Commodore's Report

Hello All,

Well, November has come and gone and hope everyone enjoyed the Thanksgiving Holiday with Family and Friends.

I would imagine most boats are up on the Hard by now and winterized but some are still afloat. Please remember to check your bilges, heaters, and ice- Eaters. Murphy's Law says that "Anything that can happen, Will Happen!" The Parade of Lights was a spectacular view of all the Boats in Middle River. The Imagination and Light designs on the boats were great to see.

In case you were not at our YCM GMM at Maryland Yacht Club, it was an Honor for me to Swear In P/C Steve Spicknall as Rear Commodore and Sharon Winterling as our Secretary to complete our Bridge and H/P/C Jerry Cramblett has graciously accepted to be our By-Law Chairperson. Again, I would like to thank all the Officers, BOG's, Delegates, and members who attended the meeting and a big thanks to Commodore Sean, IPC Carl for allowing us to have our GMM there at Maryland Yacht Club and Past First Lady Tobi for being our guest speaker.

Just a reminder that our Yacht Clubs of Maryland Annual Christmas Party is being Held on Saturday December 16th. from 11:30 – 4:30 at Laurel Racetrack. There's still time. You can still attend and pay at the door $75.00. We always have a great time, please join us. Also, soon R/C Steve will be sending out emails with more information about our Fleet Captains meeting/dinner to all the Commodores and Fleet Captains. This is a WIN, WIN for any Officer going up the line. We are trying to finalize our date, in April, for the Yacht Clubs of Maryland Commodore's Day Out.

I have sent emails out to our Commodore's to see if there was an interest in having a group TIPS Certified training class (Alcohol Awareness Training) for our members who serve or sell Alcohol. We have a Certified Trainer who is willing to have a class or multiple classes if necessary. The cost would be $50.00 pp. for class, material, and certification. Please email me at rjpope60@gmail.com if you have anyone who would like to attend.

To All my Family and Friends, I wish that December brings you Happiness, Health, Wealth, Love, and unexpected Miracles.

Thank You, God Bless

Vice Commodore's Report

The most important thing about Christmas to me is family --- getting everyone in one place for one day. I am truly fortunate to have a fantastic, loving family of 18 soon to be 19. Being with them rejuvenates and comforts me. Did you notice that when you joined a yacht club, your family got bigger? I know for sure mine did. Yacht Clubs of Maryland is an extended family that I get to spend time with having fun. Just like this weekend YCM has brought us all together for fun, good food and friendship. If you have not been to our Laurel Park Christmas Party—put it in your calendar for next year.

In February the extended family is having another fun event for a special member of our family – Our FLEET CAPTAIN. Being the new kid on the block can be overwhelming but “We got your back” – that is what families are for. At our Annual Fleet Captains Luncheon on February 4th, we will share information about the ins and outs of being a Fleet Captain and Fleetress and will let you know we are here for you whenever you need us.

As I mentioned in my last month's article, Yacht Clubs of Maryland is here 24/7/365 for our member clubs. There is no issue too small or too large that we are not willing to tackle to make things better for members of our yacht club family.

Well, I have rambled enough, time to sign off and wish all my family members a VERY MERRY CHRISTMAS, HAPPY HANNUKAH, HAPPY KWANZAA, FELIZ NAVIDA.

Rear Commodore's Report

I hope this article finds you well and full of holiday spirit. For Lady Melissa and I, this is an exciting time of year, as our girls are 11 and 8 years of age, making Christmas our time to enjoy the season through the eyes of a child..... AND also to potentially go broke over the pile of toys they have on their lists.

Attention all Commodores and Fleet Captains - PLEASE mark February 4th on your calendars. This is the date for the Annual Fleet Captain's Luncheon. 12pm start, with lunch being served at 12:30pm. This is THE DAY to have your Fleeties and Fleetresses exchange information while having a few laughs. Flyer to be distributed soon. We at YCM look forward to seeing you there!

From the Spicknall house to yours - Merry Christmas - Happy Hanukkah -Happy Kwanzaa - Happy New Year!!!

Legislative Affairs Officer's Report

Did you know the Department of Natural Resources scientists monitor Maryland's waters to determine the habitat health for fish, crabs, oysters, and other aquatic organisms. Results from the monitoring, algae blooms, and physical, biological, and chemical properties of the water. While many water samples are taken and analyzed later at a laboratory, modern instruments called water quality sondes allow for the immediate collection of some parameters.

A sonde is essentially a computer and a power supply that can be programmed to measure the current status of waterways, tell us whether they are improving or degrading, and help to assess and guide resource management and restoration actions. Information is collected on nutrient (nitrogen and phosphorus) and sediment concentrations submerged, and have a wide variety of sensors attached to it to measure different parameters such as:

- Temperature/Conductivity
- pH sensor
- Dissolved Oxygen
- Turbidity –An optical sensor
- Chlorophyll

Sondes can be deployed from a research vessel or small boat to see how parameters change in the water column from top to bottom.

For DNR's continuous monitoring projects, sondes collect data every 15 minutes. They are deployed off of piers and pilings in shallow waters, buoys in deeper water, and on a pontoon-based vertical profiler that raises and lowers the instrument in the water column. Results can be sent via cell phone telemetry and displayed in real-time on the web.

Sondes can even be deployed on a small boat using a system called DATAFLOW. As the boat travels a waterway, a pump draws water across the sensors and readings are taken every four seconds. Those spatially intensive measurements are used to create maps of surface water quality.

Learn more about DNR's monitoring and explore the data at Eyes on the Bay: eyesonthebay.dnr.maryland.gov.

Also, there is news for the fishing folks. Prompted by slumping striped bass reproduction in Maryland waters, the state Department of Natural Resources is moving to limit fishing for the popular Bay rockfish during its spawning run next spring.

On Nov. 29, DNR proposed emergency regulations that would eliminate the state's two-week trophy fishing season in early May. That's when anglers have in past years been allowed to keep one fish a day measuring 35 inches or more.

The rule would likewise bar keeping any striped bass hooked on the Susquehanna Flats at the head of the Bay in the latter half of May. It would also extend from four to six weeks a springtime prohibition on targeting striped bass—even for catch and release—from April 1 through May 15.

DNR officials said they're seeking to improve striped bass reproduction by easing the fishing pressure.

"We're asking anglers to take a break, leave the fish alone, and hopefully we'll get a good result," said Mike Luisi, associate DNR director for tidal and coastal management and science.

Known regionally as rockfish, striped bass are one of the most sought-after sport and commercial fish in the Chesapeake Bay and along the mid-Atlantic coast. They spend much of their adult lives roaming the coastal Atlantic Ocean but migrate every spring into the Bay and its tributaries to spawn in freshwater. That typically occurs in April and May.

The Bay is the primary spawning and nursery ground for 70-90 percent of the entire coastwide population of striped bass. But Maryland's annual seine survey for juvenile fish in the Bay and tidal tributaries this year found the second fewest number of recently hatched striped bass since the survey began in 1957. It is the fifth straight year of below-normal juvenile counts in the state.

Maryland's move comes as the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission, which regulates near-shore fishing along the entire East Coast, weighs a menu of other curbs on recreational and commercial fishing for striped bass that could be imposed next year.

Yacht Clubs of Maryland

Bay Breeze

DNR Secretary Josh Kurtz said Maryland's emergency regulations are intended to complement whatever the Atlantic States commission decides to do when it meets in January.

Recent research suggests striped bass spawning may be suffering from environmental factors, including warmer than usual winters and low river flows because of reduced precipitation. But DNR officials say they're proposing curbs on fishing-related mortality in hopes they will improve the odds for a rebound in spawning.

Protocol Matters By Joe Hellner Introduction Protocol Pointers

Recently, I responded to a member question about who should represent their club at a Commodores Ball. Below are some useful pointers on introduction protocols.

Currently serving officers and Board Members (appointed and elected) always outrank persons with “Past” titles.

Elected officers rank higher than appointed officers. For example, the Chesapeake Commodores Club at openings introduces the elected officers in order of rank then the appointed officers in order of rank. Board Members (if introduced) follow the officers in precedence.

The IP/C is a voting Board Member per most club bylaws, but usually lines up as the last P/C introduced (The tradition of going from first to last). However, the IP/C may be introduced as a serving Board Member (in the appropriate place in line), if desired.

All that said, the order of introduction depends on the situation (i.e., highest rank first or highest rank last).

Highest honor is always the last introduced, so hosts are always introduced after visitors. Hosts at balls, openings, and other events start with the P/Cs and work up to the highest rank. The IP/C starts off as the lowest rank. At Balls, the IP/C is introduced first (after the M/C) to assume the watch for the last time to receive salutes and be honored for his or her term of service. This approach also allows the Commodore the highest honor of being introduced last, usually to cheers and a standing ovation by all present.

At openings, for practical reasons, the Commodore is introduced first (after the M/C) to receive visitors on behalf of the club. The lowest to highest rank order is then followed when it is time for the host club officials to be introduced.

At openings, the visitors are “in formation,” so their ranking officer introduces them in highest to lowest order.

As an example of how the protocols apply, an appointed officer (e.g., Chaplain, Fleet Surgeon, Sail Fleet Captain, etc.), as a currently serving official, outranks a P/C from a protocol standpoint. Therefore, the F/S should represent.

A potential point of confusion is that if your bylaws designate the IP/C as a voting Board member then that person is also a serving official. However, officers (appointed or elected) outrank Board Members, so again the appointed officer should represent.

Till next time, see you around the Bay!
