From the Desk of VACJE President Martin Greenberg The Importance of Criminal Justice and the VACJE

Last May, the students, family members, faculty, and friends attending the commencement program at Russell Sage College had the opportunity to see and hear Eddie S. Glaude Jr., PhD, the James S. McDonnell Distinguished Princeton University Professor and Chair of the Department of African American Studies, who said “You must dream dreams....In this time of storm and stress, the imagination is the battlefield....We must imagine the world as it ought to be, in the full light of what we have, and who we have, become....You will leave this place and step into the country that stands on the precipice. And whether it is fair to you, the fate of this republic rests on your shoulders, in your hands. You must imagine a new America... You have dedicated your college years to the arduous task of self-creation, to preparing yourself to enter a world that — without mincing words — is exceedingly dark...And the question you must answer is will you choose to play it safe, to resign your world to the way it is, or will you dare to risk everything to help the world as it could be.” Furthermore, the on-going real life drama of a former president and likely re-nominated candidate for the presidency who faces nearly a hundred criminal charges is currently dominating our TV screens and social media platforms. Criminal cases may be handled differently in different jurisdictions, but court decisions based on the due process guarantees of the U.S. Constitution require that specific steps be taken in the administration of criminal justice so that the individual will be protected from undue intervention from the State. Consequently, knowledge about criminal justice and related studies has seldom been more important.

The field of criminal justice studies addresses not only courts (including the trial and the grand jury processes), police, corrections, Constitutional and criminal procedure, civil rights and liberties, but also the causes of crime and the types of programs designed to aid in its control. It also offers students the chance to study the features of openness and democratic accountability in government as well as how the agencies of justice struggle to balance societal concerns for public safety with respect for personal liberty. It is has been observed that “law enforcement agencies operate in dynamic environments where simple calls for service can become complex critical incidents in a matter of moments. Regardless of department size, it is not a question of if personnel will become part of a critical incident but when. Both officers and supervisors must stand ready to respond effectively” (see: <https://leb.fbi.gov/articles/featured-articles/embracing-the-incident-command-system-above-and-beyond-theory>).

Our association’s October 7th, 2023 annual meeting and conference will directly address how officers and other first responders can cope with these demands. However, it should also be noted that police personnel and other first responders are not the only members of society who must “stand ready,” but so do school age children, their parents and teachers, and all everyday citizens in communities throughout the U.S. Will you be prepared for the occurrence and aftermath of the unusual incident at a small-scale or large-scale level? Preparedness begins with knowledge. Please attend our conference in-person or via Zoom to learn more. The 2023 Annual VACJE conference will feature two speakers—Don Fortunato and Dave Giroux—who will address “Wellness for First Responders”. Don’s and Dave’s bios and the annual meeting registration form can be located on the VACJE Web page—vacje.com—and in the Fall/Winter 2023 VACJE Newsletter.

Through membership and collaboration in our association, we have the opportunity to study and learn together. Clearly, while our world has many pitfalls, it also has become ever more interconnected and diverse. As we come to appreciate the ideas of others, we may gain from one another and improve our sense of self, independence, empathy and judgment as well as our mutual safety.

Martin Alan Greenberg, our VACJE President, earned his PhD in Criminal Justice from the Graduate Center of the City University of New York and his JD from New York Law School. He has authored seven books and has served as a criminal justice program director at: Arkansas State University; Hawaii Community College; Virginia Union University; Point Park University in Pittsburgh, PA; the State University of New York at Ulster; and Morris College in Sumter, SC. In New York City, he served as a senior court officer and auxiliary police deputy inspector. His most recent book entitled Reframing Police Education and Training in America is co-authored by VACJE member Dr. Beth A. Easterling.

Jeff Dodson was born and raised in Culpeper, Virginia. Jeff served his hometown and started his law enforcement career at the Culpeper County Sheriff’s Office. At the Sheriff’s Office, Jeff worked for several months in the county jail before being assigned to the courthouse security division. After 3 years with the Sheriff’s Office, Jeff was hired by the Culpeper Police Department. At the Culpeper Police Department, Jeff started in patrol and held a variety of different positions over his 13 years with Culpeper Police. Jeff was a K-9 Officer and Detective. Jeff was promoted to Sergeant and Lieutenant. While at Culpeper Jeff supervised patrol, investigations, community outreach, and administrative functions within the police department. In 2020, Jeff was hired as the Chief of Police for the Radford City Police Department. In addition to his law enforcement background, Jeff also worked part-time in Orange County, Virginia as a 911 dispatcher for 7 years. Jeff has an extensive background and has served on various boards related to 911 across the state.

Jeff left his post as Chief with Radford City PD in July 2023 and became the new program head for criminal justice at Virginia Western Community College. Jeff holds an associates degree in police science, B.S in management, and Master’s degree in Criminal Justice. Jeff is a graduate of the University of Richmond’s Professional Executive Leadership School (PELS)-39th Session and the Police Executive Research Forum’s Senior Management Institute for Policing (SMIP)-85th Session. Jeff is a certified DCJS instructor and crime prevention specialist. Jeff has served on numerous committees and boards across the Commonwealth of Virginia for law enforcement. In 2022, Jeff was nominated by his colleagues to the Virginia Association of Chief’s of Police Executive Board and appointed by the Governor for the 911 Services Board for the Commonwealth of Virginia. Jeff has also worked for the Commission on Accreditation of Law Enforcement Agencies (CALEA) since 2016 as an assessor and most recently as a compliance services member. Jeff has a passion for law enforcement, 911 emergency communications, and teaching students about criminal justice.

Hayley Cleary, MPP, PhD, is an Associate Professor of Criminal Justice and Public Policy at Virginia Commonwealth University in Richmond, Virginia. Cleary’s research examines adolescent behavior and decision making in legal system contexts, and the cornerstone of her research program involves police interrogation of young people. Her research has been funded by the National Science Foundation and Annie E. Casey Foundation and featured in national media outlets, including the New York Times and New Yorker magazine. Dr. Cleary is frequently sought as an expert witness in disputed confession cases involving adolescent defendants. She has also provided written and live testimony in support of evidence-based legislation in several states. Dr. Cleary has been invited on numerous occasions to share her work with academic, law enforcement, legal, and public audiences, including the FBI National Academy, Virginia General Assembly, International Association of Interviewers, and attorney organizations in several states.

Corey Call received his Ph.D. in public policy and administration from Virginia Commonwealth University. He is currently an assistant professor in the Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Criminal Justice Studies at Longwood University. His primary research interests concern sex offending, sex offender management policies, serial murder, and criminal justice media.

Dr. Carr is currently teaching Criminal Justice courses for George Mason University and New England College. Dr. Carr retired from the Prince William County Police Department in June of 2021, with over 35 years of service within law enforcement. In his last command, he served as the Commander for the Prince William County Police Department's Personnel Bureau. In this capacity, Dr. Carr had direct leadership and oversight for recruiting, selection, and hiring sworn and professional personnel for the Police Department.

In addition, Dr. Carr supervised Police Recruiters, Background Investigators, Polygraph Examiners, and other support personnel assigned to the Personnel Bureau. Furthermore, Dr. Carr supervised the Police Department's Co-Responder Unit. This specialized unit is comprised of sworn Officers and certified Clinicians from the county's Community Services Agency. Officers and Clinicians assigned to the unit are trained and certified in Crisis Intervention techniques, with a focus on mental health needs. More importantly, Officers are paired with a Clinician and together they process calls for service involving mental health consumers. The unit has been very successful regarding the service they provide and is a model for other law enforcement organizations to emulate.

Dr. Carr previously served the Department as the Central District Commander. In addition, he is a graduate of the prestigious FBI National Academy, 214th Session where he served as a Leadership Challenge Student, Section-2 Class Representative, and the Class Spokesman. Dr. Carr also graduated from the Police Executive Research Forum (PERF) Senior Management Institute at Boston University. Prior to coming aboard with the Department of Criminology, Law & Society, Dr. Carr served as a guest lecturer at George Mason University in Manassas regarding Policing in America.

Dr. Carr is a member of the American Society of Evidence-Based Policing (ASEBP) and collaborated on a National Academies of Sciences project with Dr. Cynthia Lum, Director for the Center for Evidence-Based Crime Policy and Dr. Christopher Koper: Translating, Communicating, and Institutionalizing Research into Policing Practice: A Collaboration between the Prince William County Police Department and the Center for Evidence-Based Crime Policy.

As an educator and former law enforcement practitioner, Dr. Carr enjoys working with youth and college students to ensure that they achieve their educational goals and objectives. In addition, Dr. Carr is a part-time instructor for the New England College online Criminal Justice Program teaching CJ3210: Contemporary Law Enforcement; CJ3010: Corrections, and PS3170: Forensic Psychology, and several other courses. Furthermore, Dr. Carr has been working with Professor Frank Jones for the past four years coordinating visits to Prince William County for students taking CJ-4000, Senior Seminar regarding Issues in Professional Practice.

Dr. Carr rose through the ranks in the Police Department serving in the following assignments:

- Patrol, where he served as a Patrol Officer and Crime Scene Technician.
- Investigator, working as an Undercover Operative in the Narcotics Section and assigned to the United States Drug Enforcement Administration's PCP and Crack Task Force.
- Supervisory ranks within Patrol, Internal Affairs, Juvenile Bureau, Juvenile Bureau School Resource Officer Supervisor, D.A.R.E. Instructor, Watch Commander, Evening Operations Commander, and Administrative Services Bureau Commander. Dr. Carr was Project Manager for construction of the first Forensic Services Laboratory for the Police Department, which received internal accreditation recognition. In February of 2018, Dr. Carr completed construction of the Department's 28.6-million-dollar Charlie T. Deane Station. Officers began operating from the new station in April of 2018. Charlie T. Deane Station is the flagship facility for the Police Department housing the Office of the Chief, Media Relations, the Financial and Technical Services Division, Support Services Division Commander, Operations Division Commander, Criminal Investigations Division Commander, and Patrol Operations. In that capacity, Dr. Carr managed 130 staff to include sworn officers, police recruits, and civilians providing full-time law enforcement service to a population of 166,647 residents within a 68-square mile area of Prince William County. Dr. Carr is affiliated with the following organizations:
- International Association of Chiefs of Police
- National Organization of Black Law Enforcement Executives (NOBLE), and serves on the Northern Virginia Chapter Scholarship Committee
- FBI National Academy Associates Association
- Currently serving as a member on the New England College Adjunct Faculty Advisory Committee
- Prince William County Toastmasters Club 1973 where he served as Club President
- Toast of Fredericksburg Toastmasters Club 4067232 where he received his Distinguished Toastmasters Award (DTM), and Distinguished Leader Award (DL), and served as Vice President Public Relations, Secretary, and Sergeant at Arms

- B. Continuously search for new techniques and approaches in the delivery of academic criminal justice programs to advance criminal justice education in the Commonwealth of Virginia;
- C. Provide professional development opportunities for criminal justice educators;
- D. Inform and update criminal justice educators of the current research findings in criminal justice education;
- E. Enable criminal justice educators to network, connect, collaborate and exchange innovative teaching approaches;
- F. Support criminal justice agencies in the recruitment of an academically and professionally educated workforce in the criminal justice field;
- G. Develop a criminal justice education curriculum at the college, university level, and secondary schools; supports the development in other recognized educational institutions, such as criminal justice training academies,
- H. Develop strategic community partnerships in the criminal justice field

III. Members

- A. Regular membership in VACJE shall be open to all persons who engage in the teaching, training, or administration of education or training programs in the field of Criminal Justice or who are practitioners in criminal justice agencies or organizations.
- B. There shall be five additional categories of membership.
 1. Honorary life members, who may, in honor of their retirement and in recognition of at least 10 years of continuous service to VACJE be appointed as such by a majority of the members at a regular meeting of the membership. Honorary life members shall not be required to pay dues.
 2. Life members, who have paid in no more than 3 consecutive annual installments a sum to be determined from time to time by the board.
 3. Institutions and organizations that deliver or receive criminal justice education or training.

4. Student membership shall be open to those students pursuing academic study in criminal justice or a related field.
 5. Corporate sponsors and community partners who have expressed an interest in criminal justice educational initiatives.
- C. Voting: Each member in the above categories (Section III-A+B-1/2/3) whose dues for the current year have been paid are entitled to one vote in any election, referendum, or membership meeting. Student members, corporate sponsors, and community partners are excluded from voting privileges. Each institutional or organizational member shall appoint one person to carry its vote. No voting by proxy shall be permitted. Ballots shall be sent to the members in a manner determined by the VACJE Board and include mailed ballots (i.e., U.S. Postal Service) or electronic ballots. The Board will determine how ballots are to be returned and the deadline for voting. It is the responsibility of each member to ensure his/her business address and email address are currently on file with the association. Each member shall be assigned a membership number to account for all ballots.
- D. Dues: Membership dues shall be at such rate or rates, schedule or formula as may be approved by the Board of Directors from time to time.
- E. Termination:
1. Any member may be expelled by a two-thirds vote of the Board of Directors at a regularly scheduled Board Meeting, for conduct prejudicial to the mission and purpose of the VACJE, after due notice and opportunity to be heard by the board.
 2. A member who has not paid dues by December 01 will be dropped from membership.

IV. Meetings

- A. Timely notice of the location and time of meetings of the membership of VACJE, both annual and special, shall be provided to the membership.
- B. The Annual Meeting shall be held in the fall of each year, unless circumstances require the board to do otherwise.
- C. Special meetings of VACJE may be called by the president, by the board, or by one-tenth of the membership, upon 14 days written notice to the members, stating the purpose of the meeting.
- D. At meetings of the members, twenty percent of the membership shall constitute a quorum, and a majority of votes shall prevail.
- E. The Annual Meeting and special meetings may be held in-person or virtually, as determined by the Board of Directors.

V. The Board of Directors

- A. The board shall consist of the President, the Immediate Past President, vice president, treasurer, secretary, and not more than four directors-at-large.
- B. The board shall set policy, evaluate operations, monitor finances, and have responsibility for long-range planning.

- C. No public statement of policy by any member, representative, committee, group, volunteer, employee, director, or officer shall be binding upon, or constitute an expression of, the policy of the VACJE unless approved or ratified by a majority of the directors.
- D. Unless otherwise ordered by the Board, regular meetings of the board shall be held at least four times each year. Special or additional meetings of the Board may be called by the president and shall be called upon the written request of three directors, with at least forty-eight hours written notice having been given.
- E. A majority of the Board (5) shall constitute a quorum.

VI. Election of the Officers and Directors

- A. Upon receipt of the Nominating Committee's (See Section VIII, paragraph B) report and ballot, the President shall immediately distribute to all members in good standing, the names of the nominees on a Ballot approved by the Board of Directors and arrange for additional write-in names. The Board shall establish a minimum of two weeks for voting and the date and time by which all ballots must be received by the Chair of the Nominating Committee. The returned ballots shall be tabulated by the nominating committee. The nominees who receive the most votes shall be elected. The nominating committee shall certify the results to the President and a public announcement of newly-elected officers and directors shall be made as soon as appropriate.
- B. The terms of office for Officers and Directors At-Large shall be for two years.
- C. Vacancies
 1. The Board shall declare vacant any office or director-at-large position if that officer or director-at-large has been absent from two consecutive board meetings- Absences may be excused by vote of a majority of the Board, or
 2. There was no one elected to the office or director-at-large position.
 3. Recommendations for filling officer or director-at-large vacancies shall be made by the Nominating Committee. Vacancies on the board shall be filled by the board of directors by a majority vote at any regular board meeting.
- D. Upon completing four years of service as a director-at-large, an individual shall be ineligible to serve as a director-at-large for the following term in that position.
- E. Individuals who are not current in dues payment shall not be eligible for election, and when directors or other officers are not current, they shall be removed from office, and a vacancy declared within 30 days of the dues becoming due.

VII. Officers and Duties

- A. The officers of the VACJE shall be the President, the Vice President, and the immediate Past President, the secretary, and the treasurer. These officers shall perform the duties prescribed by these Bylaws.
- B. The term of office for the officers shall be as follows:
- President – Two-Years
 - Immediate Past President – Two Years
 - Vice President – Two Years
 - Secretary – Two Years
 - Treasurer – Two Years

The term of office of the President and Immediate Past President shall be limited to two (2) years following installation (or until the end of the respective term of the predecessor, if the person shall not have completed such term) and until the election of a successor. If the out-going President cannot fulfill the term of Immediate Past President, the most recent Immediate Past President will be asked by the Board to serve the remainder of that term.

In the event the President cannot fulfill the term of that office or his/her duties, the Vice President shall succeed to that office for the balance of that term.

The Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer may serve two terms. If the Vice President, Secretary, and/or Treasurer cannot fulfill the term of that office, or his/her duties, the Board shall appoint a person from the membership at-large to serve for the balance of the term. To receive the appointment from the Board, the member must receive a majority vote of the Board of Directors.

The term of office of the newly-elected officers and directors-at-large shall commence on January 1 following the election and end on December 31, at the end of the two-year term.

The officers and directors-at-large shall have such powers and perform such duties as may be provided by the Bylaws, parliamentary authority of the VACJE, Robert's Rules of Order, or as the Board of Directors may determine.

- C. No member shall hold more than one position on the Board at a time.
- D. The President of the board shall:
- Serve as the executive head of the VACJE, and shall preside at all meetings of the membership and the board.
 - Appoint all committee chairs from the Board members and approve all committee members.
 - Be an ex-officio member of all VACJE committees, but is under no obligation to attend committee meeting and is not counted as part of the committee's quorum.

- Serve as the official spokesperson for the Association and shall speak and act on behalf of the Board and the members within existing policy and Board decisions. The President may, at his/her discretion, delegate the spokesperson responsibility to another Officer or Director-at-large for a specific period of time.
 - Have authority to approve expenses not to exceed $100 per occurrence without prior approval of the Board.
 - Have other duties as assigned by the Board from time-to-time.
 - Report to the Board, at every Board Meeting all issues addressed and actions taken in keeping with the provisions of this section.
- E. The Vice President shall serve as President-Elect and as program chair. In the absence of the president, the Vice President shall exercise the functions of the President.
- F. The immediate Past President shall assist the President in such duties as may be mutually agreed upon and shall chair and recruit members for the nominating committee.
- G. The Treasurer shall maintain the roll of the membership. The Treasurer also shall oversee receipt and proper disbursement of all funds by the VACJE. Such funds shall be kept on deposit in financial institutions approved by the board. Checks shall be signed by any two of the following: President, Vice President, and Treasurer. Checks drawn for less than $100 require only the signature of one of those aforementioned. The Treasurer shall develop internal controls for the association which shall be reviewed and approved by the Board.
- H. The Secretary shall keep a formal record of each meeting and provide same promptly and in electronic form to the webmaster.

VIII. Standing Committees

Standing Committees are those identified in these Bylaws. The Chair of each Standing Committee shall be a member of the Board

- A. A Program Committee shall be chaired by the Vice President, who shall, with the assistance of the Board, recruit additional members to serve on the Committee. The program committee shall plan, publicize, and manage the annual meeting.
- B. A Nominating Committee composed of three members and chaired by the Immediate Past President shall be appointed by the President and approved by the board promptly after the new officers are installed.
1. It shall be the duty of the nominating committee to recruit and gain the consent of candidates for the board and for offices within the board, as well as for appointments and nominations made by the board to external groups.
 2. Every reasonable effort shall be made to recruit candidates who within the preceding three years have participated actively in VACJE meetings and projects, and to recruit a sufficient number of candidates to give the membership a choice at the time of election.

3. The Nominating Committee shall solicit nominations (including self-nominations) from the membership.
4. The Nominating Committee shall submit its Report and Ballot to the President and the Board not later than October 1 of each even numbered year. The Board shall approve the Ballot and the President shall direct its publication and distribution to the members for voting. The list of candidates and their biographical information shall be made available on the VACJE Website and newsletter. The outcome of the election shall be made know at the Annual Meeting.
5. The nominating committee shall also present to the board for its approval the names of candidates to fill unexpired terms within 30 days of the Board's declaration that the position is vacant.

C. The Communications Committee shall be chaired by a board member, who shall be appointed by the president with the consent of the board. That individual, and other committee members appointed by the President shall assume responsibility for printed and virtual communications materials and methods employed by VACJE.

D. Other committees, such as ad hoc, special, or advisory, shall be appointed by the President as the Board or President shall from time to time deem necessary to carry on the work of the VACJE. Each Committee shall have a chair appointed by the president and shall report at the annual meeting on its activities during the preceding year.

E. The term of membership on any committee is two (2) years and may be renewable.

IX. Finances

- A. The VACJE's fiscal year shall begin on September 1 and end on August 31.
- B. The accounts of the VACJE shall be audited bi-annually by two members appointed by the president with the consent of the board at the beginning of a new term of officers and Board members. The audit report shall be presented to the membership at the annual meeting.
- C. The VACJE shall be registered with the Virginia State Corporation Commission and the Internal Revenue Service.
- D. At the beginning of every new term for Officers and Board members, the Board will review and approve the internal controls of the Association.

X. Parliamentary Authority

- A. The rules contained in the current edition of Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised shall govern the VACJE in all cases to which they are applicable and in which they are not inconsistent with these bylaws and any special rules of order the VACJE may adopt.

XI. Amendment of Bylaws

These bylaws may be amended by the membership by a two-thirds vote of those eligible to vote, provided that the amendment has been recommended by the Board and subsequently distributed to the membership at least 30 days prior to the close of voting.

XII. Dissolution

The VACJE shall use its funds only to accomplish the objectives and purposes specified in these bylaws. On dissolution of the VACJE, any funds remaining shall be distributed to one or more regularly organized and qualified charitable, educational, scientific, or philanthropic organizations to be selected by the board of directors.
