Clay Tippins—Candidate for Governor

Politicians talk about cutting taxes, fixing schools, improving health care, creating jobs, building roads, and protecting freedom – but where are the results? I’ve never run for office before, but I want to be your Governor because Georgia politics needs some positive disruption. I’m a common-sense conservative Republican with deep convictions. With your help, we can do this differently and build a better Georgia.

Philip Singleton—Candidate 3rd Congressional District

Politics in America are rapidly changing. For the first time in our national history, political affiliation itself is more divisive than race, religion, creed, or any singular issue. I believe that the political elites in D.C. and the entertainment media have created a polarized environment in an effort to shore up their voting and viewing audiences and to guarantee their re-election and profits. I believe it is time for an issues based approach to politics.
