"Hair Full of Secrets"

Vanilla Vodka, Raspberry Liqueur, Lime, Pink Vanilla Whipped Cream

Oh my gosh, Hi! Welcome to the Mean Girls Menu! You have to try this TOTALLY FETCH cocktail, inspired by yours truly, Gretchen Wieners! It's got vanilla vodka for that smooth vibe, raspberry liqueur for the sweetness, and a hint of lime for the sass that Jason says he just loves, according to Karen, who told Regina, who told me... wait, it was karen, so maybe it just rhymed with... ugh never mind. It's like, the PERFECT mix of my fabulousness in a glass. Because let us not forget, Brutus's cocktail is JUST AS PRETTY AS CESAR'S!!!

"Africa!!!"

Ramazotti, Prosecco, Soda

Wassup Mathletes! Check it out, we've got something special on the menu today! This isn't any ol' drink, it's a Ramazzotti Sprizzle fo shizzle; it's basically like an Aperol Spritz's hot cousin that lives in Italy. Ramazzotti is gonna make you feel like you've aced calculus boiiii. And on top of that, it's almost as beautiful as the first female KWEEN to be on our team, which is why it gets the name, AFRICA! So grab your calculators and see how many you can order! I will tell you, the limit does not exist...

"Too Gay to Function"

Tequila, Chinola, Passion Fruit, Agave

Danny DeVito, I love your work! Hey, it's Damien, your fabulously ferocious bartender! I am loving this whole mixology journey. So here is my latest creation: tangy passion fruit liqueur called Chinola, smooth tequila, and a splash of lime, all mingling together in one glorious margarita. It's like a party in your mouth, and you're invited! And on top of that, it is garnished more lavishly than a Bob Mackey original! As you sip on this deliciousness, just remember to give yourself a little extra love because, let's face it, you're worth it! So here's to embracing your fabulous self and spreading the love, one sip at a time. Cheers, Darlings!

"My Big LESBIAN Crush!"

Gin, Lemon, Smoked Honey, Tonic

Listen up losers, Janis here, the greatest human you've ever had the pleasure of talking to. I've got a drink that's gonna make you feel like you're plotting the downfall of the evilest empire that has ever existed in human history. We're talking gin and tonic, but with a twist. I add a touch of smoked honey because... I am a genius. So grab your glass, and raise your right finger, because who needs Regina George and her army of skanks when you've got a drink and friends this rad?

(14)

"Boys to the Yard"

Tequila, Violette, Pama, Orgeat, Lemon, Whipped Cream

Alright, listen up, Plastics! We've got this drink that's ready to make you feel like you're dancing at Regina's house! Ok but seriously, it's got tequila for that bold confidence, orgeat bringing in that background sweetness you crave, violette for that elegant wisp that's so fetch, it'll have everyone turning their heads as you walk down the hallway. So get ready to bring ALL of the boys to the yard, because this cocktail is a total shoo in for Spring Fling Queen!

Jingle Bell Rock

Pecan Whiskey, Borghetti, Bourbon Cream, Whipped Cream

"Gretchen, stand on my right!" The spacing may change when there's four instead of three, but the dance will always stay the same! The Plastics literally created the first OG viral dance. No one can break it down to June George's choreo like these girls! To honor this iconic dance, Mercantile Social has brought back one of their ICONIC Christmas cocktails to pay tribute to the dance that will be passed down every Christmas for decades, centuries, and millennia to come.

The "Regular" Mom or The "Cool" Mom

Bacardi, Malibu, Strawberry, Royal Mountain, Lime

Hey Girls! OMG REGINA, you just look FABulous... God, I just love ya! Now, as you KNOW, I'm not a REGULAR mom... I'm a cooooool mom! So that's why I am introducing the "Regular Mom" and the "Cool Mom" for all you crazies! The regular mom is a virgin... just like all of my children, and me... strawberry daquiri. But the COOL mom has got some juice! Bacardi and Malibu jazz it up to keep YOU young, just like these gals keep ME young! So whether you're living it up, or living vicariously through the successes of your children, JUST drink!

Cheers!!! Oh and sweetie, only wear a helmet if it matches your outfit.

Regular Mom (Non-Alcoholic- 10) Cool Mom (21+-15)

"Is Butter a Carb?"

Butter Washed Bourbon, Butterscotch Schnapps, Cherry, Orange Bitters

Have you ever been the most popular kween in the school, revered as the hottest biotch to ever live, and have your mom get you whatever you want? Cause I have, and yeah, it's pretty great... but I still want to lose like 5 pounds. This new girl, Cady, she's a home schooled weirdo, but I have decided to take her under my wing and mentor her into becoming an actual human being. She's literally so lucky to have me, she was going to join the mathletes... Anyway, she is giving me these Kälteen bars that her mom uses to loose weight, but you have to eat like a million and one carbs in order for them to work. So, my mom made these old-fashioned for her HOA book club, or whatever, but I want her to add even more carbs to it... so like, is butter a carb...?

"The Rage Killer"

Old Forester Bourbon, Pineapple Gum, Tamarind soda

Have you ever had everything you've worked for get ripped out from underneath you and had an entire school student body turn on you and admit they completely totally and utterly hate you? Including your friends and teachers and principal? Cause I have... and it is gross. As Ms. Norbury said, it takes a lot of difficult, inner personal work to get through all the buried anger that comes with all that. But doing all of that sounded, like, really hard. So instead, I joined the lacrosse team. These new girls get me, and I feel like I have found my true crew. But still, don't get in my way, or I'll check you in a heartbeat, biotch. Kisses, love ya! Anyway, try this cocktail. It's made in honor of my new lease on life, still has bourbon for that punch, but it is mellowed out with the sweetness of my teammates, and topped with tamarind soda to represent how much I have embraced experiencing new things. There are no carbs in team... or something like that.

Extras!

The Burn Book

Alright, people of Alpharetta, now is your chance to finally enter yourself into Mercantile's own Burn Book! Although it is the book that started this whole mess, let's face it, certain parts of this thing may actually be pretty therapeutic! Come take a picture using our polaroid and have a chance to write something wicked or totally fetch about yourselves. But fair warning, if Ms. Norbury finds out it was you that wrote something mean, she like FORCES you to learn a life lesson and build character, as if we don't already have enough character as it is! Ask your bartenders for more info.

Kälteen Bar

Hey, it's Cady. I have done a lot to stir things up at Northshore this past year. I've done some things I am proud of, and probably even more things I wish I could take back. Like using my mom's Kälteen bars to sabotage Regina into a blinding rage that would cause her ultimate spiral that ended with her walking into a speeding bus. But if there is anything I have learned, it is, never walk backwards into an intersection, and consciously spread as much good as possible to offset the inevitable mistakes you will make. So I am sharing these bars with you! They really are like really delicious. They have a graham cracker crust, pecans, chocolate, butterscotch, toffee, coconut. You name it, it is in the bar! So, like my Spring Fling crown, break it up and share it with all your friends, because you all look so incredibly pretty tonight!
