History of the Log Cabin Quilt

- Wide-spread appearance in the United States in the 1860s during the time of the Civil War. The block name may very well have had a connection to the presidency of Abraham Lincoln.
- The Log Cabin quilt became wildly popular and was identified with the pioneer spirit and values of America. Earlier version contained wool, satin, and other variety of fabric.
- In traditional Log Cabin blocks, one half is made of dark fabrics and the other half light.
- A red center symbolized the hearth of home and a yellow center represented a welcoming light in the window.
- Anecdotal evidence, based on oral folklore, suggests that during the Civil War, a Log Cabin quilt with a black center hanging on a clothesline was meant to signal a stop for the Underground Railroad.
- Now days there are numerous variations of the Log Cabin Block.
