Indian Livestock, Dairy and Fisheries Market

Livestock

- World's largest livestock population, with over 535 million animals.
- With market size valued at US$ 120 billion in 2020.
- Expected to grow at a CAGR of 7.5% during 2021-2026.
- Key driver for India's agriculture sector growth. The growth is due to the increasing demand for animal protein and the rise of animal husbandry as a means of livelihood for rural communities.

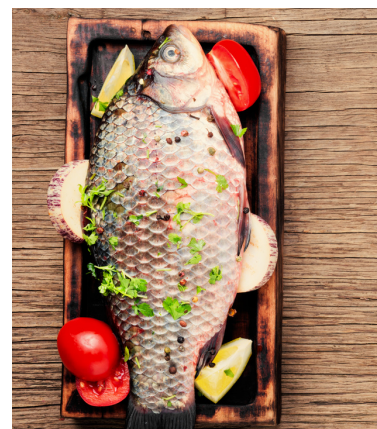

Dairy

- World's largest producer and consumer of milk.
- Dairy is the single largest agricultural commodity contributing 5% of the national economy.
- Market size valued at US$ 140 billion in 2020.
- Expected to grow at a CAGR of 15.6% during 2021-2026.
- Export of dairy products recorded growth of 19.45% in financial year 2022 - 2023
- The growth is due to the increasing demand for dairy, products, urbanization, disposable income and the government's initiatives to promote dairy farming and improve milk productivity.

Fisheries

- World's second-largest producer of fish employing over 14 million people.
- Market size valued at US$ 26 billion in 2020.
- Expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.3% during 2021-2026.
- The growth is due to the increasing demand for seafood, availability of resources, government initiatives, modern fishing techniques, and aquaculture development.
