

Anti-Christian Movement in the USA

Just recently a pastor at a Catholic Church in PA, was barred from posting an article to the church's Facebook Page. The reason? It referenced abortion. This is a post to the congregation of the church. Yet Facebook declared it was against the THEIR Community Standards on SPAM. Yes, Facebook determined that a Catholic Pastor could not promote the teaching of the Catholic Church to his parishioners. How is this not censoring not only free speech, but religious doctrine?

Now there is no surprise to this type of censorship by Google, Twitter and Facebook as are all against conservative thought and the Catholic Church is not only a thorn in the side of secular-only thought, but Marxism as well. This action though is over the top. This pastor has been able to post other articles for the congregation to read, but this particular one strikes at the Holy Grail of the liberal social media and press – unabated abortion.

Now granted the principals of this site are Catholic and took particular grievance to this action. Not because of abortion, but due to the censoring of religious doctrine. Quite frankly the only time the subject of abortion comes up in our world is the media publishing some mantra to keep the subject relevant, when it is not. Abortion should be between the parents and the doctor. It may be necessary to save the life of the mother, as she may have other children to care for, or the pregnancy is due to rape. Make the painful decision early in the pregnancy, but do not expect taxpayers to pay the medical expenses. Let the pro-abortionist create a trust fund for those that elect the procedure.

The war on religion, Christianity and Jews, is rising not only in this country, but around the world. Notice Facebook does not shutdown Muslim websites and the Muslim religion is not pro-abortion. Ever wonder why? This anti-Christian and anti-Jewish sentiment is real in this country, but a majority of the people, probably some fellow Catholics, will not acknowledge it.

Frankly it is our church leadership, along with the Jewish Leadership Council, that has allowed this sentiment to flourish. They do not speak out, or shout at our elected leaders or advertise in the public arena. Publishing in Catholic newspapers and magazines is like telling the pope sin is not good.

This lack of standing up to the haters has eroded the active enrollment and participation in our faith. The sex scandal by Catholic priests definitely did not help. When kids go off to college, they do not have a strong enough sense of value of the faith to withstand the barrage of crap from professors. Many wandered away from church during their young years but returned once they married and had children. This is not so anymore.

We have heard millennials pushback on the church as they see the church tolerating political leaders, who claim they are practicing Catholics, but promote anti-Catholic legislation. Why bother having rules or doctrine if the elite are harbored from discipline? This very point was raised with a NY Cardinal and quite frankly he said it was not his problem. The Bishop in Philadelphia was more egalitarian in his response.

Now we have a Supreme Court Justice Nominee who is Catholic. In 2017 Sen. Feinstein (D-CA) said Judge Barret was not eligible to be an Appellate Judge because she fervently practiced her religion. Yet Joe Biden and Nancy Pelosi are Catholics, thus they must not fervently practice their religion. There are laws against discrimination on the basis of religion. It is against the law to hire using religion as part of a litmus test. The hypocrisy overflows from the liberal politicians.

The Catholics, Christians, Jews and Muslims need to band together to ensure the First Amendment is kept intact. Yes, there is separation of Church and State, but the First Amendment is to protect religious freedom, especially from the government. If they do not vocalize their concerns to Congress, we may all lose our freedom. If there are any doubters, just look at how state governors treated religious institutions versus commercial and sporting events. The churches agreed to the governors' request for lockdown early in the pandemic to help flatten the curve to avoid overwhelming hospitals. But after 15-30 days, they should have gone back to holding their services. Our rights should never again be surrendered, even during a pandemic, as you cannot trust the government to give them back. We are six months into the pandemic, with lower infections and deaths, and people are being arrested, yes arrested, for attending church. CA just ruled only one person at a time in a Church! Nuts! Right?

Beware of who you vote into office, regardless of party. But this time around it appears the liberal democratic governors went power crazy and acted without thought of citizens' constitutional rights. Yes, this is the same democratic party that moved Japanese Americans from their homes to camps during WWII. So do not think it could not happen again. Think Green New Deal zealots.

We were never in favor of politics from the pulpit as is done in many churches, but as a religious community we are losing. Losing in terms of not only Catholic, Jewish or Evangelical Christian followers, but losing on our country's sense of moral values. It is okay in this country to support both sides of an opinion, but we are being censored to cancel our existence. Do not look to the so-called Main Street Media for support as they are tone deaf to any position that does not advance the socialist/ Marxist movement.

Where is Bishop Sheen or Billy Graham when you need them?
