

STACEY for WISCONSIN

Paid for by Stacey for Wisconsin

Recently on X, formerly known as Twitter, Senator Tammy Baldwin provided one of her most obtuse and glaring contradictory statements about children, this time cloaking her obvious distaste for the nuclear family under the veil of kids deserving “the freedom to just be kids, play sports, and get the health care they need...” These few words speak volumes about how out of touch Tammy is with Wisconsin, with Americans, and most obvious, with families. There is much to unpack here, so buckle up!

Most families would agree and I am proud to fight alongside them, that the freedom to just be kids and sexualizing them in early elementary school are polar opposites and shouldn't even be in the same conversation. Sexualizing kids is such a gross and serious crime that Wisconsin as well as every other state has codified protections for minors. Those monsters that violate this are punished and even have to register for their crimes. Some, myself included, even feel strongly that the punishment should go further.

Certainly, child development professionals will tell moms and dads that kid curiosity about their bodies, especially as they change, is a natural part of a kid's growth and development. These same professionals will encourage parents to have an honest and open dialogue with their kids about these changes because of a fundamental lack of understanding on the kid's part, from not knowing what to expect, not fully grasping the concept of these permanent change they are experiencing, and making sure that both children and parents prepare for the emotional roller coaster ride that is puberty.

This naturally begs the question, how can a kid possibly know enough about this to make an informed decision that is life-altering, certainly body-altering, is nothing short of full-on mutilation? Youth do not have the ability to make adult decisions about finances such as taking on a loan, they may not engage in sexual relationships because of the physical and emotional consequences they simply aren't equipped to process. And they may not partake in any of the vices reserved for at least eighteen year olds and even twenty-one year olds such as smoking, drinking alcohol, even buying lottery tickets. But Tammy and her body-mutilating cheerleaders would have you believe that kids can fully understand the ramifications of chopping off body parts? I cannot believe that as I travel Wisconsin, I actually have to listen to sitting United States Senators argue for the right to take knife to the bodies of our little ones.

I am a proud mother of a fifth-grade girl. Maybe God's gift of motherhood gives me a different perspective from these butchers. I have spoken with so many across Wisconsin who just shake their heads. They share with me that this squad of “leaders” who seem to hate kids or at least get off on their destruction are so out of touch with the values of Americans and Wisconsinites. I agree one hundred percent and I feel we must work for change, and we must fight to protect those most vulnerable.

This is one more reason why I am running for the United States Senate. The utter destruction of the American family seems to be the goal of Tammy and her pal's leftist agenda. Her anti-family crusade begins with the womb, marches through childhood development, tears into girls as they compete in athletics, defines women (can Senator Baldwin even define what a woman is?) and stigmatizes them as less than when it comes to achievement and ability as young adults. I only fear where they will take their crusade next. Please join me in standing up for families, standing up for women, and fighting for your right to know what is going on in your child's life. I wish to leave you this week with a question to ponder and perhaps to ask Tammy if you see her out on her crusade to destroy women and children...Senator, how can you claim to be a feminist and support women's rights when you keep finding new ways to hate women through the things you support?

Stacey Klein, US Senate Candidate