ARE YOU READY TO RUMBLE?

—Houston Public Media

There is a lot of planning when it comes to evacuating. Where will you go? What do you need to take? Where will you sleep? Will they allow pets? When can you go home?

Watch your local news. When you see a hurricane completely covering the Gulf of Mexico, that is your cue....you need to leave and leave early. I promise you, if the hurricane covers the Gulf of Mexico it will not dissipate.

Have a full tank of gas. Make sure you keep a full tank of gas at all times during hurricane season, you never know when something will blow up in the gulf.

Where will you go? Know where you are going. If you have a family member who is out of the hurricanes path that is your best bet. If you think that that quaint little hotel just north of Livingston would be a great place, well think again! If the hurricane travels up I-45 you will still be in the path, and the hotel rooms were probably booked days ago. Whatever you do, don't go east! Hurricanes are very unpredictable. It might be heading to Galveston and at the last minute turn and go toward Louisiana.

What will you need to pack? You will need to take all your important papers: Birth Certificates, insurance papers (health and home,) you will also need food and plenty of water for you , your family and pets. Take plenty of Pet food, because there probably won't be any stores open. If you have kids, take some games like Checkers and Connect Four, because you may not have a way to charge the electronic games they will be dead before no time.

Where will you sleep? There is a good chance you might sleep in your car for a few hours. So pack your patience and your pillows. There was an evacuation years ago and it took people 18 hours to get from San Leon to Livingston.

If you get lucky and find a motel, pretend like you won the lotto, remember there are thousands of people doing the exact same thing you are. Be Kind! If you are staying with family or friends, don't go there and sit around saying "poor me", there is nothing you can do about your situation at the moment. What you can do is offer to go grocery shopping and by all means, help around the house. Do the dishes, sweep, cook and just help.

What about the fur babies? You have already packed plenty of food and water for them so they should be good in that area. Remember your pets are also displaced and they have no idea what is going on. Be patient with them. Don't take your stress out on them, they are just along for the ride in unfamiliar settings. If you go to the family or friends house and they have pets, remember that is those other pets territory. Separate the pets so yours can calm down and the other pets can smell that they have visitors.

When can you go home? Watch the news, and call neighbors. If your area was not hit hard, you may be able to get on the road that day. If your area took a direct hit you need to get in touch with your County to see if they are allowing people back in the area. It may take a few more days to be able to get to your house.

What will you find at home? If you did take a direct hit, see if you can leave your pets with those other pets if they get along fine, until you find out the status of your house. (Because, if you did get off your ass and cook, clean and help your hosts out around the house, they shouldn't have a problem with it.)

Make sure you have a fully charged cell phone and a car charger, because you will be on hold for hours with your insurance company. If you can go in your home be very vigilant, some critters may have taken up residency there while you were gone.

Take Photos -take plenty of photos of the structure, inside contents, the waterline, roof, trees, and all damage. This will come in handy for insurance.

Remember folks, watch the news. They will probably make it seem worse than what it is, but we have grown to expect that.

Bayside Briefs

From Senator
Mayes Middleton
District 11

Fellow Texans,

Recently, I passed a bill to allow school districts to hire chaplains. Now, a liberal Washington D.C. organization and atheists are working to pressure your school board to vote against establishing a chaplaincy program. The left is fighting against putting God back into our schools.

We cannot allow liberal Washington D.C. groups and atheists to threaten Texas school districts into voting down the program. Join me in telling your school board to vote YES on school chaplains.

TWIA Rate Hike

Today, the TWIA Board voted for NO RATE HIKE. This is a huge victory for Coastal Texans! The pressure to increase rates comes from Board decisions to over-allocate reinsurance costs to policyholders. I will continue to fight for Coastal Texans to reform TWIA's purchasing of reinsurance. God Bless Texas,

— Mayes Middleton

FUNNY BONES

One day, two guys were out fishing.

A funeral service passes over the bridge they're fishing by, and Bob takes off his hat and puts it over his heart. He does this until the funeral service passes by.

Frank then said, "Gee Bob, I didn't know you had it in you!"

Bob then replies, "It's the least I could do. After all, I was married to her for 30 years."

A guy had planned a fishing trip to his favorite fishing spot on the flats of the gulf coast. He packed and began the trip to the water. He launched his boat, motored to his secret trout honey-hole, and began fishing. In no time, he caught the biggest trout he'd ever caught.

He cast out again and was delighted to catch an even larger trout. Every cast, he caught a trophy fish. Then his cell phone rang; it was the hospital telling him his wife had been admitted to the emergency room.

"She may die," they told him.

The fisherman is worried, but he wants to catch the world record trout, so he decides to have just a few more casts. He pulls in three more really huge trout, but his conscience begins to get the better of him, so he reluctantly pulls anchor and motors back to his car to go to the hospital.

Running into the emergency room, he meets up with a stern-looking doctor. The doctor sees the man dressed for fishing and scolds the husband: "Your wife has been at death's door for hours now. You kept fishing after you were called, didn't you? You ought to be ashamed!" The fisherman sobbed it was true. "Well," said the doc, "I hope you had a good time; your wife will survive, but your fishing days are over..."

She will require constant care from now on... 24 hours per day. You will have to do everything for her." The fisherman sobbed, "Oh God, I didn't think it was that bad, I feel terrible!"

The doc grinned and nudged the fisherman with his elbow... "Just kidding, buddy... she's dead. How many did you catch?"

Three fishermen were fishing when they came upon a mermaid, the mermaid offered them one wish each so the first fisherman said: "double my I.Q" so the mermaid did it and to his surprise, he started reciting Shakespeare.

Then the second fisherman said: "triple my I.Q." and sure enough the mermaid did it and amazingly he started doing math problems he didn't know existed.

The third fisherman was so impressed he asked the mermaid to quadruple his I.Q and the mermaid said "Are you sure about this? It will change your whole life!"

The fisherman said "yes" so the mermaid turned him into a woman!

Dear Editor,

I have been out so many times and seen someone that I thought I knew from years ago and I never have the nerve to walk up and ask; What if I am mistaken and I look stupid?

I took the wife, kiddo's and the babysitter on a little vacation in Crystal Beach. Yes, we brought the babysitter so we could enjoy some of the night life.

We were in a little bar and they had a band, the lady on stage playing the tambourine looked so familiar. The band was taking a break and they announced each band member's name and sure enough it was Skip and Bruce. Years ago in my hayday I used to fish at Rollover Pass and there was a little beer joint there called Jenny's II. Skip and Bruce used to play there all the time. Skip would wear a sundress that matched the band's shirts. She actually made their costumes.

I approached the band table and asked if they used to play at Jenny's II and they said yes, so we talked for the whole break and I was so happy that I actually remembered them. There was a lot of beer drinking back in those days.

If you think you know someone, approach them if you don't know them and look stupid it's ok, you don't know them anyway.

- David

Dear David,

I also went to Jenny's II back in the day. I believe the name of the band was Tropical Disturbance.

Dear Editor,

I am new to San Leon and I am concerned about it being hurricane season. I have never lived on the coast, I'm from Oklahoma. But, I have heard horror stories about hurricane Ike. I have had people tell me they lost everything. If a hurricane enters the Gulf of Mexico, what is your best advice for me?

-Shaking in my boots in San Leon

Dear Shaking,

Thank you for your letter. After reading your letter, I realized that there are many newcomers to the area and they need some pointers so I did write a front page story to help those people out.

Dear Editor,

Why do some people feel like it's ok to use people? I know a guy that will use someone till he either uses them up or they get wise to what he is doing. It pisses me off to watch him in action. He doesn't care if it's male or female, once he gets what he wants he moves on to the next person.

- Pam

Dear Pam,

I know exactly what you're talking about. There have been so many times that I want to warn a person but that basically makes me look like I'm starting crap or I just don't know what I'm talking about. Then after the person is used and you say something they are pissed because you didn't warn them. It's a no-win situation.

Jo Ann Sendejas

Henry A. Trochesset
Sheriff
Galveston County

PRESS RELEASE

On December 27, 1999, Jo Ann Sendejas - 40, was reported as a missing person by her sister to the Galveston County Sheriff's Office. She was reportedly last seen on December 24, 1999, at approximately 3:30 AM.

In the early evening of Christmas Eve, Jo Ann Sendejas and other individuals were at the residence of her brother, where she was involved in a family dispute. At approximately 3:00 AM, her brother and a teenager took Jo Ann Sendejas to her residence located in San Leon, where her boyfriend was present.

The following day on Christmas, her family members attempted to locate her to no avail. The boyfriend indicated that he and Jo Ann Sendejas had also gotten into a domestic argument, and she allegedly left the residence walking.

During the initial investigation, Deputies received information from several individuals stating on Christmas morning; they saw a person on a bicycle pulling a wagon with what appeared to have a body wrapped in carpet or a blanket. The sighting was in the area of the victim's residence. Deputies checked the site but could not locate a person on a bicycle pulling a wagon. Investigators later confirmed this information and developed a possible identification of the person.

Additional information developed in the investigation led investigators to a gravesite at a cemetery in San Leon. It was alleged that Jo Ann Sendejas was buried in a fresh gravesite dug in November 1999. In 2019 a search of this gravesite via a Court Order revealed that the grave was believed to have been disturbed. However, the remains of Sendejas were not found.

This case is currently a very active investigation, and investigators believe that someone in the area may have vital information that could greatly assist investigators in this case. The case is being handled as a homicide until proven otherwise.

Anyone with information is urged to call and provide anonymous tips through Galveston County Crime Stoppers at www.galvestoncrimestoppers.com or their hotline 409-763-8477. A crime stoppers reward of up to $5,000 is offered for tips leading to the arrest and conviction of the person(s) involved. If a caller wishes to talk directly to an investigator with the Galveston County Sheriff's Office, please call the Major Crimes Unit - 409-766-2333.

San Leon MUD Update

Drought & Water Conservation

Due to ongoing drought conditions throughout the State, San Leon MUD is asking for voluntary water conservation. What is conservation exactly? It's the efficient use of the resources we have to ensure we have those resources in the future. Things you can do to help are limiting the use of water outdoors, only using your dishwasher when there's a full load, and checking your water lines to make sure there aren't any leaks. While the District does not have any concern that we'll run out water at this time, proper stewardship of our natural resources like water ensures we'll have them for many years to come!

San Leon Don's FISHING TIPS

Don is on a first name basis with most of the local fish...

Those that can handle the heat are catching fish, some specs, sheephead and legal drum. You need to be on the water early as it gets hot later in the day and the bite seems to stop.

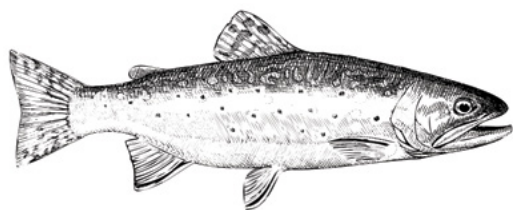

Most of the fish are caught out around the channel and some around the old oil wells, such as the Exxon A oil field.

As far as bait it seems crockers are working very well on the bottom with a slip weight.

When you are out on the water be sure to drink plenty of water and use sun screen Don't forget to take a kid fishing when you can.

be safe and courteous on the water,

DEAR ROBBIE

ADVICE FROM A REEL MAN

Dear Robbie,

A friend of mine had her niece come visit from Iowa, and I offered to take her out and show her the town. I arrived around 6 pm (we will call her Stacy) and the Aunt said Stacy was still getting ready, so we had a beer and chatted. Stacy walked in the room and said "I'm ready." Robbie, I almost spit my beer out! Stacy had on boots that looked like leather uggs with her black spandex pants tucked in the boots and she had on a sequin butterfly shirt and a headband. I was mortified!

I told Stacy that we are going to party off of Nasa Rd 1, because the people were a lot more fun there than San Leon. I took her to Barge 295 because I have never been there and was hoping I didn't know anyone. She was very impressed that it was actually a floating barge. We went in and got a table, it was Wednesday night so it wasn't that busy. Yes we got a bunch of stares, I figured most people thought she was dressed in drag... It gets better!

Two beers in, she belted out the biggest belch I have ever heard! Once again I was mortified! That went on for a few hours and I told her it was time for me to get home.

The next day her Aunt called me and told me what a wonderful time Stacy had and she wanted to go out again on Saturday. Robbie, what should I do?

- Mortified in SSL

Dear Mortified,

Now that's some funny shit right there. Let me help you out. Next Saturday at 3 pm bring her to my house and we can drink here. I will have my wife make a food platter that will of course include hard boiled eggs.

Dear Robbie,

I fish a tournament every year with one of my good buddy's, and that tournament is coming up soon. My wife went fishing with me for the first time a few weeks ago and she caught a whiting, she foul hooked the little fish, now she thinks she's Bill Dance. This is my problem: she wants me to tell my buddy that he can't fish with me, because she is going to fish the tournament with me. The entry fee is $500.00 and let's face it, this woman can't fish. How do I tell my wife she's not fishing the tournament without ending up in the dog house?

- Jack

Dear Jack,

Normally I would say "Grow A Pair" but since I recently got married I have learned to take a different approach to sensitive situations when it comes to the wife. Here's what you do: call her best friend and buy a spa day for the both of them for the day of the tournament. Tell the best friend to tell your wife it's a gift from HER. Problem solved! Thank god my wife would rather put food on an old cutting board and make it pretty.

HURRICANE SEASON ANIMAL PREPARATION

Your pets are an important member of your family, so they need to be included in your family's emergency plan. To prepare for the unexpected follow these tips with your pets in mind:

Make a Plan

If you have a plan in place for you and your pets, you will likely encounter less difficulty, stress and worry when you need to make a decision during an emergency. If local officials ask you to evacuate, that means your pet should evacuate too. If you leave your pets behind, they may end up lost, injured or worse.

Things to include in your plan:

Have an evacuation plan for your pet. Many public shelters and hotels do not allow pets. Know a safe place where you can take your pets before disasters and emergencies happen.

Develop a buddy system: Plan with neighbors, friends or relatives to make sure that someone is available to care for or evacuate your pets if you are unable.

Have your pet micro chipped. Make sure to keep your address and phone number up-to-date on their chip and include contact information for an emergency contact outside of your immediate area.

Contact your local emergency management office, animal shelter or animal control office to get additional advice and information if you're unsure how to care for your pet in case of an emergency.

Build a Kit for Your Pet

Just as you do with your family's emergency supply kit, think first about the basics for survival, such as food and water. Have two kits, one larger kit if you are sheltering in place and one lightweight version for if you need to evacuate. Review your kits regularly to ensure that their contents especially medicines.

Animal Emergency Kit:

Food: Keep several days' supply of food in an airtight, waterproof container.

Water: Store a water bowl and several days' supply of water.

Medicine: Keep an extra supply of the medicine your pet takes on a regular basis in a waterproof container.

First aid kit: Talk to your veterinarian about most appropriate items for your pet's emergency medical needs.

Collar with ID tag and a harness or leash: Include a backup leash, collar and ID tag. Have copies of your pet's registration information and other relevant documents in a waterproof container and available electronically.

Traveling: bag, crate or sturdy carrier, ideally one for each pet.

Grooming items: Pet shampoo, conditioner and other items, in case your pet needs cleaning up.

Sanitation needs: Pet litter and litter box if needed, newspapers, paper towels, plastic trash bags and household chlorine bleach to provide for your pet's sanitation needs.

A picture of you and your pet together: If you become separated, a photo of you and your pet together will help to document ownership and allow others to help find your pet.

Familiar items: Put favorite toys, treats or bedding in your kit. Familiar items can help reduce stress for your pet.

Tips for Large Animals

If you have pets such as horses, goats or pigs on your property, be sure to prepare before a disaster.

Ensure all animals have some form of identification. Evacuate animals earlier, whenever possible. Map out primary and secondary routes in advance.

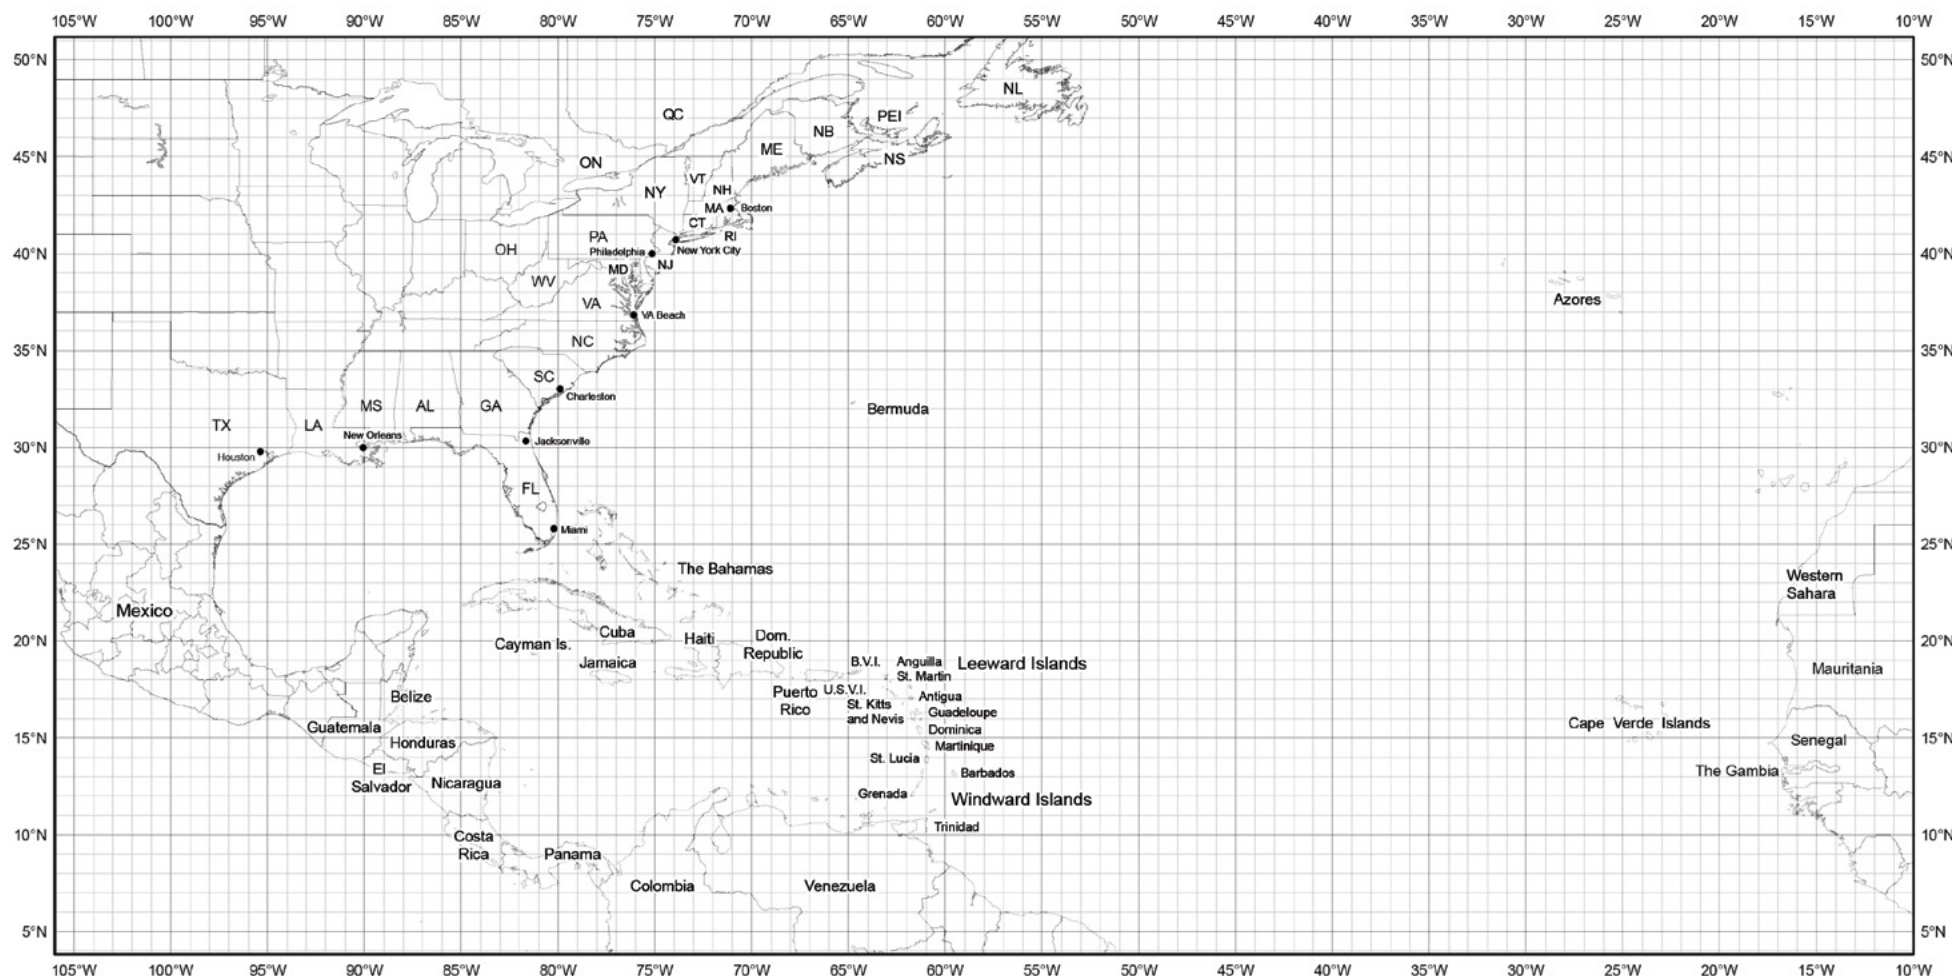

Make available vehicles and trailers needed for transporting and supporting each type of animal. Also make available experienced handlers and drivers.

Ensure destinations have food, water, veterinary care and handling equipment.

If evacuation is not possible, animal owners must decide whether to move large animals to a barn or turn them loose outside.
