Stewardship Reflection: "If I do so willingly, I have a recompense, but if unwillingly, then I have been entrusted with a stewardship." [1 Corinthians 9:17] Doing good works that are enjoyable, or that come natural, can be a pleasure. When faced with good works that are not simple, or that challenge us, do we serve as the hands of Jesus or do our hands stay tucked in comfortable pockets?

From Pope Francis' Encyclical ON CARE FOR OUR COMMON HOME: "Ecology studies the relationship between living organisms and the environment in which they develop. This necessarily entails reflection and debate about the conditions required for the life and survival of society, and the honesty needed to question certain models of development, production and consumption. It cannot be emphasized enough how everything is interconnected. Time and space are not independent of one another, and not even atoms or subatomic particles can be considered in isolation. Just as the different aspects of the planet – physical, chemical and biological – are interrelated, so too living species are part of a network which we will never fully explore and understand fragmentation of knowledge and the isolation of bits of information can actually become a form of ignorance, unless they are integrated into a broader vision of reality." We will carpool our large group of volunteers to the Capitol that day to speak with our legislators on keeping our public safe with sound, comprehensive gun laws that keep guns out of the hands of dangerous people. Please join us! Contact sbums8906@att.net for more information.

Catechism Corner: The five Precepts of the Church were identified in last week's bulletin. This week we will explore further what it means to us for our daily lives.

Precept #1, "You shall attend Mass on Sundays and holy days of obligation and rest from servile labor" requires the faithful to sanctify the day commemorating the Resurrection of the Lord as well as the principal liturgical feasts honoring the mysteries of the Lord, the Blessed Virgin Mary, and the saints; in the first place, by participating in the Eucharistic celebration, in which the Christian community is gathered, and by resting from those works and activities which could impede such a sanctification of these days.
