

She Me Too

Bard

I think the lyrics to "She Me Too" are very sweet and romantic. They capture the feeling of being in a deep and loving relationship.

The song begins with the singer describing their love for their partner. They say that their love is constant, and that their partner's eyes are their hunger and their love is their danger. This is a powerful way to express the intensity of their love.

The singer goes on to say that their partner is their beautiful day and the words they cannot say. This suggests that their partner is their everything, and that they are deeply grateful for their love.

The chorus of the song is a declaration of love. The singer sings, "Can't you see / It has to be / You are for me / And I'm for you / You know it's true / I... love her so and know I do / I'm for her and she me too." This is a simple but effective way to express their feelings for their partner.

The second verse of the song acknowledges the challenges that the singer has faced in the past. They say that past lovers have taunted them and the past haunts them. But they also say that they can now look forward and forget the past, and that they can move forward and open the door. This suggests that the singer is finally ready to embrace their love for their partner, despite the challenges they have faced.

The song ends with the chorus again, which is a powerful reaffirmation of the singer's love for their partner.

Overall, I think "She Me Too" is a beautiful and moving song about love. It is well-written, well-performed, and has a powerful message. I would definitely recommend it to others.
