Animal Healing

We weren't sure if it was even possible to heal animals so we decided to find out using Resonance Testing. The results surprised us and led us into a journey of discovery about their souls, levels of consciousness, chakras and how we can heal them.

Do Animals Have Souls?

Interestingly we got a negative and positive answer to this question: It turns out that only some animals have souls. After much testing, we found out that only mammals have souls. Birds, fish, reptiles and insects don't have souls. We questioned this result since we thought that we are all created from consciousness and it turns out that, although all animals have consciousness, not all of them have souls.

Can we Measure Animals' Levels of Consciousness?

We discovered that it is possible to measure the levels of consciousness of animals. Those animals that don't have souls, like birds, fish, reptiles and insects, test between 0-4. Birds test between 2-3; fish test between 1-2; reptiles between 0-2 and insects 0-1. Where it gets interesting is when we test the levels of consciousness of mammals. The table below shows our Resonance Test results for various mammals.

Domestic Animals	Level of Consciousness	Wild Animals	Level of Consciousness
Dog	312	Gorilla	232
Pig	195	Chimpanzee	232
Cow	153	Dolphin	223
Cat	126	Whale	223
Horse	74	Porpoise	214
Donkey	72	Monkey	214
Guinea Pig	34	Elephant	200
Rabbit	34	Antelope	42
Hamster	34	Zebra	42
Gerbil	32	Kangaroo	32
Mouse	32	Wolf	17
Rat	32	Hippopotamus	14
Sheep	22	Rhinosuarus	14
Goat	22	Lion / Tiger	12

Can Animals' Levels of Consciousness Increase?

This tested positive. We also discovered that the maximum an animal will reach during the ascension is level 500 (the level of love). Currently the highest level of consciousness held by any animal is 312, held by a dog. We have also observed that animals levels of consciousness can increase during our sessions.

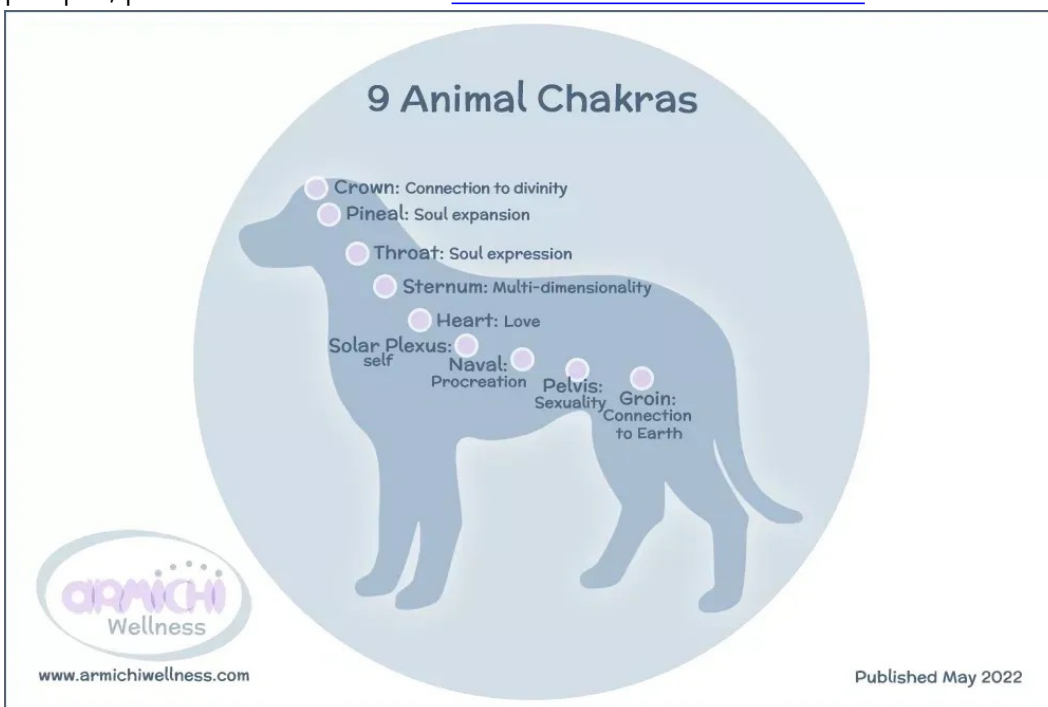

Do Animals Have Chakras?

When we were first asked to heal animals we wanted to create a healing template that would provide the most effective and beneficial healing. Since our Energy Boost sessions are so popular we initially thought that an animal healing based on the Energy Boost template would be best. That then led to the question: do animals have chakras? We tested and got both a negative and positive result. Further tests revealed that only animals with souls have chakras.

How Many Chakras Do Animals Have?

The next question to be answered was how many chakras do animals have. We discovered through our Resonance Testing that they have 9 chakras. Then we wanted to know which chakras they have and found that they have all of the ones we humans do, except the below heart (connection with all humanity), the pituitary (soul growth) and the hypothalamus chakra (wisdom). For more about the chakras in people, please see our article: The Chakras: All 12 of Them!.

Can We Heal Animals? Yes and No!

We discovered that we cannot heal all animals; only those with souls. So our healings can only help mammals, who are the only animals with souls. We cannot heal birds, fish, reptiles or insects. This makes sense when you understand the nature of our healings, which are soul to soul. We typically use a photograph to tune into the soul and enter into a meditative state where all communication is soul to soul, without interference or distortion from ego. For animals without a soul, there is nothing for us to connect with.

How We Heal Animals

Our Pet and Animal Healing template has been created slightly differently from our Armichi Method Healing template, under guidance from the divine.

Some aspects remain the same, such as levels of consciousness, discordant frequencies, hydration, nutrients, sunlight and then we have added cell toxicity.

The other difference is that we look at the systems, such as circulatory, respiratory, digestive, nervous system. We test all of these before and after the healings so we can monitor progress.

How We Heal Animal Focus Areas

Then next part of the healing is the same as for the Armichi Method Healings. This is where we look at the focus areas that you have raised (typically these would be physical symptoms or behaviour) and then test to discover the underlying vibrational match(es). Once the vibrational match or matches are found, we test to discover the resonance of these vibrations in the Layers, Timelines, Pastlives and Dimensions both before and after the healings.

How We Integrate Discordant Frequencies in Animals

So for example you may tell us that your pet is itching and we may discover that the vibrational matches for this symptom is irritation and stress. We then do two healings.

We neutralise and delete the vibrations, frequencies, connections, chords, energy imprints, memories, information and physical manifestations of and to irritation and return and integrate with the love light. Then we repeat for stress. You may tell us about 3 or 4 symptoms and each one is tested to determine the vibrational match(es) and integrations are performed for all.

We Ask Your Animal's Soul What They Want

The final parts of the healing are also the same as for the Armichi Method Healings where we ask your pet on a soul to soul basis what they need. This is a beautiful part of the healing and often reveals really deep information that helps you to understand your pet better.

We Infuse Your Animal with 12th Dimensional Healing Frequency

Lastly, we consolidate the healing at the new vibrational set point, connect all cells with an infinite supply of water and nutrients from consciousness, flood the cells with sunlight. We then infuse the whole with a 12th dimensional frequency that we were have been told can be referred to as New-Me-Heal and that can be described as a mercurial light of gold-diamond hue that has a really powerful transformative effect. Please see our article Revealing not Healing (to be published) for more information about New-Me-Heal.
