We do not want to heighten or reduce your enthusiasm for the experience, but we do want you to know in advance what to expect, and to be informed of the some of the possible risks.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT OF RISK

Rock climbing, Mountaineering, White Water Rafting, Stand Up Paddle Boarding, Canoeing / Kayaking and Hiking activities can be and hazardous. The obvious accidents that occur in climbing are falling while climbing. Whenever you fall you may fall only a few feet or all the way to the ground. As you fall you may hit objects or the wall that are in your path. If the rope catches your fall the jolt from the rope may cause injury. Falling to the ground may cause serious injury from any height. In addition to the hazards of falling, objects falling off the wall may hit you. Holds, climbing equipment and even people may fall and hit you as you are standing at the base or while climbing. Equipment may fail. Climbing equipment is tested before use, however the extreme conditions of the environment in which climbing equipment is used in conjunction with the damages caused by the wall can cause climbing equipment to fail. Improper use of the equipment or not property tying in will result in injury. The climbing hold may spin or break. As you climb you may pull out protection from the wall or it may become unclipped. You will experience cuts from holding on to the holds or wall. You may also experience rope burns from handling the rope.

Swift Water and Canoeing activities has additional hazards that include but not limited to you being immersed in cold moving water, physical exhaustion and potentially violent trauma as a result of being struck by a natural object or another person. You may suffer from hypothermia due to being immersed in cold water for an extended period of time. It is important that you seek medical direction prior to taking part in high risk activities if you are currently being treated by a physician for a medical condition. Ensuring your physician is aware of your desire to participate in high risk activities is key prior to you engaging in these activities that SRG offers.

Hiking activities have known hazards such as physical exhaustion, strained muscles, blisters, as well as unknown hazards such as insect bits and stings. Larger predatory animals are also known to visit the areas in which you will be hiking, Rafting, Stand Up Paddle Boarding, Canoeing, Rock Climbing and Mountaineering within.

It is also possible that some participants would suffer mental anguish or trauma from the experience or their injuries.
