

Beyond the Bloom

Finding Beauty in Foliage

When you think of foliage, you probably picture green leaves. But foliage comes in a rainbow of color and offers long-lasting variety to your garden. In fact, an all-foliage garden can have as much impact and appeal as any other garden. Whether you are planning an all-foliage garden or looking to add lush texture to your landscape, here are some stunning foliage plants to consider:

Foliage Plants for Texture

- Grasses
- Ferns
- Japanese maples
- Sumac
- Lavender

Foliage Plants for Form

.....

- Ajuga
- Artemisia
- Elephant ear
- Hosta
- Ninebark

Foliage Plants for Color

.....

- Canna
- Chameleon plant
- Coleus
- Heuchera

Caladium

For the best effect, plant caladiums in groups. They look spectacular and help support each other.

Heuchera

In addition to foliage, heuchera produces blooms. Deadhead flower spikes once they start to fade.
