The song begins with the singer describing a woman lying beneath the trees. He is immediately attracted to her, and he can't help but think about making love with her.

The chorus of the song is a celebration of love. The singer sings, "Cause love's the one thing gonna keep us together / And love's the one thing can set us free / Love's the one thing gonna make it better / Better for you and me yeah." This suggests that the singer believes that love is the most important thing in life, and that it can help us overcome any challenge.
