NCATC 30th Anniversary Annual Conference

I wanted to formally extend my grateful thanks to each of you, the NCATC Board and those I have inadvertently omitted, for providing me the opportunity to attend the 30th Anniversary Annual Conference. Without your generosity I would not have joined you and the conference attendees in Cleveland!

I said it to one of two of our colleagues before my (delayed) departure that, in the relative quietude of not attending conferences for a couple of years, this year's Annual Conference was a great success for me! I suspect that this is the overall sense of all who attended this record anniversary event.

The venue, presenters and the impact of the content provided me an extended understanding of the developments in NCATC and more especially in the ventures and innovations surrounding member colleges and organizations today. I have always been inspired with the developments in NCATC, especially while serving four years on the board; nothing has changed!

I would be churlish not to include the sterling support and contributions given by Holly and any others behind the scenes. A great conference and, as always, thank you, Holly!

My final observation is that Cleveland is an amazing city; I hope to return in the not too distant future!

Best wishes, good fortune and bon voyage to all who sail with NCATC over the next five, ten fifteen years - and more - into the future!

Sincerely

John Calver, MBE
