Spaces for care

Cultivating spaces for care begins with creating a feeling of comfort, security, and confidence. To do this, we must support caregivers, patients, senior residents, and guests alike. For caregivers, we can foster environments of efficiency, minimize risks, and create spaces for restoration throughout the day. For others, we can foster confidence, peace, and inspiration that spur patients, residents, and guests forward.

Carolina, along with OFS' portfolio of products, helps create spaces for healing for each person in the continuum of care.

Continuum of Care

Within caregiving spaces, a delicate balance takes shape as patients, guests, residents, and caregivers consistently coexist and engage. Effectively navigating this intricate network of care demands a thoughtful approach, ensuring that every individual involved receives the support essential to elevate their overall experience. We leverage decades of expertise in comprehending human needs and crafting furniture solutions to cater to them.

Public spaces

Public spaces stand as a patient's initial encounter, often shaping their first impression and significantly influencing their perception of the entire facility. As the welcoming face of healthcare, these communal areas play a pivotal role in shaping the patient experience. Within these spaces, our furniture solutions foster a connection between users and their surroundings, allowing them to be fully present in the moment.
