's floor and Tony Trefz came through as high point man with 11 points. The girls' team won by a score of 33-43.

Coggon v.s. Alburnett

Having been defeated by Alburnett once before earlier in the season by 19-11 the boys were out for revenge. The Rockets got in their old stride again and defeated the Alburnett quintet 23-12. Harold Marburger came out ahead for high point man with twelve points.

Coggon v.s. Buck Creek

After gaining revenge on Alburnett, the Rockets next subdued the Buck Creek five by a score of 37-28. Harold Marburger again captured the honors of being high point man by dropping in 19 points, the highest number he had collected in any one game this year.

Coggon v.s. Hopkinton

After a brief rest the Green Rockets locked horns with Hopkinton. The game was tied in last minutes of the fourth quarter until Hopkinton came through with a last minuterally and defeated the Coggon Quintet 23-28. Harold Marburger flicked in nine points for high point man. The seconds were defeated 11-7 in their first game of the year. Duane Mills was high with 3 points.

Coggon v.s. Mt. Vernon

For the first game for Coggon in the Linn County Tournament, the Rockets journeyed to Springville to play Mt. Vernon. Hard luck prevailed and the Rockets lost with the score standing at the sound of the gun, 26-32. The chances of winning seemed brighter in the middle of the third quarter when the Rockets led Mt. Vernon four points, but it just wasn't our night to win. Wayne DeLancey and Harold Marburger tied for high point man with 9 points each.

SCHOOL DAYS

Coggon v.s. Viola

The Rockets played a tough, rangy team from Viola with the game being nip-n-tuck throughout. With the score standing 25-26 in favor of Viola until the last 30 seconds of the game, when Harold Marburger dropped in a perfect one-hand shot to defeat Viola 27-26. Harold was high with 16 points. The seconds were defeated 23-16 with D. Robinson and E. Knight collecting 8 points apiece.

Coggon v.s. Center Point

In the last game of the season before the Sectional Tournament the Coggon quintet was defeated by Center Point 22-28. Although they were second in the Linn County Tournament the Rockets made them work for every point they made. Harold Marburger was high with 10 points. The Coggon seconds won their last game by a close score of 10-9.

Coggon v.s. Delhi

In the first game of the Sectional Tournament at Monticello the Rockets draw Delhi. One by one Coggon got revenge by defeating the teams that had defeated them earlier in the season, so they were out for the same reason that night, with every player having a hot streak that smothered Delhi 42-18. Harold Marburger was high point man with 15 points.

Coggon v.s. Anamosa

After their victory over Delhi the Rockets returned to Monticello Saturday night to play Anamosa. But hard luck prevailed that night and the tables were turned. The Rockets were defeated by a tough, smooth passing Raider quintet, 18-53. Wayne DeLancey was high point man with nine points.

* * * * *

The 1942-43 season should be a successful one. Only Hollis Hunter and Donald Trefz were lost from the starting quintet. Other seniors on the squad were Howard Burnside and Edwin Knight. Charles Barker, Harold Marburger, Clement Reeves, and Wayne DeLancey, are regulars that will return next year. Substitutes which have shown promise are Jack Henderson, Willie Butschi, and Duane Mills. Mr. Buell, our present coach, plans to join the air corps as soon as school lets out. The number of games next year will be limited, but let's give the new coach and team that represent Coggon High School our most loyal support.

SCHOOL DAYS

Baseball for the 1941-42 season was called the first week of school under a new coach, Mr. Buell. The returning battermen were: Charles Barker, Harold Marburger, Clement Reeves, Everett Knott, and Hollis Hunter. Many freshmen and sophomores reported for practice and became regulars. The team consisted of Barker, O'Hara, Knott, DeLancey, Marburger, Reeves, Hunter, Henderson, and Butchi.

Troy Mills vs. Coggon

Barker pitched Coggon to a 12-0 victory over Troy Mills in the first game of the season. Barker, Knott, and O'Hara led the hitters.

Center Point vs. Coggon

Combining murderous hitting with superb pitching Coggon trounced Center Point 13-1 on the local diamond. Knott took the batting honors hitting a home run to center field.

Ely vs. Coggon

Ely was Barker's second shutout victim of the year, 12-0. Hunter, Marburger, and Barker led the hitting.

SCHOOL DAYS

Buck Creek vs. Coggon

In another romp "The Rockets" pounded Buck Creek, 14-1. Fine fielding by Butchi was a feature of the game.

Center Point vs. Coggon

Center Point fell by the wayside for the second time during the season. The big bats of Coggon were fairly throttled until the last two innings, when Coggon went on a hitting barrage to win 14-2.

Buck Creek vs. Coggon

Over-confidence almost defeated "The Rockets" in the final game of the fall campaign, but fine hurling by Barker won the game, 2-1.

Central City vs. Coggon

In the first game of the spring schedule "The Rockets" learned the taste of defeat. In an eight inning tussel Central City won 1-0.

Ryan vs. Coggon

Coggon defeated Ryan 7-0 on the local diamond. Lefty Perry, during the spring season, Ryan completely baffled pitching a no-hitter.

Troy Mills vs. Coggon

Perry defeated Troy Mills 8-5 in his second start for Coggon. Many errors in the field were chalked against each team.

Central City vs. Coggon

In the final pre-tournament game of the spring season, Central City walloped "The Rockets" 13-7. Miscues in both the infield and outfield aided the opponents in gaining runs.

Sectional Tournament

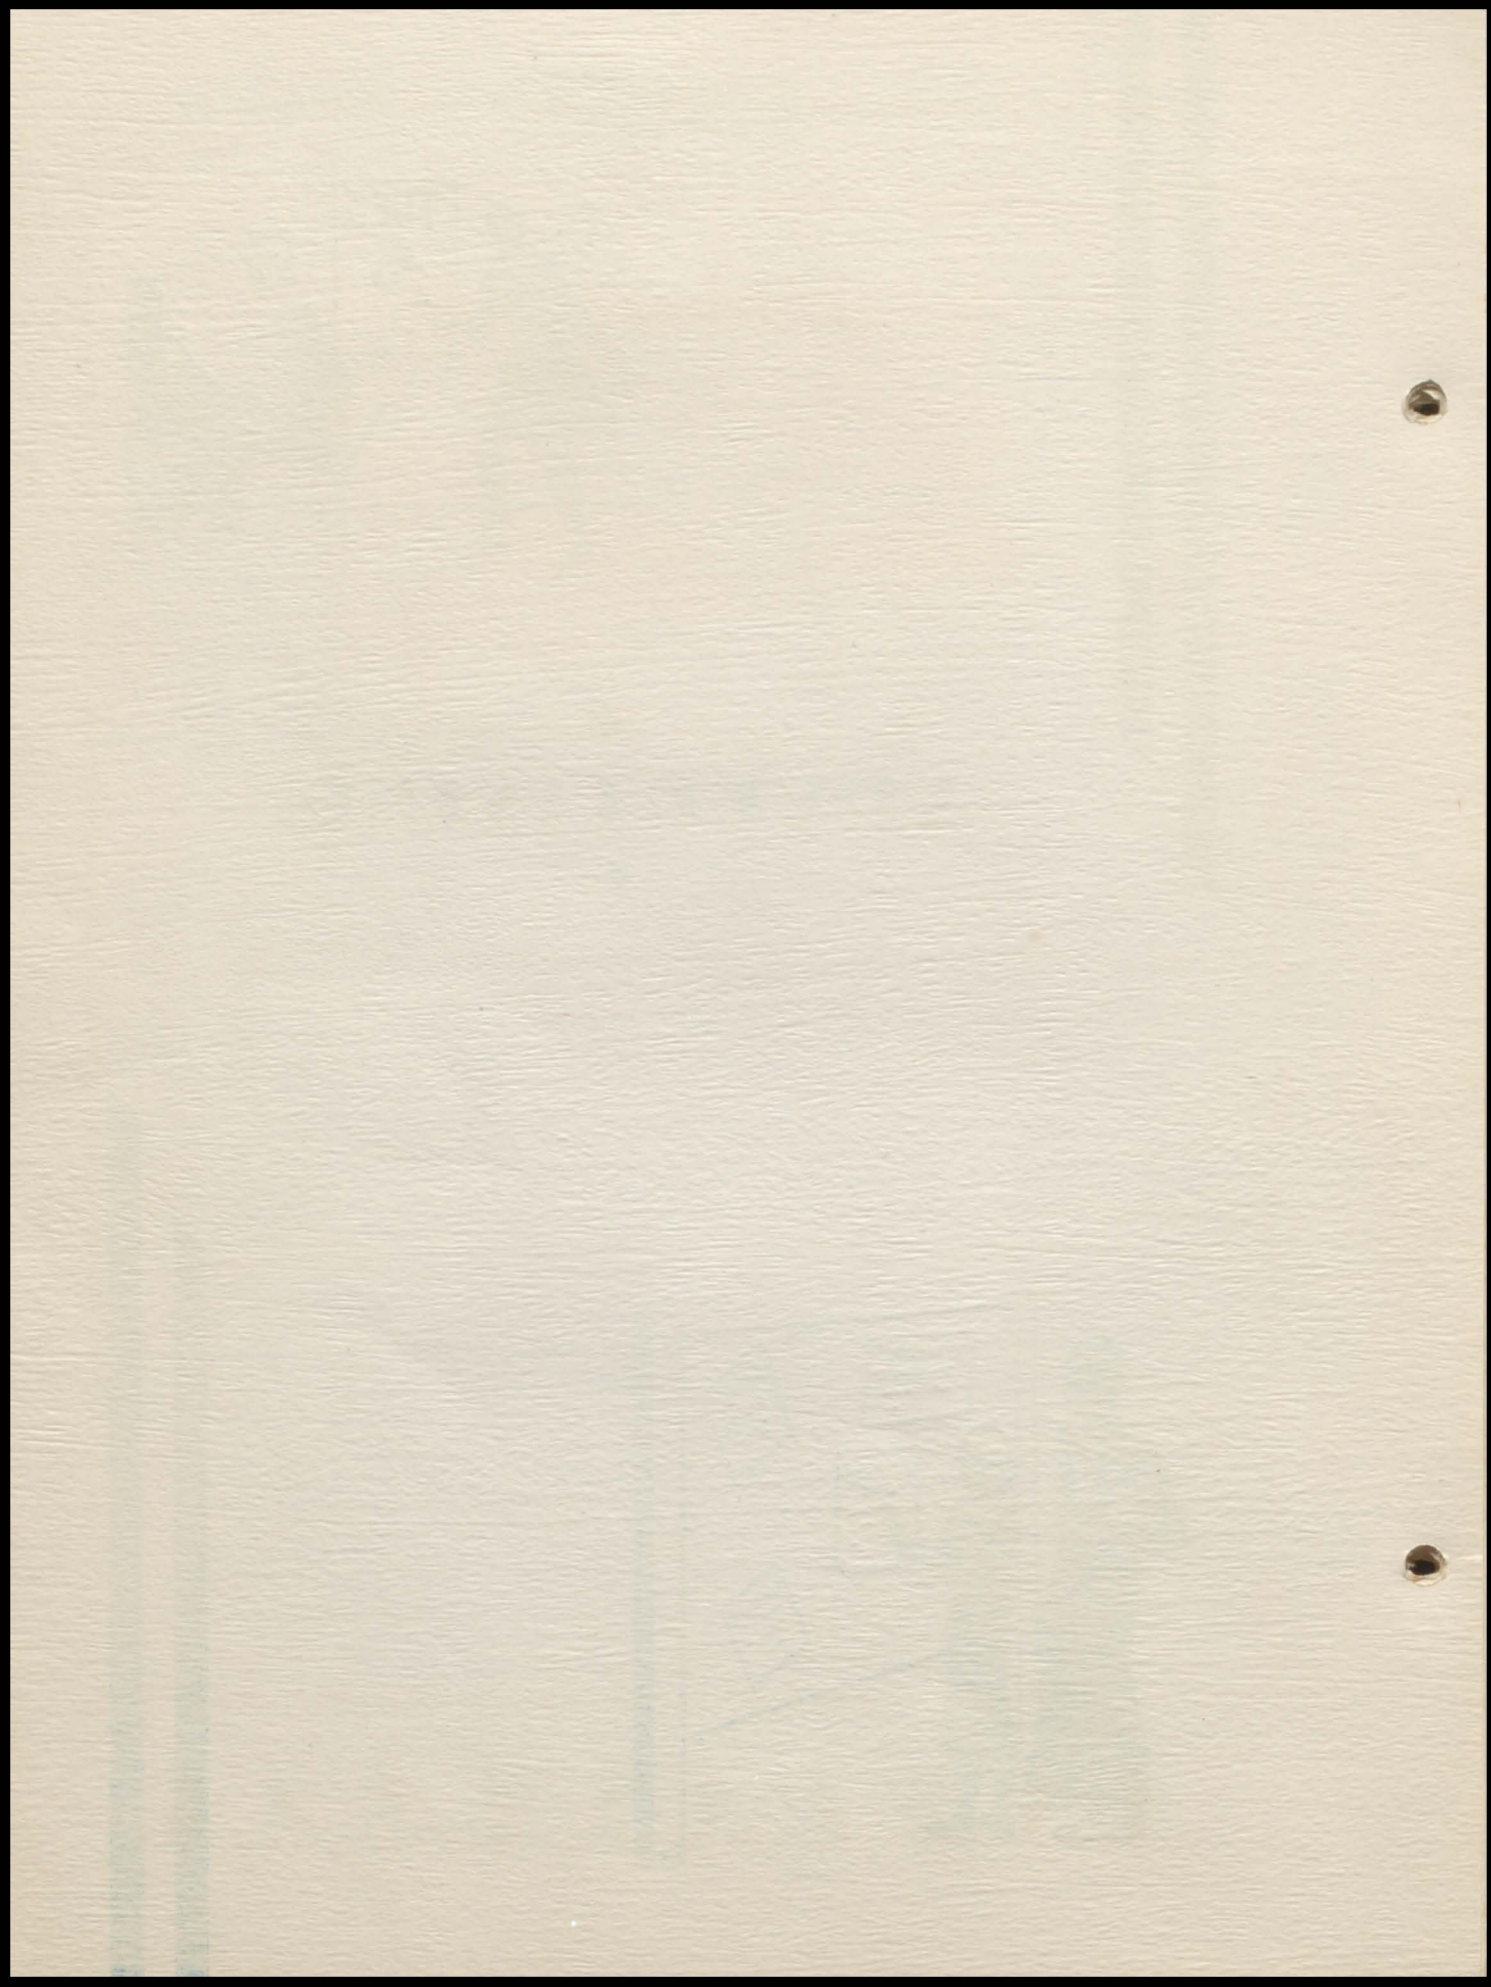

Springville defeated Coggon 16-10 in a slugfest on the Marion diamond. Cooper and Reed were outstanding hitters for Springville while Coggon team divided batting honors.
