

Aviemore Primary School/ELC Promoting Equality and Diversity Policy

Rational

Our children live in a diverse society in 21st century Scotland. Aviemore Primary school is working towards becoming a Rights Respecting School and is committed to creating an environment for the whole school community that demonstrates shared values of inclusion, equality, fairness and respect.

Our school recognises and celebrates difference within a culture of respect and fairness, and aims to meet the needs of every child in line with the principles of 'Getting it Right for Every Child' (GIRFEC).

We work together with our children, families and staff to ensure that inclusion and equality are part of all our activities.

Our policy aims to:

- ✓ Promote positive attitudes and behaviours towards equality and diversity
- ✓ Promote understanding of equality and diversity through the school curriculum and ethos
- ✓ Help the school to meet these aims and fulfil our legal obligations
- ✓ Meet the statutory duties of the Equality Act 2010
- ✓ Recognise that these duties also reflect international human rights standards as expressed in the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child, the UN Convention on the Rights of People with Disabilities, and the Human Rights Act 1998
- ✓ Demonstrate our commitment to staff as also having these rights

Background and Legislation

This policy has been written as part of our school's on-going commitment to demonstrating good practice, advancing equality and valuing diversity. This reflects the commitment of the Highland Council and its role as an Education Authority.

Equality and Diversity

Equality is about creating a fairer society, where everyone can take part and where everyone has the opportunity to be all they can be. Equality of opportunity has a legal framework to ensure protected groups are not discriminated against.

Diversity is about recognising and valuing difference, where everyone is respected for who they are.

Equality Act 2010 and schools

The Equality Act 2010 (the Act) replaces previous separate equality legislation in Britain and provides a modern and accessible framework of discrimination law which protects individuals from unfair treatment and promotes a fair and more equal society.

The Act protects people from discrimination on the basis of the following protected characteristics:

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|---------------------------|
| ✓ Age* | ✓ disability |
| ✓ gender reassignment | ✓ pregnancy and maternity |
| ✓ marriage and civil partnership* | ✓ race |
| ✓ religion or belief; | ✓ sex |

✓ sexual orientation

*Age and marriage and civil partnership are not protected characteristics for the schools provision. However, in general, the Act applies across all the protected characteristics in a consistent way.

The Act, and the principle of non-discrimination, covers all the activities in the life of a school including:

- ✓ Admissions
- ✓ Provision of education
- ✓ Access to any benefit, facility or service
- ✓ Exclusions
- ✓ It is also unlawful to harass or victimise a pupil or applicant

The Act also introduces a single Public Sector Equality Duty (the general duty). As a school this means we have to give "due regard" to the 3 elements of the duty in all our activities:

- ✓ Eliminate discrimination, harassment and victimisation;
- ✓ Advance equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and those who do not; and
- ✓ Foster good relations between those who share a protected characteristic and those who do not.

In Scotland, the general duty is supported by a set of specific duties on schools and public bodies to help them secure positive outcomes in line with the equality legislation.

Related legislation and Rights of the Child:

Additional Support Needs: Schools are expected to make reasonable adjustments under the Act to provide auxiliary aids and services for disabled pupils under the Act. Provision for pupils requiring additional support in schools is covered by:

- ✓ The additional support for learning (ASL) framework (Education (Additional Support for Learning) (Scotland) Act, 2004 and 2009);
- ✓ Accessibility strategies (The Education (Disability Strategies and Pupils' Educational Records) (Scotland) Act 2002)

Children's Rights

- ✓ Human Rights Act 1998
- ✓ United Nation's Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC) was ratified by the UK in 1991. It aims to recognise the rights of all children up to age 18 and ensure that children grow up in the spirit of peace, dignity, tolerance, freedom, equality and solidarity.
- ✓ Children and Young People's (Scotland) Bill was agreed in February 2014. It introduces new duties for Ministers and public sector to promote children's rights.

Equality and Diversity Policy: key principles

We work in partnership with other services, agencies and families to deliver integrated services for children, families and young people. Our Integrated Children's Plan, 'For Highland's Children', uses the principles of GIFREC (Getting It Right for Every Child) which sets out our commitment to improve and develop services against the key SHANARRI themes (Safe, Healthy, Achieving, Nurtured, Active, Respected, Responsible and Included), to achieve:

- ✓ Enhanced support to children and families, when they need it
- ✓ Improved services and improving outcomes for Highland's children

Our approach to equality and diversity is based on the following key principles:

1. All learners are of equal value irrespective of their race; gender and gender identity; religious or belief; or sexual orientation. However, this does not mean we treat everyone the same, sometimes it means giving people extra help so that they have the same opportunities and outcomes as others.
2. We recognise, respect and value difference and understand that diversity is a strength. We take account of differences and strive to remove barriers and disadvantages which people may face, in relation to disability, ethnicity, gender, religion, belief or faith and sexual orientation. We believe that diversity is a strength, which should be respected and celebrated by all those who learn, teach and visit here, for example by promoting and celebrating global events such as Cultural Diversity Day (21st May), World Down Syndrome Day (21st March) and Autism Awareness Day (2nd April).
3. We foster positive attitudes and relationships. We actively promote positive attitudes and mutual respect between groups and communities different from each other.
4. We foster a shared sense of inclusion and belonging. We want all members of our school community to feel a sense of belonging within the school and wider community and to feel that they are respected and able to participate fully in school life.
5. We observe good equalities practice for our staff. We ensure that policies and procedures benefit all employees and potential employees in all aspects of their work, including in recruitment and promotion, and in continuing professional development
6. We have the highest expectations of all our children. We expect that all pupils can make good progress and achieve/attain to their highest potential.
7. We work to raise standards for all pupils, but especially for the most vulnerable. We believe that improving the quality of education for the most vulnerable groups of pupils raises standards across the whole school.
8. Challenging prejudice and stereotyping
We tackle negative prejudice and stereotyping. We challenge and report all incidents of prejudice based bullying, for example racist, homophobic or bullying of people because of a disability. We will also challenge gender-based and other stereotypes.

Curriculum for Excellence: the "four contexts for learning"

This Policy celebrates and recognises the work that our school is undertaking to promote diversity and equality through all aspects of planned learning, which is an important aspiration of Curriculum for Excellence. Our school aims to meet the challenge to develop children and young people as responsible citizens who:

- ✓ show respect for others; who understand different beliefs and cultures;
- ✓ are developing informed, ethical views of complex issues;
- ✓ know why discrimination is unacceptable and how to challenge it; and
- ✓ understand the importance of celebrating diversity and promoting equality.

Building the Curriculum 3 defines the curriculum as "the totality of all that is planned for children and young people throughout their education", including:

- ✓ ethos and life of the school as a community;

- ✓ curriculum areas and subjects;
- ✓ interdisciplinary learning (IDL);
- ✓ opportunities for personal achievement.

We promote learning within a positive ethos and climate of respect and trust based upon shared values across the school community:

- ✓ including parents, whether for young people in school or those not in school;
- ✓ All members of staff contribute through open, positive, supportive relationships where children and young people will feel that they are listened to;
- ✓ promoting a climate in which children and young people feel safe and secure;
- ✓ modelling behaviour which promotes effective learning and wellbeing within the school community;
- ✓ being sensitive and responsive to each young person's wellbeing.

Our young people are encouraged to contribute to the life and work of the school and, from the earliest stages, to exercise their responsibilities as members of a community. This includes opportunities to participate responsibly in decision-making, to contribute as leaders and role models, offer support and service to others and play an active part in putting the values of the school community into practice.

Embedding Equalities and Diversity in the Curriculum

We promote learning which children and young people should experience through their broad general education and the Senior Phase. These experiences and outcomes are organised into eight curriculum areas. We encourage the curriculum to be organised and planned in creative ways which encourage deep, sustained learning and which meet the needs of their children and young people.

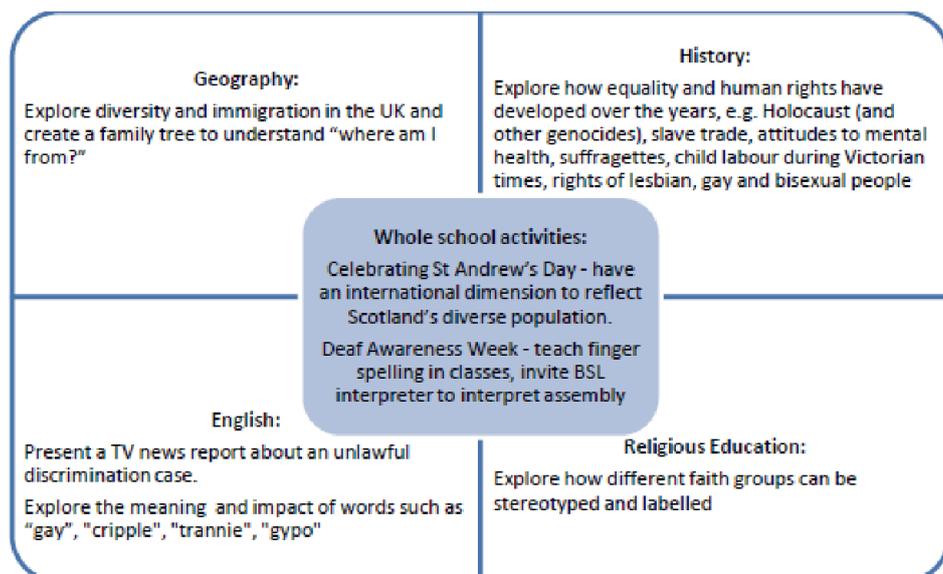

Interdisciplinary learning (IDL)

We encourage effective IDL to take the form of individual one-off projects or longer programmes of study which:

- ✓ is planned around clear purposes;
- ✓ is based upon experiences and outcomes drawn from different curriculum areas or subjects within them;
- ✓ ensures progression in skills and in knowledge and understanding;
- ✓ provide opportunities for mixed stage learning which is interest-based.

To deepen understanding we aim for our curriculum to include space for learning beyond subject boundaries, so that children and young people can make connections between different areas of learning. Interdisciplinary studies, based upon groupings of "experiences and outcomes" from within and across curriculum areas, can provide relevant, challenging and enjoyable learning experiences and stimulating contexts to meet the varied needs of children and young people.

Interdisciplinary studies can also take advantage of opportunities to work with partners who are able to offer and support enriched learning experiences and opportunities for young people's wider involvement in society. For example:
