“I HAVE A DREAM . . .”

(Copyright 1963, MARTIN LUTHER KING)

Speech by the Rev. MARTIN LUTHER KING
At the “March on Washington”

I am happy to join with you today in what will be in history as the greatest demonstration since the history of our nation.

Five score years ago a great American, Abraham Lincoln,
holistic shadow we stand today signed the Emancipation Proclamation. This momentous decree gave the light of hope to millions of Negroes who were seared in the flames of withering injustice. It came as a joyous daybreak to end the long night of their captivity.
But 100 years later the Negro still is not free. One hundred years later the life of the Negro is still sadly crippled by the manacles of segregation and discrimination. One hundred years later the Negro lives on a lonely island of poverty in the desert of material prosperity. One hundred years later the Negro is still languishing in the corners of American society and finds himself in exile in his own land. We've come here today to dramatize the urgent issue of Negro equality.

In a sense we've come to our country to cash a check. When the architects of our Republic wrote the magnificent words of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, they were signing a promissory note to every

“So I say to you, seek God and discover Him and make Him a power in your life. Without Him all of our efforts turn to ashes and our sunrises into darkest nights. Without Him, life is a meaningless drama with the decisive scenes missing. But with Him, we are able to rise from the fatigue of despair to the buoyancy of hope. With Him we are able to rise from the midnight of desperation to the daybreak of joy. St Augustine was right – we were made for God and we will be restless until we find rest in Him.

“Love yourself, if that means rational, healthy and moral self-interest. You are commanded to do that. That is the length of life. Love your neighbor as you love yourself. You are commanded to do that. That is the breadth of life. But never forget that there is a first and even greater commandment, “Love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and all thy soul and all thy mind.” This is the height of life. And when you do this you live the complete life.”

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

“LIVING THE DREAM PLEDGE”

In Honor of Dr. Martin L. King, Jr.’s life and work, I pledge to do everything I can to make America and the world a place where equality and justice, freedom and peace will grow and flourish.

On this day, I _____ (Repeat Your Name)

Commit myself to living the dream by:

Loving, Not Hating;

Showing Understanding, Not Anger;

Making Peace, Not War.

*Life is but a stopping place,
A pause in what's to be,
A resting place along the road
To sweet eternity.
We all have different journeys,
Different paths along the way,
We all were meant to learn some things,
But never meant to stay...
Our destination is a place
Far greater than we know.
For some, the journey's quicker,
For some, the journey's slow.
And when the journey finally ends,
We'll claim a great reward,
And find everlasting peace,
Together with the Lord.*

Claudette I just want to tell you how proud I am of you getting this much deserved award. You've always been there for me, you being the big sister and all, but especially when you got your first job and started to buy me all sorts of things. I remember when you bought me my first pair of trotters back in the day, I was the envy of all my friends.

There were times when you caught me wearing your clothes to school and although they were too big, my classmates always gave me compliments. Even today, you are still right by my side helping me in anyway that you can. Not only do you help me but countless others have been recipients of your generosity over the years. You have truly been a big sister!

I Will Always Love You To Life,
Your Sister Patricia!
