When John the Baptist heard in prison of the works of the Christ, he sent his disciples to Jesus with this question, “Are you the one who is to come, or should we look for another?”

Jesus said to them in reply, “Go and tell John what you hear and see: the blind regain their sight, the lame walk, lepers are cleansed, the deaf hear, the dead are raised, and the poor have the good news proclaimed to them. And blessed is the one who takes no offense at me.”

As they were going off, Jesus began to speak to the crowds about John, “What did you go out to the desert to see? A reed swayed by the wind?

Then what did you go out to see? Someone dressed in fine clothing?

Those who wear fine clothing are in royal palaces.

Then why did you go out? To see a prophet?

Yes, I tell you, and more than a prophet.

This is the one about whom it is written:

Behold, I am sending my messenger ahead of you; he will prepare your way before you.

Amen, I say to you, among those born of women there has been none greater than John the Baptist; yet the least in the kingdom of heaven is greater than he.”

Discussion Points:

When John the Baptist was imprisoned, why do you suppose he may have sent one of his disciples to ask that question of Jesus? Was it for reassurance? Out of fear?

It’s hard to remember with everything that happens in the Gospels, that nowhere in the Bible does it mention John the Baptist seeing for himself any of the miracles Jesus had performed. Do you suppose there was doubt in John’s mind?

How do you suppose the people who were being healed would react? If you were healed by Jesus and he told you to keep silent and “tell no one” as he often did, would you? Could you?

Pray on this for today:
that you believe God is working miracles in your life
and the lives of those around you, even when you’ve
not seen them yourself.
