

How To Pray, How To Live, Pt. 2

Two weeks ago, we were reminded that our prayers, our music, our worship should be God focused. The focus of this model prayer quickly comes with Jesus' first words _____.

As I've read, studied and prayed these weeks I'm reminded that my view of God affects how I _____ and how I _____. Is He merely an _____ in my life or does He have _____?

I. The Worship of God.

Our whole life is found in these _____ petitions. Jesus sums up the entirety of our needs with them. Think about it: He starts with the _____, moves to the desperate need of _____ we have from Him and each other and ends with the need to be kept from the _____.

II. The _____ of God.

Jesus says "Give us this day our daily bread." I Corinthians 10:31. It tells us that whatever we do, do it to the glory of God. Our lives tend to be more like Shenandoah, the Jimmy Stewart movie from long ago. Surely, our attitudes must be different.

Daily bread is different today than in the times of the New Testament.

If a day laborer wasn't paid, it might mean he _____. That daily "bread" was vitally important.

Our need for food ought to be an ongoing reminder of our need _____. Imagine if you were able to only eat one time for the entire week, month, year, lifetime?

It's an amazing thought that Jehovah actually _____ coming to Him. The One Who is Self Existent, the God Who is not dependent upon anyone or anything, Who is Eternal likes to hear His children as they come to Him.

We must remember this: That Same God, the Sovereign One could easily ordain we not have our daily bread, He could ordain our farmlands to quit producing regardless of seed, chemicals or rain. The truth is we are absolutely in the _____ of God for everything.
