WEEK 19

PELICAN

Early 1990s

Pelican Man's Bird Sanctuary, Sarasota, FL

The PELICAN was first made about 20 years ago, in the early 1990s, for the Pelican Man's Bird Sanctuary in Sarasota, Florida. Dale Shields is the Pelican Man, and his sanctuary rehabilitates injured wildlife. Although all injured animals are helped, pelicans are their primary customers. (Apparently 90% of injured pelicans are hurt by fishing line.) Since its humble beginnings in 1985 when Dale Shields, the Pelican Man, rehabbed his first pelican in a bathtub, Pelican Man's Bird Sanctuary now rehabilitates upwards of 6000 animals annually. About 250 birds including hawks, gulls, egrets, owls, storks, and pelicans and other indigenous wildlife live there permanently.

OK, and here's the best part of this week's reissued souvenir - it GLOWS!

It's really hard to tell in this photo, but it glows ORANGE.

The PELICAN moldset was made in the early 1990s in Florida, for the Pelican Mans Bird Sanctuary. The engraving around the base reads: "PELICAN MANS BIRD SANCTUARY SARASOTA FL."

The PELICAN moldset was also used at the Suncoast Seabird Sanctuary.

In 2003, after two decades of work with injured and ailing birds, the Pelican Man (Dale Shields) died at the age of 75.
