

RECORD

THE WEEK OF MARCH 31, 2023

Vol. 153, No. 31

Event focuses on protecting children from trafficking predators

LCR

Pioche played host to a child-trafficking prevention and online safety education event for parents, where attendees took the "Lincoln Lookout Pledge."

"I pledge to do my part in keeping the children of Lincoln County safe. I will promote a positive community through action. I am a Lincoln County lookout. If I see something, I say something."

Held March 25 at the Overland Hotel & Saloon conference room, the event included a barbecue dinner provided by the Historic Silver Café. Attendees learned from Dottie Laster, who has led Department of Justice-funded task forces in Texas and California. Her work triggered the largest rescue of human trafficking victims in U.S. history in 2005.

Laster discussed ways to protect kids online, prevent trafficking and prepare for missing person events. She shared sobering statistics on human trafficking and child trafficking.

In a letter to the Record following the event, Laster said, "The community is rural; however, the intersection of interactive applications and a nearby highway easily allows a message that starts out online to quickly become in-person and dangerous. Each victim may be worth over $300,000 a year to a predator. They will put in the effort to lure, groom and take teens and young adults into their predatory schemes."

At the event, Laster provided guidance to parents on measures they can take to protect children, including being very aware of all digital activities their children participate in.

"I give you permission to spy on your kids, and if they get upset, you can send them to me," she said.

She added that the time to start a proactive plan for protecting kids is now. To start looking at these things when a child is missing is too late.

Laster asked the audience to be on the lookout for unwanted contact from any adult with their children online.

She spoke about the Digital DNA kit that she developed to help gather data of places kids frequent online. If they go missing, and the parents

The event was organized by community member Jessica Hernandez, who is passionate about creating positive outcomes for children. A strong supporter of the new local Boys & Girls Club, Hernandez seeks to provide education for parents as well as safe environments for kids.

"Through attending the Lincoln County Coalition meetings, I've really seen the need for activities that youth can participate in," Hernandez said, later adding, "I've really become aware of how helpful the Boys & Girls Club can be."

In that spirit, proceeds from the event were donated to the Boys & Girls Club in Lincoln County to assist with transportation needs. A dinner purchase provided options of ribs, chicken, brisket, mac and cheese and other comfort foods. T-shirt sales and over 200 sold raffle tickets rounded out the proceeds. Raffle prizes included a Jay Allen-signed portrait, two Boys & Girls Club Shirts and one kids hoodie signed by Jay Allen, two tickets to the upcoming Tom Bennet concert, a barbecue dinner from Get Sauced NV, original artwork, a five-piece Frontier Living kitchen set, a photo-shoot gift certificate, a hand-

Pioche Chamber of Commerce News

By Jessica Hernandez

Members of the Pioche Chamber of Commerce met online on Tuesday, after the March 14 meeting was rescheduled to allow for attendance at the Lincoln County Authority of Tourism focus session in Caliente.

Jason Beam discussed recent Chamber business during the President's Report. The chamber's member mixer and social media seminar was canceled mid-week due to flooding concerns. The President's Report concluded with the announcement of Beam's participation in the first Labor Day Committee meeting of the year on March 13. Meetings to discuss the 118th Annual Labor Day celebration will take place monthly at Thompson's Opera House in Pioche.

Chamber of Commerce members discussed ideas for new Pioche merchandise and ways to highlight the 150th Anniversary of Thompson's Opera House during Labor Day festivities. The building opened Sept. 16, 1873 as Brown's Hall for public dances and social meetings. After six years, Arthur Thompson purchased the building and enhanced the entertainment venue.

The public meeting space turned theater once sold "Pioche's finest liquors and cigars," along with hay and other essentials, in the downstairs general store. The Chamber is hoping to restore and rearrange some spaces to help display the building's long history to the influx of visitors expected this summer.

The meeting concluded after members discussed plans for the upcoming Tom Bennett concert. Pioche Chamber of Commerce members will continue planning for a tour of the town during the artist's visit. The one-man band will be bringing country blues to Thompson's Opera House at 8 p.m. on April 15. Show tickets will be available for $20 at the door.

Lincoln County Coalition introduces new director during March 28 meeting

By Jessica Hernandez

The March 28 meeting of the Lincoln County Coalition (LCC) commenced with attendee introductions and comments.

Dr. Donald Deever of the UNR Extension announced the availability of radon home testing kits. There is no known safe level of exposure to radon. One in three homes in Lincoln County and one in two homes in Panaca have levels above what the EPA recommends. Those interested in obtaining a kit can visit the UNR Lincoln Extension office at 360 Lincoln St. in Caliente or call (775) 726-3109 for more information.

Veterans advocate Linda Rollins will be in the office at the Panaca Senior Center from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Friday, April 14. Additionally, a second advocate is currently being trained to help assist veterans in the area.

Recently hired Coalition Director Tracie Duren joined the meeting remotely to discuss the 10-year Drug-Free Communities Grant. Specific goals over the 10-year period relate to the reduction of alcohol and marijuana misuse and abuse by youth, and eventually, adults. Mary Rose Parkman, Coalition and Community Building Manager for NyE Communities Coalition (NyECC), shared how NyECC will assist with the first steps of the grant initiative and data collection. The Wilder Collaboration Factors Inventory Survey is a tool used to identify possible strengths and weaknesses in an organization and the collaboration throughout the lifespan of a project. Jess Rosner, a data analyst for NyECC, will be visiting with Duren and a team to plan the implementation of the survey early next month.

Hayley Gloeckner, Crystal Dineley and Amber Pike provided an update on recent NyECC-led initiatives in the Lincoln County community. Naloxone training is continuing, with Panaca Elementary School staff and Meadow Valley Middle School staff being educated on assisting with opioid overdose. Activities, food, sponsors and raffle prizes were announced for the March 30 Teen Night, and plans are being discussed for additional Teen Night events hosted by NyECC later in the year.

Travis Constantine and Mark Jacoby were present to discuss the Boys & Girls Club of Truckee Meadows servicing Lincoln County. Program Director Constantine shared that with the recent improvements in weather, attendance has been higher than previous weeks. More students visit the club on Friday, and once school has let out for summer vacation, participation is expected to grow. Director of Frontier Operations and Development Mark Jacoby thanked NyECC for a recent $8,000 grant to sponsor the program. The grant was awarded as a sub-grant through the NyECC Substance Abuse Primary Prevention Grant program. Funds from the grant are being applied toward Positive Action Curriculum materials and funding to staff the program. Constantine and Jacoby also announced the recent purchase of a bounce house, trailer and generators for use in Lincoln County. Staff plans to hold future club events, fundraisers and public outreach using the new bounce house.

Meadow Valley Middle School student leaders Bodie Anderson, Hayley Medlin and Michael Heath joined Principal Dr. Michael Roth in presenting ideas for helping youth avoid developing unhealthy habits. Agriculture, robotics, space exploration and hydroponics were all mentioned as potential areas of focus. Roth shared that through the Coalition's efforts, he hopes to continue helping youth access programs with a potential for career development.

Lana Chouquer with Lincoln County Workforce was appointed Coalition Treasurer after a motion and second from board members. Coalition President September Barnes announced that with the director and treasurer positions now filled, the 501c3 nonprofit paperwork can be completed. Once submitted, approval is expected within 30 days.

The LCC subcommittee for Youth and Community will hold a virtual meeting at 10 a.m. April 13. Meetings are being scheduled for the Behavioral Health and the Infrastructure and System Development subcommittees. Those interested in joining a subcommittee should contact the Coalition via email at contact@lcccoalition.org for details.

The next meeting of the Lincoln County Coalition will take place April 25 at 10 a.m. in the Panaca Town Center.

Lincoln dance teams host annual review

By Collin Anderson

Hundreds of onlookers filled the stands at the Rick Phillips Gym in Panaca to watch the various dance teams of Lincoln County demonstrate their skills March 25.

The night started out with the teams being introduced, and each dancer was escorted by a loved one as their team took the stage. With introductions over, the youngest class, Team Excel, performed their rendition of "Shake it Up." Team Extreme came out next and danced to "Do My Thing," followed by an impassioned solo by Jyllian Lynn. Elevate was next with "Never Enough," followed by Teams Elite and Bad Guy, performing a medley of Billie Eilish's song, "Bad to the Bone," among other tunes. Then the Lincoln Lynns performed "My Head, My Heart."

The rest of the program saw each of the teams perform various songs, with Team Excel dancing to "Tomorrow," "Dance it Out" and "Holding Out for a Hero." Team Elevate danced to "Blame it on the Boogie," "Born Ready" and the Avengers theme. Team Extreme performed the theme from Pirates of the Caribbean, "Black Pearl," followed by "What's My Name" and "Let It Be." Team Elite danced to "Easy on Me," "Tick Tick Boom" and "Just Watch Me Now." Finally, the Lynns performed a mix of "Dynamite" and "Glorious," followed by "Vogue Zone," "Get Ready to Ride," "View Between the Villages" and the final song of the evening, "Turn it Up."

Dispersed throughout the evening there were a few solos and duets, like Anna Blasi and Jyllian Lynn, as well as a number from Ashlee Zile and Rachel Mathews. Rachel Mathews sang a solo, "Out of Love," and all the team captains then returned to the stage to perform as a group.

Bart Anderson and Andy Free played the role of MCs, complete with terrible but hilarious dad jokes, and by curtain call the crowd was energized and entertained. At the end of the program, the two main dance coaches, Mindy Anderson and Gretchen Free, thanked all the people who had helped set up and choreographed different songs, including Madi Bowler, Jessica Mathews, Sydney Anderson, Loni Phillips and two of the program's senior dancers, Rachel Mathews and Ashlee Zile.

Lynx fall to Rams; track takes podium spots in Las Vegas

By Collin Anderson

It was a bit of a mixed bag for the sports teams of Lincoln County this past week.

Due to bad weather and its effects on the baseball fields, the White Pine games for both softball and baseball were postponed. While this left the softball team with no game to play this past weekend, the baseball team was able to get in a game against the Parowan Rams on Tuesday, March 28.

From the first inning, the Rams were able to make headway, keeping the Lynx away from home plate. Though Parowan never scored more than five runs in an inning, usually only bringing a single runner back home each time they took to the offense, the Lynx didn't score until the fifth inning. When the game was called in the sixth inning, it was a 12-2 Rams victory.

Both the softball and baseball teams will face the Lake Mead Eagles March 31 in Henderson.

Track had some standout performances in the Palo Verde Week-day meet on Thursday, March 23.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I am writing to say thank you to the town of Pioche and Lincoln County, Nevada. I was so blessed to be invited to speak to your community on March 25, 2023, at the child trafficking prevention and online safety event and fundraiser for the Boys & Girls Club, held at the Overton Hotel. I was hosted by a group of wonderful parents who care about not only their children, but all children. I have left a piece of myself in Lincoln County after meeting all the wonderful families and businesses who selflessly used their resources, their energy, their money and their efforts to host a wonderful event of fun, community and, most importantly, information about children and young adults being connected to every monster in the world through devices that we have become so dependent upon.

I met some of the wonderful teenagers who live in this community. They were very transparent and said, "Yes, our parents need to help us because we are targeted online, and we know we need their guidance."

At the event, I spoke about the Digital DNA kit that I developed to help gather data of places kids frequent online. If they go missing, and the parents have this data, it can lead to locating them. See here <https://tinyurl.com/digitaldnakit>

The community is rural; however, the intersection of interactive applications and a nearby highway easily allows a message that starts out online to quickly become in person and dangerous. Each victim may be worth over $300,000 a year to a predator. They will put in the effort to lure, groom and take teens and young adults into their predatory schemes.

I applaud every parent, every grandparent and every adult in your community who attended the event March 25. It demonstrates that your children do have adults who care about them and who want to make the world safe for them as long as possible. I was also very honored to meet Dr. Michael Roth, principal of Meadow Valley Middle School. His five-door speech was very profound, and I hope he is asked to present to many audiences. It gives students and parents language to guide teens and adolescents as they venture along the rocky path between being children and adults.

I hope to return to Lincoln County again, as it is a part of me now. Its beautiful scenery, the community, but most importantly, the most special part of all, the most valuable part of everything in the whole county, is its children. And I pray with all my being that they will never be touched by the awful predators in this world. I look forward to seeing how the youth I met last Saturday reach their highest potential. They are your future; they are the most important part of any place we live, because without them, nothing we do really matters.

I want to thank the Overton Hotel for giving me such comfortable and peaceful nights and the Historic Silver Café for keeping me fed with wonderful food and amazing service. I also want to thank the Lincoln County Record for their generous article announcing the event. I also want to thank the children who took time to speak with me and to listen to me. You all are the reason we exist and the reason behind all our efforts, and we (adults) do love you, even if we never tell you.

Most importantly, I ask the community to continue to support the Boys & Girls Club. The teens I spoke with told me that when they are bored, they go online. The Boys & Girls Club and their programs are a solution to combating this problem of the internet connecting our children to every monster in the world. We must give children other options for enrichment. The Boys & Girls Club can do that. Please continue to invest in them. It is an investment in your children.

crafted wood table and bench, and a picnic set and camping chairs donated by Nevada Bank & Trust.

Meadow Valley Middle School principal Dr. Michael Roth spoke to the group about some of his concerns for the youth in the community. He explained the importance for parents to get involved and do their research so that they understand the language kids speak.

Hernandez said a powerful concept Roth shared was the "five doors: four, you should explore, one, you should ignore."

The four doors worth exploring, Roth said, are academic, athletic, artistic and altruistic. The door to ignore (or avoid) is addiction.

Jason Frank of Pioche opened the event with a prayer and shared how he met Laster through his work helping protect kids at the border.

Rodney Balsler was the DJ at the event, and a lot of people stayed after to do karaoke.

Attendees particularly enjoyed a rendition of "It Takes Two" that Hernandez and Roth sang together, and a video of the performance is currently circulating on social media.

"It was a nice embarrassing highlight," Hernandez said. She added that she was pleased with how the event came together.

"We had more people than we were expecting, given the amount of options out there that weekend," Hernandez said. She expressed gratitude for all those who attended and all the sponsors who stepped up to offer raffle prizes.

"They leaped forward to make those offerings."

CONNECTS
ACP program details can be found at www.fcc.gov/affordable-connectivity-program-consumer-faq

Internet assistance available

By Collin Anderson

The Affordable connectivity Program (ACP) is part of a bipartisan law that, according to a White House statement, “provides eligible households $30 per month off their internet bills. ACP-eligible households can also receive a one-time discount of up to $100 to purchase a laptop, desktop computer, or tablet from participating providers.”

To get this process started, apply through the FCC website, then connect a participating internet service provider.

A household can qualify in three ways:

If “... income is at or below 200% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines.”

If the household participates in some sort of government program, including SNAP, Medicaid or even if you’re working through school with a Pell grant. The full list of approved programs is available on the White House’s website.

If the household meets “the eligibility criteria for a participating broadband provider’s existing low-income internet program.”

For more information on how to apply, visit <https://www.whitehouse.gov/getinternet>.

Assistance for new farmers and ranchers becomes available to public

By Collin Anderson

The Beginning Farmer and Rancher Development Program aims to help new entrepreneurs who want to get into these fields with education and financial assistance.

Opportunities like this have been available since the mid-1800s, but the Food, Conservation, and Energy Act of 2008 allocated over $75 million toward these efforts. Most recently, The Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018 (the 2018 Farm Bill) also added to these opportunities, so now anyone who wants to get into ranching and farming and qualifies for the service can draw from the resources available through these programs

According to the USDA, the qualifications are: “The recipient must be a collaborative, state, tribal, local, or regionally-based network or partnership of public or private entities, which may include: state cooperative extension service; community-based and nongovernmental organization; college or university (including institutions awarding associate degrees); or any other appropriate partner. Others may be eligible to apply.”

Those interested in learning more need to move quickly; the application process ends on April 27. But, if approved, the USDA estimates that applicants can receive anywhere from $49,000 to $750,000. It also estimates that only 25 percent of applications receive funding, but its total funding for everyone approved will be somewhere in the ballpark of $28 million.

Legacy race moved to June

By Jessica Hernandez

The Legacy Racing VT Construction Battleground 300 Truck and Buggy Race has been rescheduled due to flooding.

The Legacy race was originally set to take place Saturday, with pre-run activities starting Tuesday. At the time of the announcement, some roads on the race route remained flooded or closed, and additional inclement weather was expected.

Legacy Racing has announced that the Truck and Buggy Race is now scheduled for June 25. Pre-run activities for the race will begin June 20.

State Park Update

By Jordan Huff

Due to the weather and road conditions, there are many updates about Lincoln County State Parks. As of Wednesday, March 22, Spring Valley and Echo Canyon were both closed, and travel to Beaver Dam is strongly discouraged. Both Cathedral Gorge and Kershaw-Ryan are open and welcoming visitors, but caution is advised.

Local VFW hosts Hill Air Force Base squadron

By Mary Cordle

It was once again an honor for Caliente VFW Post 7114 to host the barbecue for the 729th Air Control Squadron from Hill AFB, Utah, which was conducting a training exercise to test deployment capabilities in support and control of the air space.

Barbecue ribs and chicken, done to perfection, were served along with salads and desserts provided by the Auxiliary.

There was something special watching the interaction between the generations of those who served in the past and those serving today, both thanking each other for their service.

Many expressed how welcoming the people and business in Caliente made them feel and said they are looking forward to coming back for the exercises next year.

The squadron pulled out Saturday, March 25.

VFW Post 7114 thanks everyone in the military for their service and wishes them Godspeed.

COMMUNITY

Local church hosts Easter walk

By Collin Anderson

As the Easter holiday rolls around, many denominations around Lincoln County are beginning their celebration of the life, atonement and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Christians make up a significant percentage of the communities that call rural Nevada home, and there are many traditions surrounding the holiday that marks the final days of Christ's life and His first days following His return from the grave.

The Panaca 1st Ward of The walked through the halls, palm leaves were taped to the ground, representing the leaves strewn along the path before Christ during His final entry into Jerusalem, days before His crucifixion.

Each room had a message about the miracles performed during Jesus' life, including healings of the sick and afflicted, calming of the elements and casting out of devils. The last supper was recreated in the church's foyer with a low table and thirteen spots for Jesus and his apostles.

In the gym of the church, participants were invited to take a piece of paper and write down or draw something they could do to show the same kind of charity that Christ exercised. Later in the walk, they were also invited to write down a way they could demonstrate their love for others in the same manner the Savior did.

The most poignant part of the walk was in the primary room, where different items representing parts of Christ's final hours were present. This included the basin where Pilate washed his hands of Christ's suffering, the crown of thorns, a recreated Roman spear and a roughly hewn beam representative of the cross upon which Christ was crucified. The empty tomb was also recreated, complete with a stone rolled from the spot by angelic hands to remind visitors of the angels' words to Mary: "He is not here; for He is risen."

Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints hosted an open house Saturday, March 25, to give members of the community a chance to peer into the life of Christ on Holy Week.

Upon entering the church, guests were invited to watch a short video about how Easter represents one of the most important moments in human history to those who call Christ the Son of God. As participants

UNLV Singers perform at Neldon C. Mathews Auditorium

C. Mathews Auditorium to end a three-day tour. The group also visited high schools in St. George and Southern Utah University in Cedar City over the weekend.

Twenty-five Lincoln County Choir students from the Concert Choir and Show Choir opened the show with a performance of "Homeward Bound." The few attending members of the LCHS Show Choir were then joined by choral director Jacob Lester in singing an arrangement of "Imagine." Lester thanked the students and parents that were able to participate in the Sunday afternoon event and shared that he thought the kids did a great job, considering the number of missing members.

Following an explanation of

"Density of Light," "Little Man In A Hurry" and "Death Came a Knockin'." During the choir's time on stage, members of the UNLV Choir Board shared stories of their transition from high school to college. Board President Jade Vandruff also conducted an information and UNLV trivia session with prize giveaways.

During a post-performance interview, Svendsen said, "We want to remind people that no matter where they are, music is valuable, important and can be a part of your life into adulthood."

Svendsen also thanked Lester and the students for the warmth of their welcome. He stated that the group hopes to return again and looks forward to the rest of its travels across Nevada.
