Founded in 1993, KFA is an information technology consulting and services firm that specializes in technology solutions for the Architecture, Engineering, Construction (AEC) and capital facilities industry. Since its beginning KFA has sought to distinguish itself amongst its peers by finding ways to deliver technology solutions that enable its clients to improve their business processes and accomplish their organizational goals. KFA not only knows how to deliver quality solutions to its clients but does so consistently for each new one that comes on board.

The "KFA Way" methodology has become a staple and is embraced by our staff. Whether the need is for Project Management and collaboration, Building Information Modeling, or Facility/Asset Management, KFA can be a useful partner in integrating state of the art tools into your organization.
