Edit Delete	4/15/2023 6:48:00 AM	4/15/2023	Kennel Staff Concern	Dog collapsed during morning walk with [REDACTED]. Initially very wobbly and unable to stand unsupported following collapse. Some minutes later, able to stand on own, panting heavily. About 10 minutes from collapse, dog walking on own, though a little shaky. Placed in clinic for monitoring. UPDATE 4-16-23: Incident occurred again with exactly the same progression, this time with [REDACTED]. "Carried outside, put dog down, dog pooped and peed, shortly after dog got wobbly, threw head back and went limp and was completely unresponsive. Eyes open, stopped breathing. Dog was brought inside and slowly recovered exactly like yesterday."	Dr. Beth O'Keeffe	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/>

General Vet Notes: 4/17/23: Emailed concerns included:

Dog 54517 "Ladybug" collapsed during her morning walk with [REDACTED]. For specific details on the happenings prior to my arrival, he will know better than I. When I arrived outside to assist, the dog was splayed out but responsive. She was initially unable to support her own weight, but improved to the point of being able to shakily stand on her own within a couple of minutes. After bringing her inside, a few minutes later she was able to stand relatively steadily, though she was breathing heavily. Finally, after another couple of minutes passed, the dog was walking in a manner that is probably normally for her (a slight stumble occasionally on the unforgiving clinic floor.) This incident, the general condition of the dog, and the already existing VTN and vet clearance requirements has prompted me to place her in the clinic. Following day: Same thing happened today. Carried dog outside to go to the bathroom. Dog peed and pooped. Shortly (~1-2 mins) after the dog became wobbly, threw its head back and collapsed. Dog was completely unresponsive with its eyes open and was no longer breathing. Just like yesterday, by the time I saw the dog, it was breathing heavily and responsive though unable to support herself. This improved over the course of 5-10 minutes and she is now sitting in her kennel like nothing happened. As far as anyone has observed, the dog has had no issues in its kennel in the clinic..

Today upon my evaluation, P was QAR sternal in kennel, rapid raspy breathing. When moved P, did as above described - syncope episode and collapsed. Purple MM, after a few minutes recovered but still has constant muddy colored MM. Heart ascult grade 4/6 murmur, chest xrays enlarged heart silhouette and fluid in lungs with possible fluid line in abdomen as well. Severe periodontal disease - not an anesthetic candidate. P is active congestive heart failure with collapse/syncope. P is past option for medical management and QOL is suffering.

Humane euthanasia is recommended, discussed with director and performed humane euthanasia before P had another collapsing episode.
