SPEAKER SPOTLIGHT

Ronetta Fosnaugh became interested in EMS 30 years ago when her sister Loretta asked her to take an EMT class, from there she fell in love with “The job” of helping people. During the 6 years she served as a basic EMT, she became frustrated with not being able to give patients a higher level of care. That frustration pushed her to become an intermediate EMT and in 2010 she became a medic. With years of experience in her pocket and wanting to help younger folks learn the ropes, she became an EMS instructor in 2015. Adding to her impressive accomplishments, Ronetta became a fireperson at the age of 48, what an inspiration! Currently, she serves on the Hustead FD, where she has been for 9 yrs. and on the Quiency-Miami FD for 1yr. With both departments, 4 kids and instructing EMS classes, she has very little spare time for herself. In that spare time, she has enjoyed teaching for OAEMS in the past, and is happy to do so in the future.
