Incident 1.

Official ASDP Incident Report

Volcano, California, United States. 19th August 2022. The submitter wishes to remain anonymous, but we have verified that this image was taken by a woman who saw the bizarre shape in the sky and decided to photograph it because it was so weird. She shared it with friends on the 'neighbor' app. The image has not been manipulated in any way. It's hard to think of any rational explanation for this especially when you see how perfect the curvature is and how underneath it is in shadow. Volcano is a census-designated place in Amador County, California. It lies at an elevation of 2070 feet. The population was 115 at the 2010 census. It is located at 38°26'35"N 120°37'51"W, just north of Pine Grove. The town is registered as a California Historical Landmark.
