OLDER NEWS

Webpage info: We have changed the website address to www.oaems.org. Check it out!

OAEMS now has a 2 Twitter accounts working on combing them to eliminate confusion. We have a Linked in account with a technical glitch as well.

By summer we are anticipating the ability to offer virtual seats to the conferences for those who can't be there in person and total virtual conferences when Covid stops in- person ones.

DID YOU KNOW?

In 1967, the Freedom House Ambulance Service was formed; about 44 men were recruited for training, organized by Dr. Safar. The men were paid a small wage, and in return were expected to attend classes eight hours per day, five days per week, for nine months to learn not just the basics of emergency medical care but get in depth.

After class, they observed in the emergency room, or did rotations in various hospital departments. And, of course, they learned the latest in CPR as Dr. Safar did his research at the hospital, and later at the institute he founded, the International Resuscitation Research Center (now the University of Pittsburgh Safar Center for Resuscitation Research).

SPEAKER SPOTLIGHT

Loretta Lewis has been enjoying public service for 30 years since her sister Gail talked her into it. She started in Madison Township which serves South Charles, Ohio, where she retired after 29 years as an EMS Captain. For the past 6 years she has been on the Husted department where she is a paramedic, maintains her fire certificate, and serves as the assistant EMS chief. Along with EMS, she has worked at Greene Memorial Hospital as a Monitor Technician/ Health Unit Coordinator For 35 years as of next week. As a teacher, she loves sharing things that are new to students and refreshing them on skills that aren't used as an everyday first responder.
