

Molico Launches Business Flyer Website

Molico has today announced the official launch of businessflyer.com.au - a website aimed at informing business and luxury air travellers.

With an Australian focus, the website aims to provide information and opportunities for air travellers to become educated about carriers, reward programs, destinations and services on offer to support their jet set lifestyle and needs.

Mike Johnson, Group CEO Molico said:

“Molico is proud to announce the next step in supporting the broader aviation industry, through the launch of the businessflyer.com.au website, to assist in better informing air travellers into, across and out of, Australia. This will be the first step in Molico’s efforts to inform a market segment, so that they too, can make informed decisions, just like our corporate clients.”

There is no charge to consumers for accessing the website and potential advertisers are welcome to enquire about placing paid advertising by sending an email to sales@molico.com.au.

The Business Flyer website can be found at www.businessflyer.com.au
