CAFÉ & PIZZERIA

OUR STORY

My grandfather, a well-travelled man loved pizzas and my grandmother, simply wanting to please him, signed up for a pizza making class in the 70s. She eventually became so good that anyone who tried her pizzas said, “this is the best pizza in town”

Her constant experimentation with Italian herbs and Indian spices led to her creating a pizza seasoning mix so delicious that friends all over the world demanded a bottle of it. Armed with her secret recipe and techniques, my parents opened a pizzeria and called it Ray's- my childhood nick name. They call the pizza with my grandmother's flavorsome mix, the “Mumbai Masala.”

We hope you enjoy our pizzas as much as my family does making them for you.

Black garlic is made by using a special fermentation process. After 90 days, the garlic turns black, soft and sweet and tastes like dry fruit with a slight garlic flavour. Packed with anti-oxidants, it won't even give you garlic breath so go ahead and add it to any pizza or pasta and enjoy its unique flavour.
